

PRINCESS MARY AS SALESWOMAN

Annual Sale is Held at the Royal School of Needlework.

London, June 26. — (By mail) — Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles, wearing a black lace frock and hat and a black silk wrap, was present yesterday afternoon at the annual sale of the Royal School of Art Needlework, and sold goods for a considerable time at the silver table with the principal, Miss Bradshaw, and Dr. Pollock.

There was a large attendance, and as nearly everybody wanted to buy from Princess Mary, who seemed to enjoy her position as saleswoman, and was most businesslike, looking up prices and seeing that the items were entered to the right buyers, goods on the other stalls had to be requisitioned. Princess Mary herself bought several things, among them a Chinese jade mascot for her writing table, from Mrs. Max Mayer. Her own "clients" included Lady Yarborough, Lady Hobson, Lady Cooper, Lady Northcote, Lady Hambleton, Mrs. John Noble, Mrs. Nicholl, Lady Mond, and most of the stall-holders.

The Duchess of Wellington was selling beautiful examples of petit-point and cross-stitch chairbacks, chair seats and screens; Lady Eileen Stoppford and Miss Wells had embroidered blotters and little lace trays covered in glass; Lady Edward Churchill was also selling embroidered goods and had some lovely Queen Anne curtains decorating her stall; Lady Tree was selling knickknacks of many kinds, tiny embroidered boxes and quilt holders for hot tea-pot handles; Lady Deerpark was in charge of the lingerie stall, which had many new models designed at the school showing the beauty of fine embroidery on linen that was gossamer in texture; Lady Alexander was busy selling goods made from old and new embroideries; Mrs. Sterling and Mrs. Arthur Bassett were selling children's frocks. Others who were selling or buying included Lady Cecil, Lady Donington, Lady Cowley, Edith Lady Playfair, the Hon. Mrs. Henry Coventry, Lady Tritton and Miss Tritton, Lady Great Lady Herford, the Hon. Mrs. Sidney Marsham, Mrs. McGovern, Mrs. Sterling, Miss Croft, Mrs. Smithers, and Mrs. Charles King.

One of the pieces of old work which attracted a good deal of attention was a mustard-colored bedspread, said to have belonged to Queen Anne. Lady Patricia Ramsay and the Marchioness of Cambridge were present this afternoon at the second day's sale of the Royal School of Needlework. Exhibition-roads, S. W., and were personally responsible for much of the selling. There was again a large attendance, and among those buying or selling were Viscountess Deerpark, the Dowager Lady Rayleigh, the Hon. Mrs. Henry Coventry, the Countess of Hardwicke, the Countess of Yarborough, Lady Olga Montagu, the Hon. Lady Cecil, Lady Sinclair, Mrs. Raoul Fox, Lady Wells, Mrs. Arthur Bassett, and Miss Croft.

Silent Gangsters Baffle The Police

Fued Murders Often Are Unsolved Because Dying Victims Keep Own Counsel—Import Old World Fights.

(New York Times.) There had been a fight with gunplay in an east side neighborhood where such encounters are not uncommon. A fusillade had disturbed the early morning calm of the tenements. Above the sound of the shots could be heard the hoarse cries of the men and the thud of fleeing feet. Then all was quiet again. The tired tenement yawned and

HELP FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Mrs. Holmberg Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Viking, Alta.—"From the time I was 15 years old I would get such sick feelings in the lower part of my abdomen, followed by cramps and vomiting. This kept me from my work (I help my parents on the farm) and I was unable to go to school for the rest of the day. Or at times I would have to walk the floor. I suffered in this way until a friend induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very satisfactory results so far and am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends. I surely am glad I tried it for I feel like a different person now that I don't have these troubles."

DELLIA HOLMBERG, Box 58, Viking, Alta. Letters like this establish the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ill in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact. If you doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Oshawa, Ontario, for Mrs. Pinkham's private text-book and learn more about it.

closed their eyes. It was a bad dream, a nightmare, at any rate it wasn't worth bothering about or decent cause for running. He found a man dead in the gutter and another, conscious, nearby who was gasping out his life. "Who shot you?" he asked. "Tell me who it was."

