

neither food nor clothing, and in their hearts nothing to make them contented and happy, and are thus equally poor in body and in soul.

The chief thing which gives us joy and courage is this, that the Gospel of Jesus, our Saviour, his incarnation, passion, and death for us and for all the world, is not preached in vain; we see that it always finds hearts and ears. It opens the hearts and ears of the dead and blind heathen, and brings to them life and feeling. Ah, may he still give us peace! This would contribute to him and his affair, for if there be war, the Indians have no time to think about them, the yearning for murder leaves them no time for them. The festivals, Easter, Whitsunday, Christmas, etc., were noticeable and always accompanied with great blessing.

Baptized, six adults and six children. Received into the church, eight. The holy communion we had eight times, whereto came two. Married, were three couples. Came to the church, forty-six persons. Died, four, namely, Schebosh, Joseph, Lea, and a child, Ephraim.
