

Watch and Pray.

If temptations strong assail thee
In the morning of the day,
Flee at once to Christ for refuge.
Watch and pray!

If at noon thy path seems brighter,
Wealth and honors gild the day;
O beware lest these enslave thee.
Watch and pray!

When life's sun is almost sinking,
Scarcely felt its parting ray,
Dread not thou the coming darkness.
Watch and pray!

When earth's pleasures float around thee,
Manhood's cares assume their sway,
Still, when mists of death are gath'ring,
Watch and pray!
