WORTHLESS BOAT ADRIFT. A partly submerged motor boat hull came through the Reversing Falls, yesterday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock and floated down the harbor and out into the bay. It is stated that the engine had been removed, and as the boat was worthless it was set adrift in the vicinity of Indiantown. The pilot motor launch visited the hulk as it drifted down the harbor, and reported that they could find nothing to attach a line to and the boat was not worth saving.
