BAN WILL BE OFF OLEO. NEXT WEEK

Butter Substitute May Be Sold Anywhere in Canada After Sunday.

Up until the present date the federal government has strictly forbidden the use of oleomargarine in the Dominion. Recently, however, they were persuaded on account of the price of which butter was soaring to withdraw the embargo, and allow it to be imported duty free. So, after Dec. 10 oleomargarine will be for sale all over Canada.

England has always used oleomargarine in large quantities, about 20 pounds per capita being the annual consumption. When the United States first started to use it, there was a decidedly lukewarm feeling about it. This, however, is being rapidly changed and the people of the States are finding that they were mistaken. Two years ago in the United States the average consumption per capita was 1 1/2 pounds a year. Last year it was gradually growing in favor, particularly in the west. The aim of the committee should be, he said, to have the legislature amend the law so that oleomargarine could make two classes, one on lands and one on improvements. As far as he could see it was the only method to introduce single taxation.

"That commends itself to me at first sight," said Controller Cameron. "We should have a publicity man who would be able to go to a manufacturer and tell him that our assessment was, say, twenty mills on buildings and twenty-five on lands."

SINGLE TAX IDEA LIKELY FOR CITY

Ontario Legislature Will Be Asked for Approval if City Agrees.

The Ontario Legislature will be asked, if approval is given by the city council, to amend the assessment law in order to bring about a more equitable form of taxation, following a meeting of the committee on assessment under Ald. Ball yesterday.

The committee recommended that municipalities be permitted to levy two rates, one on land and one on improvements.

Planning More Revenue
Finance Commissioner Bradshaw told the committee that the heads of the civic departments had in course of preparation a report dealing with methods to obtain more revenue and that it would be submitted to the council soon.

Ald. Ball declared he was an absolute convert to single tax. It was gradually growing in favor, particularly in the west. The aim of the committee should be, he said, to have the legislature amend the law so that oleomargarine could make two classes, one on lands and one on improvements. As far as he could see it was the only method to introduce single taxation.

"That commends itself to me at first sight," said Controller Cameron. "We should have a publicity man who would be able to go to a manufacturer and tell him that our assessment was, say, twenty mills on buildings and twenty-five on lands."

BALLANTYNE ISSUES CHALLENGE TO COCKBURN

Labor Candidate in East York Says He Would Withdraw if He Thought It Right.

James H. Ballantyne, Labor candidate for East York, delivered a scholarly address before a large gathering at Masonic Hall, Balmora avenue, in the course of which he issued a challenge to Mayor Ross C. Cockburn, the soldiers' candidate, to debate upon the question of the municipalization of saloons. John Loggitt, a well-known Labor man, repudiated the alleged alignment of the Labor party with the Mayor's Liberals as a slander upon the good name of his party, and also accused the entire press of the city of prostituting their liberty to the cause of the United front government, specifying as an instance the refusal of one of the evening papers to publish the telegram from D. A. Carey to the premier endorsing the policy of the government, while publishing Mr. Carey's telegram to Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"If I thought for a moment that in withdrawing from the field I would be doing my country and my fellow Labor men a service, I would withdraw," said the speaker.

John Hamar of Ward Seven spoke a few words, eulogizing the candidate.

Walter Brown, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, presided.

BONDS IN HONOR OF FALLEN UNIVERSITY MEN

A unique feature of the annual visit of President Falconer to the University of Toronto Schools was the presentation to the university of two memorial bonds. One for $46, which will later provide a suitable memorial for the U. T. S. boys who have fallen at the front, was subscribed by members of the staff and by old boys who have responded to the call of their country, and of these 22 have made the supreme sacrifice.

Another interesting feature of this annual meeting was the presentation to John E. Kerr, last year's head boy, of a governor-general's gold medal. Addresses appropriate to the occasion were given by Sir Robert Falconer, Dean Pakenham, the headmaster, and Mr. Porter.
