QUEEN MARY BID IN THE AMERICAN FLAG Paid Over Thousand Dollars for

Stars and Stripes at Auction.

A pretty story is just to hand of patriotic sale of embroideries held at Windsor Castle by Lady French. The ale was in aid of the British Red Cross, and among the articles put up at auction was an American flag, con sisting of a square of white silk about a yard across, with the Stars and Stripes richly embroidered upon its surface. Some years ago it had been bought from a Parisian dealer in embroideries by Lady French for $35. The first bid made at the late auction was $150. The bids went up until finally it was bought by Queen Mary for $1250, the highest bid of the day. The incident recalls the sentiment that attaches to a flag. How many stories of heroism and how many inspirations for poetry have been found in the flag. Lives have been sacrificed and glorious deeds accomplished in the defence of the "colors," and to offer insult to the flag is to offer in sult to the country it represents. the other hand, to honor the flag is to nonor its people. Doubtless this is what Her Majesty ntended when her bid for the Stars and Stripes worked on their silken field of spotless white, went to such of high figure. The object which re-presented and brought to mind the people of the United States was some thing that had the infinite value that attaches to things with which we associate our friends, and was some-thing for which a high price might worthily be paid. The cheque, too, was a handsome addition to the funds of the Red Cross, and in this way the flag of the republic was made a mercinedium thru which many comforts would flow to the sick and wounded.

fighting for one cent a day under national system. Where would the British Empire be but for the unsel-fish universal military systems of Bel-gium, France and Russia? Are we indeed "free' men? How free are we where taxes are concerned? Must we not educate our children? Can we obey the laws or not as we like? It's a terrible thing to realize that the public mind has deemed taxes, education and all laws worthy of being treated as scrious business, and put on a well-organized and supervised basis, and that when it comes to the sacred matter of defence of hearth and home, flag and country, it is left to a slipshod volition of each indi vidual. Why is Germany so strong For the same reason that little Switzerland is strong, free the it be from all trace of the Prussian militarism and caste. The reason they are strong is because both represent that national organization for defence which can change a people into an army when danger threatens. I have seen Switzerland mobilize for war in three days, a people of half our population with a well armed and well trained army of more than half a million. We cannot understand what it means, the

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING

The following letter from Lieut.-Col. William Hamilton Merritt, president of the Canadian Defence League, is in reply to a request from Miss Helen M. Merrill, who is prominent in women's patriotic organizations. It is calculated to stimulate interest in national defence and to encourage universal military training. Not only has Col. Merritt made a special study of the system of defence of Canada and foreign countries, but he has written and published interesting matter along this line, especially relating to the militia laws of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Switzerland and also several pamphlets under the title of "Patriotic Military Service."

In reply to your request for my views on the system for national defence in vogue in Canada, I would say in the first place that I was very glad to be present at the magnificent rally at Massey Hall, held recently to inaugurate on a large scale a recruiting novement in Toronto.

If I had not been there I might have missed the utterance of a great states-nan and ardent imperialist, who reminded us that under our military system we are free men, and if recruits were lacking that that freedom might be endangered. He also pointed out that under our system any young men who preferred to remain at home to be pampered by their mothers or be helped to make money by their fathers or who were wedded to their selfish pleasures, could continue the enjoy-ment of these privileges, all at their own sweet will, protected by their less selfish chums who chose to offer their services to safeguard them.
Issue Clearly, Defined

Undoubtedly the great statesman leant it to be taken as a warning that liberty run riot, when opposed to national organization, cannot be exected to continue.

"Compulsion or freedom" might well be read "System or license," for compulsion means a national system, the same for all, and unbridled freedom a degenerate license. "Compulsion or freedom" may also read "Patriotism or dollars." for under the go-as-you-please or "free" system we may wonder what the response would be with-out the weight of the recruiting dollars. Our brave French allies are
