"The imports this year have greatly exceeded any former one, and this table does no more embrace the whole, than the tables of other years do. The valuation placed upon the reported articles is $17,827,810. But it is believed that the omissions in the reports, if all could be ascertained, would swell the amount to $20,000.000.

"The foregoing is an account of the commerce reaching this port through the Lakes, for the years indicated.

"With regard to the shipments of property from this port west, it is next to an impossibility to arrive at it, and impossible to specify the articles; but they embrace every thing used by man. The only manner I can get at any thing like the value is, by taking the Canal imports; but
