MONCTON AND ST. JOHN

THE WHEEL O' FORTUNE

By LOUIS TRACY

Author of "The Wings of the Morning," "The Pillar of Light," "The Captain of the Kansas," etc.

"She is ill, I am afraid. She found the heat and noise too much for her. Half an hour ago she asked Captain Stump to take her to the yacht. Of course I told her I didn't mind being left here until someone came. But the funny part of it is that although I was looking from the veranda, I failed to see either her or the captain leave the hotel."

"By this time they were free from inquisitive eyes or ears, and Mr. Fenshawe proceeded to amaze the girl with a full recital of his disagreeable adventure. Royson noticed that she gave no heed whatever to his abuse in it. Her attitude was tinged with a slight disdain, and he began to feel miserably depressed until it occurred to him that the probably resentful departure on Mrs. Haxton's errand without letting her know. That was coming to an extent. He was sure she would forgive him when he had an opportunity of telling her exactly what had happened.

"I must break my resolution and send at least one cablegram from Massowah if he cried. "It will be harmless enough to escape mutilation, as it is to my London office directing that a correspondence must be addressed to Aden in future. You will take it for me, Royson, and pay the cost?"

"Will Captain Stump come back for dinner?" inquired Mr. Fenshawe, after he had glanced through the letters which Irene brought to him.

"I hope so," Mrs. Haxton went off in such a hurry that I forgot to mention it. "Was it illness, or anxiety, that sent her to the yacht?"

"A little of both, I fancy. But why should she be anxious? She did not know that matters had gone wrong at the fort. "I think she made a shrewd guess, but was unwilling to alarm you. That is why she sent Mr. Royson after us. By the way, what did she tell him?"

"That is odd, distinctly odd. I meant to ask him, but forgot it in my excitement. "He will be here in a few minutes," said she, with a livelier interest.

"There was a knock at the door. A negro waiter had something to say, and she gathered from a jumble of Italian and Arabic that a native wished to see the Signora Haxton. The man pronounced the name plainly, so there could be no mistake as to his meaning, and Irene answered: "The Signora is not here."

"Mr. Fenshawe was immersed in his letters again, but he looked up. "What is it?" he demanded. "Some man is asking for Mrs. Haxton," she told him.

"Better go and interview him. If he can tell me anything, bring him here. She went downstairs with the attendant. He pointed to a muffled Arab near the door, who saluted deeply the instant she appeared.

"What do you want?" she said, in Italian, and the Arab silently indicated a closed vehicle drawn up close to the curb in front of the hotel. Thinking there was some visitor inside who did not wish to alight, she went forward without hesitation. The dim, smoke-laden street was unusually crowded, she thought, but she gave no attention to the passers-by, as the Arab had opened the door of the dingy-looking vehicle, and she expected to find an occupant peering out at her. The conveyance was empty!

"There is some mistake," she said, glancing from the dark interior at a Somali driver, and then back to the silent messenger. Suddenly she had an unerring consciousness that several other white-shodded figures had crept stealthily between her and the doorway. With a little cry of alarm, she turned and strove to re-enter the hotel. Instantly she was swept off her feet, a coarse hand closed on her mouth, and she was dragged with brutal force into the carriage. She saw spring into existence what seemed to be a murderous fracas among a dozen men. The street was filled with chaos, and the pavement was blocked with struggling forms. Knives flashed, brawny-armed Arabs closed in deadly combat, and cursed each other with all the rich repertory of Islam. Of course, people tried to rush from the vestibule of the hotel to ascertain what was causing the tumult. But the fighters filled the doorway so that none could enter or leave the building, and, in the midst of the confusion, the pair of Somali ponies attached to the ransackable vehicle were whipped into a fast gallop. Then the riot subsided as quickly as it arose, and, were it not that Irene was gone, no one appeared to be much the worse.

