

- Interviews with individuals and companies engaged in distributing California-made, American-made or imported packaging machinery and systems in the State, to determine current distribution methods, trade practices, and interest in Canadian machinery.

- Interviews with a representative selection of California machinery manufacturers to determine the potential for Canadian companies to work directly with manufacturers.