

We would have given the great satisfaction to relieve him from that distressed situation had

RULE XIV.

They calling themselves wise they became fools,
suspecting not only us, but they also, how un-studious to avoid all intercourse.

From having exposed himself too freely in different climates, he entirely lost his health.

RULE XV.

He was pleasing not often, because he was vain.
William nobly acted though he was unaccus'd.

We may happily live, though our possessions be small.

RULE XVI.

Be honest nor take no shape nor semblance of disguise.

There cannot be nothing more insignificant than vanity.

The measure is so exceptionable, that we cannot by no means permit it.

RULE XVII.

We are all accountable creatures, each for himself.

Does that boy know who he speaks to? Who does he offer such language to?

It was not he that they were so angry with.

RULE XVIII.

My brother and him are tolerable grammarians.

Did he not tell thee his fault, and entreated thee forgive him?
