

Miscellaneous.

Every Day Glants.

The man in the household is not popularly an object of much solicitude on the part of members of the family.

I should think you'd want to come home sometimes, John. Baby's sick, and Harry out his finger, and the girl has gone to her cousin's funeral.

John goes to supper; there is a whiglet about 'Home Sweet Home,' strangled in his throat, and it chokes him into silence.

There I knew there was something I had forgotten, Nellie, but we were in voicing all day.

Involuntarily I feel more likely having a game of something to pass away the time. But I suppose I can go down to-morrow and see about it.

John doesn't say anything, being a man he cannot talk back and preserve his own self respect.

Men are only boys grown tall. Hearts don't change much after all. But he would look well crying now.

There my not be any necessity for John's wife always meeting him with a smile and roses in her hair.

Agricultural.

SHEDDING CLOVER FOR HAY.—Clover makes more valuable hay than any other grass, and is more profitable for the farmer to grow, for different reasons.

It apparently does not impoverish the soil at all, will yield more than any other grass, and makes the best of food for stock.

Besides these great benefits of growing clover, which have been almost invariably in the great districts, and almost the only agent by whose assistance the soil could be kept dark with vegetable matter.

The time to cut clover is when it is in blossom, for not only then is its quality best, but the nutritive elements which make it valuable for food are at their maximum quantity.

Wanted to See the Sample. Beddison is a dry-goods clerk who has had a bad impediment in his speech, and he has been going to see a young woman of uncertain age, about two years. The other night he called on a short visit, but as he stood in the room twisting his hat, he unconsciously became quite tender and concluded to remain longer.

Don't worry, John, love. I know what you would say and my heart anticipates your words. I- The perspiration came out on him like beads on an Indian. "But my d-d dear Jennie, will you take my hat home?" "Yes, John, I know, and though your stammering lips refuse to speak the words your heart would utter still I know all you would."
