Spartacan Leader in Bottrop District Killed While Resisting Arrest.

n. Feb. 25 .- The attement of Baspartacans to organize a revoluverian Spartacans to organize a revolu-tion in Baden and establish a soviet overnment has failed, except at Mann-elm, the energetic action of the Baden overnment, which immediately marched overnment troops into Karlsruhe, ar-ested radical leaders and proclaimed a tate of siege, having apparently killed the movement, according to advices rethe movement, according to the Mannheim outbreak, which is said to have been organized by the Bavarian communist leader. Mucheam, was more successful than those elsewhere. The Spartacan forces are still in possession of the city, which is cut off from the rest of the country.

Spartacan forces are still in possession of the city, which is cut off from the rest of the country.

Serious Fighting Continues.

Basle, Feb. 25.—A telgram from Karlsruhe reports that serious fighting continues at Manheim, with varying success for the possession of the newspaper volkstimme. As everything is quiet in Baden with the exception of Mannheim, the state of siege has been raised. Six persons arrested on suspicion of being connected with disorders at Mannheim have been released on demand of the soldiers' council of Karlsruhe.

Riots at Dusseldorf.

Berlin, Monday, Feb. 24.—Spartacan forces have prevented municipal elections from being held at Dusseldor' Armed bands on Saturday demanded from some election presidents the lists of voters, as a result of which action elections could not be held in those areas. Other Spartacan bands, armed with rifles and hand-grenades, appeared at most of the polling booths on Sunday evening, and seized ballot boxes and lists of voters which were burned or thrown into the Rhine. Lively fighting is reported in some election precincts.

Herr Fuldzennck, Spartacan leader in the Bottrop district, in Westphalis, has been killed while resisting arrest by government roops. He had attempted to incite mobs to further rioting there, it is alleged.
