In the absence of this declaration such an attack is regarded in international law, as an act of hostility to the nation whose flag is thus insulted. Japan has already made profuse apologies for the incident and promises ample compensation for all damage done. It remains to be seen what action the Roseberry ministry will what action the Roseberry ministry will take when all the particulars are learned. With this object in view, they kept firing upon men struggling in the water, even after the ship had gone down. Seven Englishmen are believed to have perhand. The captain and several of his crew however appear to have escaped, so the design of the Japanese officials to leave behind no The very many friends of Mr. Herbert Troop, of Granville, who has been so very low for some weeks, will be pained to learn that he died on Sunday last. He was a son of the late Eugene Troop, and in the prime of this manhood was cut down by that rewarfare and cold-blooded murder, and that while engaged in the one, she can indulge in the other only at her peril. Lord Roseberry has yet to be heard from in regard to this incident.

Coal Company, or Whitney Syndicate, investigated by a committee of the United States Senate. In his speech asking for the committee, the senator made some rather ugly insinuations about the efforts this company have put forth to have coal placed on the free list. Its stock and bonds, he asserted, consisted of $15,000,000 of common stock, of which $13,500,000 was water, $3,000,000 of preferred stock and $3,000,000 of bonds. Of both the preferred stock and bonds, onehalf had been left in the treasury of the com- will appear in a future issue. pany for future use, and Senator Chandler seems to fear that this treasury stock has been distributed where it will do most good in influencing democratic senators and representatives in favor of free coal.

Doubtless it would be of considerable advantage to the Dominion Coal Company to have a free market for coal in the United States. But that this company has bribed representatives and senators, or that it had the remotest connection with the President's recent fight for free coal, seems too absurd to believe for one moment. By all means let the investigation proceed.

-THE Senate and House of Representa tives at Washington have not yet reconciled their difference over the tariff, although it is rumored that the joint committee has about arranged a basis of agreement. This it is believed will be reached by the members of the committee from the House yielding about everything in dispute to the senate Should this prove correct the tariff bill when finally passed will remain substantially as it was when it left the senate, and all the President's efforts to give the people the benefit of free coal and iron ores and to reduce the taxation on sugar will come to naught.

There is everywhere the desire on the part of the democratic leaders to get the tariff question settled and out of the way before the desire on the part of the democratic leaders to get the tariff question settled and out of the way before the desire on the part of the democratic leaders to get the tariff question settled and out of the way before the desire on the part of the democratic leaders to get the tariff question settled and out of the way before the desire on the part of the democratic leaders to get the tariff question settled and out of the way before the desire on the part of the democratic leaders to get the tariff question settled and out of the way before the desire on the part of the democratic leaders to get the tariff question settled and out of the way before taxation on sugar will come to naught. the elections for the House of Representatives come on. These take place in many of the states this fall, and the democratic leaders are anxious to spend the three months intertervening in healing the differences in their own ranks and otherwise preparing for the contest. They expect to lose largely in the elections, but hope still to retain a majority of the House. They scarcely deserve it as their record during the last two months and the state of the contest. Thereupon the owner of the aforesaid refreshment sued the official, which virtually meant the town, for the value of the goods taken and destroyed. After fighting over it in the courts for several years a decision has recently been given to the effect that the warrant under which the liquor was seized was defective, and the town is now compelled to pay $500 for the liquor destroyed and costs sufficient to bring the whole picnic up to about $2000. It is thus that the glorious uncertainties of the law get in their work. the Emperor of China calls upon his viceroys and commanders "to root these pestilential Japanese from their lairs." We suppose the "Son of Heaven" and ruler of three hundred million subjects, can afford to indulge in a few big-sounding words at times; but unless the predictions of many well informed men prove false, these same pestilential Japanese will make it interesting for the heathen Chinee before he finishes his rooting operations. Japan would doubtless make short work of her big neighbor were it not for the overwhelming numbers of the latter. But a nation of 300,000,000 people, all animated by the most intense hatred against

Mr. Geo. H. Dixon, who is now making arrangements for the mammoth Oddfellows excursion, to take place in the near future to Lunenburg or Bridgewater, informs us that the patronage will be much larger than that of a year ago. Already many members of the lodges at Kentville, Berwick, Kingston, Middleton, Bridgetown, Annapolis and Granville Ferry have signified their intention of attending. Everything to make the day a successful one is being looked after on rather an elaborate scale, details of which will appear in a future issue.
