FOOTBALL. THE SUPGEONS AND FOOTBALL. Even some of the physicians seem to be jealous guardians of the harmlessness of football. The half back of the Williams College team has for some time been suffering, even to delirium, with congestion of the brain, though he is now much better and is reported out of danger. His doctor, however, says his sickness was not due to his injuries received on the football field, but to the complete relaxation which followed his retire-ment to North Adams to recover from a sprained ankle. The moral of this seems to be, not that football is dangerous, but to beware of relaxation, As the Inshman said when picked up with a few broken bones: "It wasn't the fall that hurted me, but stoppin' so sudden."-Boston Trans-

Where J. B. Tyrrell Has Been Making Explorations,

Territory Never Before Entered by White Men-Well-Wooded Country, Interspersed With Stretches of Prairie.

Winnipeg, Oct. 28.-J. B. Tyrell, of the Dominion Geological Survey Department, has returned from the unknown north, where he has been makng explorations. He left Selkirk, on June 24. Taking canoes at Grand Rapids, he, with Indian guides, proceeded to Norway House, and descended the Nelson River 100 miles to Pine River, which they ascended to the Wolf River. All this territory has practically never before been entered by white men. Reaching the Nelson, they again descended it for about 75 miles, and followed the Burntwood to a remote Hudson Bay Company post.

"This large section of the country," says Mr. Tyrell, "is not a wilderness nile in 2:13, unpaced, and after an of rocks such as lies to the east of hour's rest rode for the one-mile here and has been described by many standing, unpaced, record, riding the of the men who have pretended to thile in the remarkable time of 2:05 have a knowledge of the region. Great stretches that were a few years ago heavily timbered spruce have felt the deadly effects of fire and are now a blackened stubble of dead trees. "There are large areas of rich, cultivable lands west of the Nelson, and, though wheat is not grown, simply because it would be of no value, all varieties of vegetables are produced in the gardens of the Hudson Bay Company posts and prove hardy. Large stretches of prairies also occur, and I have stood on the banks of the Burntwood River and gazed on just such rich stretches as might have been seen either on the Sa-katchewan or Assiniboine—land that will be good for agricultural purposes and excellent for stock-raising some time, though now it is practically in-

George Munro, of this city, has had a writ issued against him by his brother Donald, of London, for an account of the business of the Canadian Evangelist, a journal which became defunct two or three weeks ago. Mr. Donald Munro has also sought an injunction to restrain his brother, the editor and publisher of the paper in question, from disposing of the Canadian Evangelist business, but it is said the sale was effected before the writ was issued. The plaintiff alleges that he had an interest in the paper, which was a Disciples' journal.

SETLED FOR $500. Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 27.-Three years ago (Oct. 20, 1893) a terrible accident took place at Nichols, a suburban station at Battle Creek, on the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railroad. A World's Fair excursion train, bound for Chicago, collided with another passenger train and 43 lives were lost. Among the killed was Mrs. Myrtle Findlay. Her body was never identi-She was on her way to get her little boy, aged 7 years, who was visiting in Wisconsin, leaving her husband at Hamilton, Ont., her home. Suit was commenced in Detroit for $10,000 damages. The case began Saturday, when Harrison Geer interrupted and informed the court that the company had settled with Robert Findlay, husband of the deceased, and administrator of her estate, who had agreed to accept $500 in settlement of the case in full.

Words of Welcome for the Visitors From Mayor Little and Others.

Interesting Addresses by Hon. E. Davis and Rev. Dr. Parsons.

Tuesday Afternoon.

p.m., conducted by Rev. E. B. Lanceing address at the Sabbath School Convention yesterday. He said it had been his pleasure to pronounce the closing words at the last convention, on Oct. 24, which was held in Cook's Church, Toronto, "It is my equal honor, esteem and privilege," said he, "to stand here in the Dundas Street Church, on the 26th of October, to pronounce the opening words of the 31st annual provincial convention. We go from city to city, because we are provincial, and from church to church, cause we are interdenominational. We forget these distinctions, and obliterate these differences in the common thought that we are fellow workers for Christ. The work can never grow cold or old. Fresh vigor brings fresh warmth, and we are now assembled in the hospitable city of London to build another city of Sabbath school efforts, from which stronger battle can be waged against the enemy called evil. The fires of conflict will be made yet hotter, and the dawn of coming triumph made yet brighter. It is our business to de vise the best means to cherish and unfold the divine seed of immortality that is implanted in every human heart." Concluding, he said: "In the name of our Heavenly Father. and for his honor and glory and service, I now proclaim this 31st annual

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION.