The wounded man opened his eyes and whispered weakly, "That's all right. I note tell; I get him some-time, maybe."

He was taken to the hospital, where he soon died without revealing his secret. Presently two detectives arrived and began to question the few stragglers who were standing in the gutter. But these were strangely ignorant of what had happened. They shrugged their shoulders and shook their heads, protesting they knew nothing of the tragedy.

It is not always easy to get at the bottom of such fights," experienced detectives say. "The belligerents seldom go to the police with their troubles, preferring to settle scores in their own crude way. This type of gangster and feudist is strongly actuated by a spirit of revenge, and many of them, especially those from alien shores, insist on taking the law into their own hands. Most of their feuds are of long standing and resemble those of our Kentucky mountains, being handed down from father to son. If one could trace one of these feuds, one would discover some began years ago in remote corners of the Old World."

In the ordinary feudist murder the assassin lays in wait for his victim in concealment in a dark window or hallway. When the victim passes there is a sharp report and the aim is true that is the sorry end of the victim. But it is not always as simple as this. The victim not infrequently learns through some underground channel that his life is in danger and takes pains to protect himself. He keeps close to the house at night and avoids places where his enemies might surprise him. Some such men, if they can, employ bodyguards. The latter are, as a rule, desperate fellows, willing to risk their lives for a price. A certain man used to wear a vest of mail and never left his home without a bodyguard. At one time or another several of these protectors were shot down beside him, but he himself appeared to bear a charmed life. One night he visited a coffee house kept by his son, accompanied by his bodyguard. On arriving there he believed himself safe and dispatched his bodyguard on an errand. When his bodyguard had turned a corner several rough-dad men entered the place, extinguished the lights and shot him to death.

"Several years ago there was a stable of ill-repute in a certain section of the east side. It was common report that one gang sought revenge upon another either have been killed in these gang conflicts or have been sent to prison for their crimes. Law-abiding citizens in neighborhoods infested by these criminals decreed a long time ago that the gangs should not be a menace to their communities and the police descended upon these criminal nests whenever they were uncommon today as they were a few years ago, some detectives say. The spread of enlightenment and education into dark corners of the city has done much toward eliminating them. Most of the actors in the old criminal feuds in which one gang sought revenge upon another either have been killed in these gang conflicts or have been sent to prison for their crimes. Law-abiding citizens in neighborhoods infested by these criminals decreed a long time ago that the gangs should not be a menace to their communities and the police descended upon these criminal nests whenever they were understandings. This is indicated in the ticket sale and betting. Past-board dispensers at the Cromwell A.C. headquarters at 25 West Forty-third Street were kept busy all day supplying the demand. In the betting reported most of the wagering is on a knockout, with Leonard favored.

WHO FIRST FELT LIKE A FIGHTING COCK?

HER BABY SUFFERED WITH SUMMER COMPLAINT

COCK-FIGHTING was born with the cock. But it is only 80 years ago that the first man felt "like a fighting cock!"

Now he has brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces, all over the world—all feeling "like a fighting cock!"

It happens this way: A person half sick with bad stomach, dull and heavy headache, takes Beecham's Pills just before going to bed. Immediately the Pills begin to harmonize the digestive and eliminative organs.

Consequently, this person has a good night's sleep and arises in the morning with clear brain, bright eye, keen appetite, and full of energy for work and play.

It is now just 80 years since Beecham's Pills first began correcting disordered stomachs and stirring sluggish livers and bowels to natural activity—and feeling "like a fighting cock" is associated as inseparably with Beecham's Pills as the pills are with good health.

Sues Wife's Mother As Home-Wrecker

V. C. Randolph of Colorado Springs Asks for $100,000 Damages—Husband Formerly Practiced Law in Detroit.

Colorado Springs, July 19.—Sensational charges are made in a suit for $100,000 damages for alienation of his wife's affections brought by Vernon C. Randolph of Colorado Springs against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Reed of Louisville, Ky. The case will be heard by Judge Corfforth in the El Paso District Court here.

The complaint charges Mrs. Reed with unlawful and malicious interference with the marital affections of Mr. Randolph and his wife, Josephine Reed Randolph.

