The society accordingly held an informal meeting in the afternoon of that day, Mr. Jones being present. He

(Mr. Jones) would not listen to the charges I brought forward from the statements made me by the immigrants, but began reading from a book that he sells in London. After reading from this for some time, the chairman wished that I would now state the charges, but this for Billingsgate than the company he was in. Since then he has stated that I am a liberal and against the government, snother dodge on his part. All persons know that I stiend no political meetings and can therefore at once see through this, and that he simply wanted to evade any discussion. Mr. Jones stated to me he had not received snything, but was only doing this for the good of his country people. I find since he left that one gentleman had promised £25 to him, and foured that having promised, he could not get out of it. Finding one, he may have got from others. Many cases of his people are sad, one man and wife with two children (one sfilloted from birth) left with sad hearts for Torento Friday evening, having tried hard to get a situation, here.
