DO YOU KEEP HOUSE?

On page 11 of this issue of the Times—second to the last—almost a whole page is devoted to home-folks, men and women, sons and daughters, who love to see the home looking neat and cozy.

The furniture establishment of Amland Bros., Ltd., Waterloo street, is well known throughout the city, as well as the lower provinces, as headquarters for buying furniture.

They have a magnificent stock of buffets, sideboards, extension tables, china closets, bedroom and parlor suites, iron bedsteads, odd bureaus and commodes, etc.

The above firm makes a specialty of furnishing new homes, and those who intend going into housekeeping should do their shopping with Amland Bros., Ltd.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

"Human Hearts," a human interest play containing as much dramatic material as any four average plays, was given its first presentation in St. John before a large audience in the Open House last night.

The company presenting "Human Hearts" is much better than the average company visiting St. John.

Some of its members do really good work, notably Frank J. Woods, as Tom Logan, the wronged hero, who is made to suffer bitterly for the misdeeds of another.

James O'Neill, as Frederick Armistead, is perhaps a little monotonous in the heavy role, but nevertheless does effective work.

W. J. Sully, as Jim Mason, a tramp, has a part that offers many opportunities, all of which he takes full advantage.

Edward Knox, as Moses Jones, and W. J. Thorne, as Jimmy Logan, also do good work.

Of the ladies, Miss Francis scores as Jeannette, Miss Gibney as a peerless and winsome Pearl, while Mrs. Maurice won the sympathy of all by her clever conception of the poor blind mother.

Their interesting and pleasing dialogue, finish, even though it is made in spots and its plot is not new.

Still it tells an engrossing story and holds the close attention of the audience.

Some of the characters are distinct types, while the others have no particular personality.

"Human Hearts" will be repeated this evening.

FUND IS GROWING

The committee in charge of the arrangements in connection with the new building of the Natural History Society of New Brunswick met last evening.

The society's treasurer announced that the total contributions to the "building fund," which was started in 1897, had been as follows:

PICTURES HERE MONDAY

The Dominion Moving Picture Co., under the direction of Meyer Cohen and Leonard J. Mack, have their opening at the Opera House on Monday night.

They are a great variety of subjects, for one of the advantages of this form of entertainment, is the variety which may be given.

The programs has comedy, sentiment, and travel pictures.

The comedy being The School Boys' Conspiracy, The Terrible Kids in New York, and Robbers Robbed.

The sensational picture is The Black Hand, showing the Black Hand Society in New York kidnaping a little girl and holding her for a reward of $1,000.

Then comes the capture by the members of the band and the restoring of the child to its parents.