The Rev. J. A. McDonald, principal of the Presbyterian Ladies' College, delivered an eloquent address on the religious education of the young. Dealing with the responsibil ities for religious instruction, the speaker said that if a school teacher had not a proper conception of God, he should not be allowed to teach in a Christian land. He laid stress on the necessity for religious training in the home and the influence of the church in this respect. The nominating committee reported having struck the following commit-

REPORTS OF THE WORK. During the afternoon representatives from many counties, districts and cities gave verbal reports of the work in their respective constituencies. A total of 73 reports were called for, but only 26 were given, delegates from many places not having arrived, while it is doubtful if some sections will be epresented at all. The reports received were from East and West Durham, Dufferin, Brant, Dundas, West Elgin, Essex, Glengarry, Grenville, Haldimand, Halton, North Hastings, Lennox and Addington, Lambton, Mid-dlesex, South Ontario, Peel, Peterboro, Russell, Welland, North and South

Wentworth, Waterloo, Hamilton, London, Guelph and Toronto. Taken as a whole they were very satisfactory. Essex reported "88 live and 2 dead" schools, including 8 for colored children; Peterboro had an unusually large number of lady superintendents; and as for London, Rev. Robt. Johnston reported verbally that the city was setting an example to the Province by doing lots of work without much organization. "We have lots of horse, but not much harness," he of horse, but not much harness,"

The places yet to report are Algo-ma, West, North and East Bruce, East Elgin, South and North Fronten-ac, East, South and North Grey, Haliac, East, South and North Grey, Hall-burton, Huron, South Hastings, Kent, Lincoln, Leeds, Lanark, Muskoka, Norfolk, Nipissing, Northumberland, North Ontario, Oxford, Point Edward, Prescott, Perth, Renfrew, Stormont, North, South and Center Sincoe, Thunder Bay, Victoria, Wellington, East, North and West York, Belleville, Brantford, Chatham, Kingston, Otta-St. Catharines, Stratford, Windson and St. Thomas.

Tuesday Evening. WORDS OF WELCOME. The first evening session of the Sunday school workers was a grand success. The attendance numbered nearly 2,000, and was limited only by the capacity of the building, many being turned away. At 7:45 Rev. T. S. Johnson, of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church, opened the meeting with prayer, following which he led in a service of praise. President Patterson then introduced Rev. W. J. Clark, of the First Presbyterian Church, who, addressing the members of the association, said it was his pleasing duty to extend a wellcome success. The attendance numbered cleasing duty to extend a welcome pleasing duty to extend a welcome to the delegates on behalf of the churches of the city. He expressed a doubt as to why he was expected to do this, unless it was that he should represent the smiles and welcoming glances of the city Sunday school workers, who so heartly welcomed their visitors. He could readily understand why Mayor Little should address the delegates on behalf of the city. There would be no need of extra policemen, nor would it be necessary to watch the saloons the enecessary to watch the saloons closely. The delegates would doubtless speak highly of the city of London, and some might think so much of it that they would come here to reside. Speaking of Sunday school works to be said in which the said in work, he said in spite of the trials that might come to all Sunday school teachers, they delighted in the work because of their faith. In conclusion, he predicted that when they went away they would leave such a sweet savor behind that the people of London would express the hope that it would not be long before the Pro-vincial Sunday School Convention would again meet here. His Worship Mayor Little extended to the delegates the freedom of the city. "Since I became mayor of London," said he, "it has been my pleasure to extend a welcome to the various conventions that have met here, but tonight I not only welcome you on behalf of those I represent, but from my personal sympathy in the work you represent." He spoke of the magnitude of the work, and its After the devotional services at 2 far-reaching effects, and of the responsibilities of Sunday school teachaway back in the 50's he had joined a Band of Hope and taken a pledge against the use of liquor and tobacco and that pledge had never been broken. (Applause.) It had not been a matter of self-denial with him, in been a fact, the self-denial would have been the other way if he had meddled with the things at all. The speaker stated that he made this personal reference because of a report which had been presented by a delegate about the work in the Central Prison. A large proportion of the inmates had been attendants at Sunday school, and their downfall was traceable to the use of tobacco and liquor. KINDLY ACKNOWLEDGMENTS. Mr. J. A. Patterson, M.A., the president, replied to the previous speakers and expressed great pleasure at the wishes and kind words with their pupils to a proper observance of the delegates had been welcomwhich the delegates had been welcomed. This new London, in this new part of Britain's great empire, was not so vast nor bowed down with age as Old London across the sea, but there was wealth of youth here, as there is a wealth of age in Old London. He spoke of the honor and distinction in being the first guests to a Sunday school convention in the new church, and calling attention to the fact that the structure was without a pillar, he said: "It looks, indeed, as if it despised earthly support. There must be something very spiritual in Dundas Center Church."

