French owners, who visited the United States last summer, are said to have reported to the French Government that racing was the best interest of the country, particularly the army, and that the race was a good thing for the spirit of a people at war. CHARACTERS ARE MADE BY MANY DECISIONS

Principal of St. Hilda's College Addresses Women on Sunday Afternoon.

A poorly-attended meeting of the women of the city was held yesterday afternoon in the Strand Theatre. Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, president of the Women's Suffrage League, presided. Miss Cartwright, principal of St. Hilda's College, said that life and characters were determined by the decisions made by the women. She referred to the mother who watched her little lad grow up, making decision after decision, each one helping to mold his character. Then came the day when his character was tested, and he made the great decision and told his mother, "I'm going to enlist." Joy and sorrow were the mixed emotions that the mother had to bear because at the crucial moment her boy had been true to the ideals she had been trying to instill in him. The decisions of countries as well as individuals counted much, she said. Her country had, along with other countries, made the decision to enter the war, and it was up to the voters as to whether she should stay in or not.

CIVILIZATION SUFFERS WITHOUT A RELIGION

Rev. A. E. Ribourg Preaches on "Democracy" at St. Alban's Cathedral.

Rev. Dr. A. E. Ribourg preached an Advent sermon Sunday evening at St. Alban's Cathedral on "Walking With God," and said that the democracy that loses God loses everything, and that the just hopes of a depressed humanity as present lie in the bosom of God. Dr. Ribourg said, in part: "Never more than now do we need to be led by God. We need a new knowledge and realization of what religion truly is and what it means. We need, as nothing else, the revival of a real and living faith in God. The democracy that loses God, loses everything. No civilization can ultimately survive without a religion, without a faith, and it must be a faith in something beyond itself. Civilization may accumulate resources and open one department after another of life's treasures to the enjoyment of men, but a moment will come when it will find itself incapable of inspiring men to the worthy and equitable use of the gifts it has garnered. "When men will decide to walk with God there will be justice, order and peace among men; there will be integrity of personality, wholeness, soundness, reliability and peace. God is now calling loudly for more and better Christianity, a Christianity that will dare to proclaim and practice the principles of Christ's gospel, and that practical Christianity alone will make the world safe for democracy."

WORK OF DEMOCRACY NOT YET COMPLETED

Taking as his subject, "The Advancement of Faith and Citizenship," Rev. Trevor H. Davies, preaching at the Metropolitan Methodist Church last night, said: "There are signs that the burden and strain of the war are breaking down the strength of some, but our work is not yet done. "There were three reasons for Great Britain entering the war: (1) To maintain the public right of the world; (2) to make the world a safe place for small nations; (3) to bring to an end that military despotism that is such a continual menace to the peace of the world. "We are not yet realized as yet any one of these purposes, and we do not suffer our children to tread this Via Dolorosa, which we have trodden with bleeding feet. "The preacher said the coming of Christ might be seen in the gift of enfranchisement to the women of Canada, to the use of which they would be admitted today. Christ had been all along the champion of womanhood. The enfranchisement of women meant the strengthening of all social and moral causes. Mr. Davies appealed to his hearers to enter the polling booth as prayerfully as they enter church, expecting to find God there, as they would expect to find Him in a place of worship."