CHAPTER IX. A Gallop in the Dark. Several minor hills of events combined to produce this tempestuous tourment at the door of the Hotel Grande del Universo, and any level-headed man acquainted with their meanderings might come to the just conclusion that Irene had been kidnapped in mistake for Mrs. Haxton. He might have deplored the blunder, but leaving out of count any humane consideration for the girl's feelings, he must have admired the stage-craft displayed by her abductors. If cool skill were worthy of success they had earned it in their manoeuvre. In fact, the achievement would have ranked high in the villainous annals of Massowah were it not for the chance that separated Mulai Hamed from Royson two hours earlier.

The sun sank behind the highlands of Abyssinia while the Effendi awaited the Governor's return in the guard-room of the fort. Thereupon his guide, being an orthodox Mahomedan, faced towards Mecca, knelt by the roadside, and bowed his forehead to the dust. Another devout follower of the Prophet joined him, and the two chanted their prayers in unison. It is said that hymns are seldom sung with such gusto as in convict settlements, and, appraised by this standard, Mulai Hamed and his casual companion were accomplished rascals, for they rattled off the Salat and the Sunnah unctuously, and performed the genuflections and prostrations of the Reka with military precision.

Then they exchanged words. Mulai Hamed, telling of the Gisors in the hotel, was vastly surprised to hear from his brother Muselman, a cook in the fort, that the two of the Effendis were prisoners. But the cook soon hastened away to decapitate certain skinny fowls which would form the basis of a Risotto al polletto for dinner at the officer's mess, leaving Mulai Hamed to wonder if, perhaps, the tall Effendi had also been kept in durance vile, until he saw Mr. Fenshawe and Royson being whirled off in the Governor's carriage along the sea front.

He cursed both of them in suitable terms, and started on the long walk to the hotel. Being a born gossip, he chose the livelier route of the main street, which might yield a meeting with another acquaintance. This divergence led him near the Elephant Mosque. Abdullah, wearied of the rendezvous arranged by Mrs. Haxton for von Kerber, detected Mulai Hamed's badge, and sought information. "Brother," said he, "I would have speech of thee."

"Say on," was the courteous reply, for Mulai Hamed was flattered at being addressed thus by a man of distinction. "There be certain Gisors at thy canvassant, an old man, a fat man like a bull, a young man who stands more than a cubit high, and a thin man, the Hakim Effendi, whom I await here. Has thou any knowledge of them?"

"Mrs. G. Howard Prime and Mrs. Fred Miller left on Saturday for North River, where they will visit Mrs. Prime's parents, Rev. and Mrs. I. B. Colwell.

THE FRUITS OF THE EARTH

Seem To Be Nature's Provision For Keeping Man Healthy and Warding Off Disease.

Cereals, vegetables and meat supply the elements needed for man's nourishment. Yet fruit—though it has very little food value—has proved to be absolutely necessary for perfect health.

Careful investigation has shown that all the common fruits act on the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels and Skin. These are the organs that rid the body of dead tissue and waste products, and the fruit juices stir them up to more vigorous action, thus keeping the whole body clean and healthy.

But few people eat enough fruit. Realizing this, after several years of experimenting, a prominent Canadian physician succeeded in combining the juices of apples, oranges and lemons with a quantity of tablets called "Fruit-atives." They are really Nature's cure for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness and Stomach Trouble. Sold by all druggists. Price, 50c. A box—6 boxes for $2.50—trial size box 25c. Fruit-atives Limited, Ottawa.

have seen, but not him." Abdullah was annoyed. He, a pure-blooded Bedouin of the desert, had already made a great conquest in the word "brother" to one of mixed race. "I asked not for folly," he muttered. "That is the answer of a deceiver. Frank my friend, I speak truly. May I never drink at the White Pond of the Prophet if I have not told thee even that which I have heard from the mouth of the Lord." (To be continued.)

ARM BLOWN OFF

Percy Ellis the Victim of a Distressing Accident.

Percy Ellis, aged 20, son of Robert Ellis, of Mac's Bay, had his left forearm so badly injured yesterday afternoon that it had to be amputated in the General Public Hospital last evening.