A GO-AS-YOU-PLEASE SPEECH. Hon. E. J. Davis, M.P.P., Provincial Secretary, was the next speaker. He said that although this was the first time he had had the honor to address a Sunday school convention, he had been invited to do so on other occasions, but circumstances had pre-vented him. He was present to show that he was actively engaged in Sunday school work. For twenty years he had been connected with a Sunday school in the county of York. When he accepted Mr. Day's invitation to be present here it was with the under-standing that he should not have any subject to stick to, but give a "go-asyou-please" speech. Referring to the British nation, he said: "What is it that makes it the greatest nation, and her Queen the noblest that has ever reigned in any land? It is because this great nation of which we form a part is founded on these old principles of moral truth and spiritual, truth and righteousness." He spoke of the restraining influence on public men of the oath they took on the Bible to discharge their duties in the interest of her whom they were elected to serve. He knew of no other plan to bind men to do what was right and true. Referring to the abolition of slavery, he said the principles upon which the British nation is built could not allow such injury to exist. He defined the Sabbath school as the meeting together of young and old for the purpose of teaching and absorbing the grand old moral and spiritual truths of the Bible. It was not enough to have truths taught, but the member of the Sabbath school must be inspired to active work-to go out and put in practice in their daily lives the truths thus learned. done wonders in the past few years. No association had done more to draw denominations closer together than this. He concluded with a unique statement of the object of this convention. He compared the interchange of views as to conducting Sunday schools to contributions to a common purse of experience, to which all gave a part, and then on leaving the convention each took all the purse contained. THE SUNDAY SCHOOL AND THE

LORD'S DAY. The president, in introducing Rev. Dr. Parsons, of Toronto, referred to the conflict going on in Toronto at the present time on the Lord's Day question, and stated that London would reap the benefit of that conflict. Rev. Dr. Parsons spoke of the "special relations of the Sabbath that it will depend almost entirely on the training of the youth of today as to whether the will be observed in the future as we have had it from the beginning. Old country people found fault with our rigid observance of the Sabbath. "I think," said the speaker, "that the Sabbath can be rightly defended from the humanitarian side." He defined the Sabbath as a day of rest. A great many who advocate the observ-ance of the Sabbath are declining in their spiritual observance of the day. It is because they are getting away from the Scriptural teachings. He held that the observance of the Sabbath was a defense of righteous government. He concluded with an earnest appeal for continued efforts on the part of the teachers to train

"CHILD STUDY." Mrs. Frances R. Ford, of Troy, N. Y., is a very pleasant speaker, and her address, "Child Study, in Home and Class," was very interesting. She spoke particularly of the child's conception of the Creator, and related a series of observations of this phase of child nature. Speaking of the work in the primary department of the Sunday school, she said some teachers, in their zeal and interest in the work, were in danger of doing too much. She had spent much time in the study of children in the home, on the street, and in the class, She had ever longed to turn their active lives to Christ, and had not done this without discovering something their character.
