

BRITISH TROOPS AND GREEK SOLDIERS FRATERNIZE

This photograph shows an interesting light on German change of attitude towards Greek nationality by landing troops at Salonika. It shows a British machine gunner and a Greek soldier in the British way of wearing a gendarme, and proves that the landing was accomplished with the friendly co-operation of Greece.

GO TO SUBURBS AT NIGHT

Day Entertainments Increase and Visit to the Theatre Now Classed as Quite an Adventure

London, Oct. 6.—(Correspondence)—Together with the fading of the "Lights of London," due to the effort of the night city to hide itself from the Kaiser's bomb-dropping Zeppelins, has come a great change in the mode of life here. Says the Daily Chronicle:

Customs, ideas, beliefs, and conventions have been altered by the new precautionary measures taken against air raids, and for Londoners this new experience has brought home many truths. So changed has the city become by night that, stumbling along through thoroughfares, guided only by the faint glow of subdued lamps, one can almost realize what the nights of the regency were like. Nothing is wanting but the Sedan chairs, the flambeaux held aloft, and the bell of the night watchman.

"The pleasure providers have been hit the hardest. Instead of going to the bar or the supper room, the city man who used to tell his time goes back to his suburb; the cafe habitue has given up his late meals out, and the West End managers in general now recognize that the really late diners at their tables have become merely figures in social history. Those little recherche parties with which one associated the explosive note of the champagne cork are dead, and many people in consequence are healthier, wealthier and wiser.

Midday Luncheons.
"Instead there is the new form of sociability—the midday luncheon. It is neither so expensive nor so convivial, and the Londoners have found it quite enjoyable. Then there is the increased use of the omnibus and the tube, the revived pleasures of home life, and the great realization of its diversity and interest, as against the weary monotony of unending 'calls' in the pleasure quarters of the metropolis.

"To go to the theatre in these days is to essay something in the nature of an adventure. And with so many revivals of the old favorite pieces, and the reversal of feminine dress to the full, wide skirt as exemplified in the fashionable revue, the social perspective seems to have lapsed some thirty years, and we find ourselves living over again the pleasures of the past.

"The churches, too, have been much concerned by the darkened streets. They have been anxious to adapt their hours of service to the welfare of the congregation, and in some instances earlier evenings have been arranged to suit their convenience. If anything, the war has increased the attendance at places of worship.

"Great changes have been experienced in the poorer quarters of the community. No longer do the street markets of Soho by night glow with light, and the tongues of Comopolis are silent. The new or-

MY TERRIBLE HACKING
AND SPITTING COUGH WAS ENTIRELY CURED BY
DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP.

Mrs. Clara Jackson, Huntsville, Ont., writes us under date of January 22nd, 1915: "I take great pleasure in writing you concerning Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Last winter I contracted a very bad cough which troubled me all through the summer. This winter I started to take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after taking three bottles I can truthfully say that I feel like another woman. The terrible hacking and spitting cough, and the dry sensation in my throat is entirely cured. I would certainly recommend it to anyone troubled with bronchitis or lung trouble. I have not worked too grateful to give you." All obstinate coughs and colds yield quickly to the action of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, combining as it does all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree, and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs, roots and barks. Dr. Wood's has been on the market for the past twenty-five years, and we claim that it is the best cure for a cough or cold that you can possibly procure. The thousands of testimonials we have received prove that our claim is right. All we ask you is to see that you get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it, and don't accept some no-account substitute. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price, 25c and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ders have changed this bright oasis of London life into a dim network of streets, across the pavements of which faint shafts of light penetrate through the side blinds of the shops. Even Jewry, which loves bright nights is dimmed, and most of its vivid coloring is hidden nightly in the picture palaces along the Whitechapel Road.

Drivers Inconvenienced.
"Lack of light" has caused many grumbles and inconveniences. The latest of the taxi driver is poorer, petrol is dearer, and the nervous tension of driving has increased. Traffic dangers are more numerous, and in some streets the curbs are being whitened.

A writer in the Daily Telegraph takes up another feature: "In order to lessen the risk of accident the police have insisted in some localities upon small hand-carried carrying some kind of illuminant. Complaint is beginning to be made that the strain upon drivers troubled with defective sight is being seriously felt, inasmuch that some have had to adopt glasses.

"The devices adopted by tradesmen to comply with the requirements are diverse, and in some cases novel. In one district a sudden blip was seen to have been given to the spirit of patriotism, for a number of publicans have combined to dim their lights with Union Jacks. Very many shopkeepers think it sufficient to keep their outside awnings spread. Whether that suffices is a question for the police to decide. Often it is completely effective. In other cases it still permits a considerable diffusion of light. Again, it is a common practice to draw the shop blinds half-way down—a plan which in most cases cuts off direct light to the windows in effective illumination.

"Mostly the practice is to dim the electric lights with shades of more or less primitive character, the readiest form being plain brown paper, and the neatest a dull-colored lamp shade, recalling the old night watchman's lantern, and capable, by means of perforations, of bearing an advertising inscription. A few tradesmen in the drapery business have combined cheapness with effectiveness by simply arranging their goods as screens. In humorous plagiarism a furniture in a nameless street had enshrouded his lights in a shade composed of clustering bananas."

A GENTLE LAXATIVE
FOR LITTLE ONES

Baby's Own Tablets are a gentle laxative. They are absolutely safe and are so pleasant in action that once the mother has used them for her little one she will never again resort to that harsh, ill-smelling, bad tasting castor oil, which baby always fought against taking. Baby will take the Tablets with a smile and thousands of mothers tell us their little ones will coo for them. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville (Ont.)