The young man and his father and brother left Mac's Bay yesterday afternoon in a gasoline launch for Poolagoon to tend their vees. He carried along his shot gun in case a chance for a shot arose and when about half a mile off shore at 3 p. m. he picked up the gun. It was accidentally discharged and the contents badly lacerated his left forearm. The arm was temporarily bandaged and the boat was headed for Lepreux harbor and as quick speed for shore as possible was made. Quick connection was made with the New Brunswick Southern Railway train for St. John and three and one-half hours after the accident the injured man was in the St. John hospital.

It was found impossible to save the arm and amputation was performed by Dr. White. Mr. Ellis stood the operation well. He was accompanied to the city by his father and Ernest Shaw.

WEDDINGS

Lang-Clarke

The marriage of Miss Katherine Lorette, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Clarke, to Dr. Herbert B. Lang, a graduate of Harvard '06, took place at the home of the bride, Dorchester (Mass.), on Wednesday evening last. The bride is well known in St. John, her father's former home, and many friends will extend congratulations.

The wholesome, harmless green leaves and tender stems of a lung-fleeting mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its curative properties. It is a dry, bronchial cough quickly and safely yielded to this highly effective cough medicine. Dr. Shoop assures mothers that they can safely give it to even very young babies. No opium, no chloroform—absolutely nothing, sharp or harmful. It calms the distressing cough and heals the sensitive membranes. Accept no other. Demand Dr. Shoop's. Sold by all Druggists.

OBITUARY

George F. A. Vanwart

The death of George F. A. Vanwart, son of J. S. Vanwart, occurred on Saturday evening. He was well known and had been ill for some time. He was in the 36th year of his age. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from his late residence at Evandale.

Mrs. Margaret E. Martin

The death of Mrs. Margaret E. Martin, widow of John Martin, occurred on Sunday, in the 72nd year of her age. She was an old resident of this city and had been ill for some time. Three brothers, A. L. and Wm. A., of this city, and John R., of Detroit, and one daughter, Mrs. Paul Kingston, survive.

Stomach troubles would more quickly disappear if the idea of treating the cause, rather than the effect, would come into practice. A tiny, inside, hidden nerve, says Dr. Shoop, governs and gives strength to the stomach. A branch also goes to the heart, and one to the kidneys. When these "inside nerves" fail, then the organs must falter. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed specifically to these failing nerves. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment patients say they realize a gain. Sold by all Druggists.

Mrs. G. Howard Prime and Mrs. Fred Miller left on Saturday for North River, where they will visit Mrs. Prime's parents, Rev. and Mrs. I. B. Colwell.

AT THE NICKEL

Thousands crowded into Nickel Theatre yesterday afternoon and last evening, not only to see and hear the magnificent programme but to hear the exciting election returns hot from the theatre's special wire. The crowds were composed largely of ladies, who were delighted to be doing the news from all sections of Canada under such comfortable and entertaining circumstances. At times the hilarity was deflected as the ticker told tales of majorities first for the Reds then for the Blues. Today thousands more will attend the Nickel for the dramatic production of "The Diamond Necklace Mystery," made a pronounced hit. It is a highly dramatic detective story and has a large number of scenes. The Pathé picture, "A Sailor's Sweetheart," proved a magnificent feature, and "Not Guilty" and "A Joking Artist" composed the pictorial portion of the bill. Miss Foley sang "When the Robins Sing Again," most acceptably. De Witt Cairns' rendition of "Just Someone," with violin obligato, was a distinct musical treat; monster matinee today.

KLARK-URBAN CO.

The Klark-Urban Company opened their second week in the Opera House last evening to a crowded house, when they presented the comedy drama, "The Edison Bank Robbery." Harden Klark and Miss Maisie Cecil in the leading roles were ably supported by the other members of the cast. The play was well staged, well acted and well costumed. The specialties were good and the audience was not sparing in reports. Between the acts the election returns were announced and the reports indicating a Liberal sweep were warmly applauded. "The Edison Bank Robbery" will be the bill again this evening.

