LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE, SAYS HOSMER

Everyone is Prosperous and Contented, Why Change It? He Asks.

MONTREAL, Feb. 5 .- (Special.)-Mr. Charles R. Hosiner, a director of the Bank of Montreal, staed to-day that the more thought he gave to the Washington arrangement the more was ne convinced that little good would come to this country thru his rathreation. Why not let wen enough alone, and why upset from torty wo scuring new channels of blace?

Mr. hospier depared that every attempt to secure haproved trace telations with the United States had been pustated at Washington, and he knew of no registation enacted at the capital of that country during many lears past which had not been framed with the object of forcing Canada into a poneign union with the American republic. They aid not readle, he went to say, that Canapians were made of too stern a stuff to be turned above first Monday in March and April: so easily from their natural anestance, Mrs. C. Grant Anderson, 93 Dews that the Americans realized that they were reckning without their host.

"Canadians went to work and built railways from the Atiantic to the Pacific seaward, established steamship communication with the European countries, as well as with those or the Orient, opened up the greatest wheat belt in the world, and now that an this has been crowned by the greatest measure of success ever known to the commerce, agriculture and finance of any country, we are told by heapertenced men that it must go for naught, and that trade must be disorganized for a year or two, and finany ruined, or hanced over to loreigners.

"The banking system of Canada," said Mr. Hosmer, "is the finest in the world, the envy of Wall-street and the admiration of every monetary institution in the United States. The railno equals in the past, and we will create greater results during the next quarter of a century, if the politicians will leave us alone, than the Americans accomprished in a century as regards settlement and general development. All of these institutions have worked harmonlously together to build up a great Canadian nationality under the forming no inconstucrable part of the empire which has given in a great measure liberty and peace to the world.

Prosperous at Present.

Everyone from the Atlantic to the Pacific is prosperous and contented. There is not even sufficient labor to carry on the work of the railways and the agricultural sections of the Doahead by leaps and bounds. The credit of our Dominion, our provinces and our nunicipalities is of the best in the mondy markets of the world, and once more," Mr. Hosmer asked, "why not let well enough alone?

Rose Stahl in "Maggie Pepper.

Rose Stahl in "Maggie Pepper."

Rose Stahl, whose name in coincetton with "The Chorus Lady" is familiar to inearly every theatiegoer thruout length and breadth of the land, has finally distarded the play with which she has been so successful for the last four years. Miss Stahl could have continued playing "The Chorus Lady" almost indefinitely, as the interest manifested wherever she has appeared—in some cases for the fourth and fifth times—has been just as strong as it was on the first—presentation, but she feels that the time has come when fresh evidence of her versatility as a comedienne must be given. With this purpose in view. Miss Stahl is bidding for fresh fayor in the new Charles Kiein comedy. "Maggie Pepper." which Henry B. Harris will present at the Princess Theatre to-night and for the remainder of this week. In the new play, altho she is portraying a character of an original type—that of a salesiady in a New York department slore. Miss Stahl has many opportunities to use the same styel of slang paraphrasing that made her former efforts so successful. The cast provided by Mr. Harris hiclades such well-known players as Frederick Truesdell; Grant Stewart, Lee Kohlerder, The Chorus Lady and Beatrice Prentice.

The Coming of Tetrazzini.

The Coming of Tetrazzini. The Coming of Tetrazzini.
In a few days complete particulars will be announced about the coming of Madame Tetrazzini to Massey Hall for one concert only, on Friday evening, March Prices of seats and how to obtain them will then be announced. That the Tetrazzini concert will easily be the event of the meason, both musically and socially, is borne out by the many enquiries regarding the coming of the world's greatest coloratura soprano. As Toronto is the only city in which Tetrazzini will sing in Canada, much interest is being taken in other cities. It is understood the railroads intend making a special rate for parties of ten or more.