Mrs. Reed is charged with the possession of a strong will and a dominating disposition. Ever since the marriage of her daughter she is said to have exerted her power over Mrs. Randolph in everything pertaining to her marital duties and relations. She is alleged to have "misrepresented, condemned and depreciated" her son-in-law to his wife while the couple lived in Louisville and to have brought about a final separation on July 8.

The Randolphs were married in Louisville Feb. 9, 1922. They met first in Michigan ten years ago. Mr. Randolph is a graduate of Yale and of the Law School of the University of Michigan. Before coming here for his health some time since he practiced law in Detroit. July 5 he was ordered to a local tubercular sanitarium, to which his wife did not accompany him.

Mrs. Reed is a member of a prominent Louisville family and is well to do. Charles R. Long Jr., of Louisville, says that there will be sensational developments at the trial.

Mr. Randolph is 40 and his wife about 25. Mrs. Reed and her daughter come here from Louisville June 28. Mr. Randolph joined them at their hotel until he was ordered to the sanitarium.

Leonard May Box Walker For Title

Gibbons Plans to Open Negotiations for Match After the Battle With Tender.

New York, July 19.—Confident of retaining his title against Law Tender, Philadelphia's southpaw challenger, when they clash next Monday night at the Yankee Stadium, Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, has instructed his manager, Billy Gibson, to undertake negotiations for a world's welterweight championship bout against Mickey Walker, Elizabeth successor to Jack Britton. Gibson, returning from a trip to Leonard's training camp at Tannersville, N. Y., made the statement:

"Benny is eager to tackle Walker and is confident he can gain the welterweight title," said Gibson. "He is in great shape for the Tender scrap. The workouts up in Tannersville have done him a world of good. Right now Benny is in better shape than he enjoyed the last time he boxed Tender. He has been training for nearly a month and will be ready for the fight of his life Monday night. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if he stopped Tender inside of twelve rounds. He will make the 135-pound limit without hurting himself. After the Tender battle I intend to seek a match for Benny against Walker. I have plenty of offers for Benny's services, but I will delay action on these offers until I find out Walker's attitude toward a match with my champion."

Leonard plans to continue hard training at Tannersville for the next five days, which is part of his campaign to reduce to the lightweight limit. Next Sunday morning the champion plans to return to this city. On the day of the bout Leonard's only exercise will be a jog through Central Park, according to present plans.

From the training camp of Tender at Delanco, N. J., comes the information that the challenger is rapidly whipping himself into fighting shape. The Quaker City lightweight, according to the reports received here, is hitting harder and more accurately than ever, and is faster on his feet and with his hands. Tender's daily program is equivalent to fifteen rounds under a plan he has followed since he entered upon strenuous work. Tender intends to continue hard training until Thursday, when the challenger expects to start the tapering off process.

The bout continues to attract unusual attention. This is indicated in the ticket sale and betting. Past-board dispensers at the Cromwell A.C. headquarters at 25 West Forty-third Street were kept busy all day supplying the demand. In the betting reported most of the wagering is on a knockout, with Leonard favored.

MARSHAL POUCH'S NEAT REPLY

(From the Yorkshire Post.)

While on his recent visit to the United States Marshal Pouch made a witty reply to a man who when one of the guests at a dinner party in Dewar given by a party of Americans, told him, with a certain amount of indignation, that he was a French polisher.

"There is nothing in it but whisky," he said, with questionable taste.

"Neither is there anything but wind in a pneumatic tire," retorted the glib Marshal, "yet it eases the joints along life's highway wonderfully."

unbounding good health. Read Mr. Costley's own story:

"I have been troubled with rheumatism of the joints and muscles for the last ten years and as I am employed on the C. P. R. as a fireman on the trains, it suffered terribly at times. I tried all kinds of medicines but got no satisfaction or relief from them. Finally I tried Dreco. Now my pains are gone and I feel fine and frisky as a colt. I strongly recommend Dreco to anyone suffering from rheumatism. I know what it did for me."

Dreco is being specially introduced in St. John by Ross Drug Co., 100 King Street. It is also sold by Moore's Drug Store, 105 Prince Edward Street, and F. W. Munro, 357 Main Street, in West St. John by Watson R. Dunlop. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson, and by a good drug druggist everywhere.