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 50c

AT THE PRINCESS

Despite the great interest taken in the election, large crowds attended the Princess and witnessed one of the best shows yet given there. A feature of the bill is the picture "Caught Red Handed." "A Smoked Husband," is the story of a jealous husband. Two other pictures, "The Watchmaker's Holiday," and "The Poet" are both excellent comedies. "If Those Lips Could Only Speak," made a big hit. Mr. Courtney's rendering of "Darling" made a fine impression on the audience. The musical programme will be repeated today for the last time; matinee every afternoon at 2.15.

Only One "BROMO QUININE" that is Laxative Bromo Quinine & Co. on every box. 25c

BRONCHIAL TROUBLE BAFFLED DOCTORS PSYCHINE EFFECTED PERMANENT CURE

12 YEARS' TEST. That the Psychine cures are permanent, is proved by the following remarkable statement received by the proprietors, as recently as August 10th 1908. Mr. Wm. Cullis Bruce Mines, Ont., says: "When I first wrote you ten or twelve years ago, I had Bronchial trouble and a rattling in the chest and a troublesome cough at night. My Doctor could not do anything for me. Finally I decided to try PSYCHINE and have much pleasure saying that before I had taken all of the third bottle I was as well as ever, and am grateful to say I have been well ever since. I weigh 180 pounds and would earnestly recommend PSYCHINE to anyone with the same trouble that I had."

BRONCHITIS SYMPTOMS.—Bronchitis is an inflammatory disease of the bronchia or air passages leading to the lungs. It commences with a common chilly feeling, aching pains in the limbs, the patient is thirsty and feverish, with languor, headache, loss of appetite, and restlessness, soreness in the throat, increased on taking a long breath or going out into the cold air, wheezing sound in air passage, difficult breathing. A few doses of PSYCHINE will eradicate the trouble. Sample sent on application. Send coupon attached. All druggists and stores sell Psychine. 50c and $1.00.

MR. PUGSLEY TALKS OF RESULT

The People's Verdict Against the Campaign of Slander — Mr. Pender's Splendid Fight.

A reporter of the Telegraph interviewed Hon. William Pugsley last evening on the result of the elections, and asked if he desired to make any statement for publication. The minister said: "I am delighted with the result, especially in the province of New Brunswick. Our opponents instead of discussing the broad issues, which ought to have been the determining factors in the campaign, have indulged in a campaign of slander of the worst possible description. They have directed their heaviest attacks against me, and I cannot help giving myself the comfort of accepting the verdict of the people of New Brunswick as, to a certain extent, a vindication of myself, and a rebuke to the slanderers."

"Of course," continued Dr. Pugsley, "I realize that one very important factor in the election has been the strong personal of the Liberal candidates. Our having carried eleven out of thirteen seats in New Brunswick gives striking testimony to the fact that the electors disapprove in the strongest possible manner of the tactics of our opponents, while, at the same time, it affords convincing proof that they ardently believe in our great leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and his wise and prudent administration of the affairs of Canada."

"I regret exceedingly the defeat of Mr. Pender, who made a splendid fight and succeeded in reducing Dr. Daniel's former majority of 1,200 to 122. Mr. Pender's high standing in the country, without doubt, materially added to my strength. He polled the straight Liberal vote, and the fact that I obtained a larger vote is probably due to the many Conservatives having dropped Dr. MacRae, and voted for Dr. Daniel and myself. I can understand that many Conservatives who signed my nomination paper last year would feel like giving me their support in this contest in view of what I have been able to accomplish for St. John."

"The result throughout the province, while not surprising to me from what I have heard of the feeling of the electorate, is exceedingly gratifying. It is a great source of pride to me that the people of New Brunswick have expressed in so marked a manner their confidence in the government, and in myself as the minister from the province."

Go to the blood, if you are to drive out Rheumatism. A Wisconsin physician, Dr. Shoop, does this with his Rheumatic Remedy—and with seeming success. Rub-on, says the doctor, never did cure Rheumatism. It is more than skin deep—it is constitutional, always. Because of this principle, Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy is perhaps the most popular in existence. It goes by word of mouth from one to another, everywhere. Grateful patients gladly express results. It is an act of humanity, to tell the sick of a way to health. Tell some sick one. Sold by all Druggists.
