In the school room of St. David's Presbyterion church last evening the mid-year Sunday school social was held. An enjoyable supper was served and it was followed by a very entertaining programme. During the evening a piece of gold was presented by the pupils of the Sunday school rochestra.

The last day of the patrons of the suburban trains.

If passenger trains are not available for the suburbanites perhaps Mr. Gutelius could loan them a few hand cars.

An I. C. R. official recently tried the experiment of traveling on the combination passenger and freight train from Hampton. Perhaps the manager of the road might be induced to try getting out of bed at four o'clock on a winter morning to catch the six o'clock train in order to hold his job.

Skin Kept Healty With D. D. D. Soap

We want all skin sufferers who have suffered for many years the torture of disease and who have sought medical aid in vain to read this.

We, as old established druggists of this community, wish to recommend to you a product that has given many realief and may mean the end of your agony. The product is a mild, simple wash—not a pattent medicine concocted of various worthless drugs, but a scientific compound made of well known and it. You are to judge the merits of the remedy in your own particular case, the total compound made of well known and it. You are to judge the merits of the remedy in your own particular case, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

This is a doctor's special prescription—one that has effected many wonderful cures.

A prisoner sentenced to two months in jail calny walked out of the court room yesterday without stopping to say good bye and nobody stopped him. Earlier in the week a prisoner arrested for drunkenness was forcibly expelled from the cells the following morning with a crowd of protectionists. Seems almost as easy to get out of jail as to get into it.

A suburbanite, deep in a brown study, was brought back to earth this morning with the query: What's-matter?

"Oh!" he replied, "I was just trying to figure out if the L. C. R. management were trying to boom St. John real estate by forcing the suburban residents back to town, or if they were acting as press agents for the proposed street railway extension.

THE MAN IN THE STREET

Little Stories and Pointers on Happenings In the City

A new and rather unique style of mouse-trap was accidentally found by the young ladies in a certain household in the city a few nights ago. They, expecting company, decided to have some old-fashioned molasses candy as a part of a little treat. With pleasant ideas of the anticipated relish the taffy was made and set out to harden in a room at the rear of the house. Later in the evening one of the young ladies went to bring it inside, but instead startled her friends by a scream of horror for in the pan in which the sticky and newly boiled candy had been placed were six mice evidently the mother and five little ones. It might be cruel to say that five of them had died from the effects of eating the candy, but the more galant explanation might be in the form of a compliment that it was so nice they died of over-cating. Or it might have been that they collapsed from heart failure at finding themselves anchored fast in the molasses bed. This may be a new kind of trap for the mice-nuisance but it can hardlly be said that it will become popular. The sixth mouse died few minutes later.

The names of Mut and Jeff are sometimes given by way of joke to two persons working together, the one tall and scraggy and the other short and plump-preferably with a moustache. It is said that two city employes were so called by their intimate friends. The less tall had the necessary qualification on his upper lip. He was clipping his mustache, it is said, and cut it too close on one side. The other side had to be cut to match, so the manly growth was almost reduced to zero. The day after this unfortunate accident, the famous and original Jeff of Bud Fisher, falling asleep in the barber having decided to give good value for his fifteen cents.

Bud Fisher lives in New York, but the coincidence was so striking that the local amessake of that artist's creation took the Times moustacheless Jeff as a personal insult and is said to have inquired at city hall concerning a reporter employed by the paper, and threatening violence.

OSTON WOMAN IN WILL

Boston, Feb. 27—The will of Miss Rebecca Warren Brown, of 116 Beacon street, a lineal descendant of Gen. Joseph Warren, gives $10,000 to Harvard University to be added to a fund created by her brother, Dr. Buckminster Brown, for the foundation of a professorship in orthopedic surgery, and the residue of her estate is left in equal shares to the Industrial School for Crippled and Deformed Children and the Perkins Institution for the Blind.

Miss Brown made many private bequests, and to an old servant, Minnie J. McCarthy, she left $15,000. Maggie Buckley and Margaret Dowd, who were also in her service, are each to receive $2,000.

TOO MUCH FOR ONE MAN?

TOO MUCH FOR ONE MAN?

London, Feb. 27—The novel suggestion is made by the Daily Mail that Great Britain should have two sceretaries for foreign affairs, one to manage relations with the upper and Asia in accordance with the principles governing diplomacy rooted in the idea of force, the other to conduct negotiations with the United States, from which the element of force, whether actual or implied, has been expelled.

The Mail argues that Sir Edward The United States, from which the crement of force, whether actual or implied, has been expelled.

The Mail argues that Sir Edward Grey's handling of the Benton affair in the old and formal diplomatic way has resulted in the voluntary casting aside of many of the benefits which should ac crue from the happy and peculiar state of Anglo-American relations.

"For there are sentiments, arguments and ideals," adds the paper, "that we can properly appeal to with regard to America which would be inappropriate and ineffectual in our dealings with eastern powers, and it is so rare as to almost be impossible to find a man possessing flexibility of mind and temperament enabling him to handle an European question in one spirit today and an American question in a totally dissimilar spirit tomorrow. That is why British diplomacy in its dealings with America has so often steemed stilted, inelastic, mechanical, and wanting in a real insight into the character of the American people.

"President Wilson's Mexican policy is

Mothers, ask yourself the question: Is your baby a good baby? If not he is not well, for it is the nature of all babies to be good—only the sickly baby is cross and hard to mind. If baby is cross and cries continually give him Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be happy again. The Tablets act as a gentle laxative, regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and cure all the minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. J. P. Richard, St. Norbert, N. S., writes: "I have found Baby's Own Tablets all that is claimed for them. My baby suffered from his stomach and bowels and the Tablets cured him." They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
