

Fifteen heads of state and government will attend the London Progressive Governance Summit (www.progressive-governance.net). In addition to discussing the future political strategy for resolving key issues in the global environment, the leaders will also address the challenges facing progressive politics in 2003 and beyond.