MAY BE FREED IN QUEBEC LIQUOR CASES

Montreal, Sept. 21.—By a ruling given today in the court of special sessions Judge Basin, forty persons sentenced for breaches of the Quebec liquor law may be released if they have corpus proceedings are taken by their legal advisers. They and others were arrested by the Quebec liquor commission on reports made by their inspectors without any complaints having first been sworn before a justice of the peace or a police magistrate.

GREAT FORTUNES. (Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

More than forty families in the United States are in excess of one hundred million dollars each. More than one hundred families have in excess of twenty million dollars each. The income tax is levied only on taxable wealth. Government bonds and Liberty bonds of the first issue are exempt from taxation. The bulk of these non-taxable securities is held by those of excessive fortune. About four hundred million dollars of Mr. Rockefeller's taxable wealth is held in Foundations and other institutions that pay no taxes. Estimated income tax returns show that John D. Rockefeller's taxable income is about $40,000,000 a year; William Rockefeller and the late Henry C. Frick, $10,000,000 each; Morgan, Baker, Harkness, Armour, Ford, Payne, Vanderbilt, Field, Green, Harriman, Guggenheim, Astor, Hill, Mellon and Phillips, $5,000,000 each; Stillman family, Ryan, Schwab, du Pont, Clark, Brady and Whitney, $3,000,000 each; Schiff, Duke, Eastman, Kahn, Swift, Rosenwald, Blair, Huntington, Flagler, Widener, Stotesbury and Pratt, $2,500,000 each.

LOSE $25,000,000 A YEAR IN N. S. BY ILL HEALTH

Estimate of Health Officer—Red Cross Gains 11,000 Senior Members.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 22.—Twenty-five million dollars a year is the economic loss in Nova Scotia caused by ill health, according to the computations of Dr. W. H. Hattie, provincial health officer, given to a conference of county representatives of the Red Cross Society of the province here yesterday. Reports showed that Red Cross work is progressing favorably and the public health programme is being pushed forward.

Rev. Father McDonald, Richmond, and Dr. McKee, Victoria, referred to the health conditions on the Indian reserves of Cape Breton as being deplorable. These reserves are under federal jurisdiction. With five counties to hear from, 11,000 senior members of the Nova Scotia branch of the Red Cross have been reported, following this year's membership campaign.

WANT PARLIAMENT CALLED TO DISCUSS MATTER OF WORK

London, Sept. 22.—Lloyd George will call the Laborite majority of the London boroughs at Gairloch, Scotland, on Friday. A joint committee representing all sections of the trades union congress and labor party is urging the prime minister to receive a deputation on the subject of unemployment and immediately to convene parliament to discuss this subject.

ARE EFFECTIVELY TEACHING PATRIOTISM

A rather striking illustration of what a civilizing as well as an educating force the Sunday schools of Canada are, is to be given on Sunday, September 25, this year, when more than eighty per cent of the Sunday schools in Canada, including the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian denominations, will unite in celebrating Rally Day. It appears probable that at least 1,000,000 members and adherents of Canadian Sunday schools will attend a special service to be held that day. A feature of this as provided for in a specially printed programme which has already been circulated in enormous quantities throughout all the Canadian schools of these denominations, will be teaching a real patriotism and the place of the Sunday schools in making our Dominion a better country. Arrangements for this big day have been made, by the way, by a joint committee made up of the principal leaders of the various denominations and this in itself is rather an interesting illustration of effective method of church union which are in operation these days.

DARWIN'S SON TO SPEAK ON EUGENIC REFORM.

Major Leonard Darwin Will Open Eugenics Congress and Later Give Views on Some American Racial Problems.

"I hold that our aim as eugenicists should be to increase the rate of multiplication of stocks above the average of hereditary qualities and to decrease it among the less fit." This is the credo of the most noted and interested of the scientists which the Second International Eugenics Congress, to open on September 22, will bring to New York—Major Leonard Darwin, son of Charles and himself a scholar distinguished for achievements in several fields. He will deliver the leading address on "The Field for Eugenic Reform" in the fourth section of the congress, devoted to a discussion of eugenics in relation to the State, to society, and to education.

Major Darwin's career has been one of brilliant diversity. He was educated at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and served for five years in different departments of the British Army. He has been a member of several scientific expeditions and has served in Parliament. He is president of the Royal Geographical Society. Since 1913 Major Darwin has held the post of chairman of the Bedford College for Women, University of London. Naturally there is keen interest in his coming.

Besides his paper for the fourth section, Major Darwin will give the opening address of the congress, and in this he will speak of his belief that while heredity should still be the "main eugenic signpost" this signpost now requires three "arrows," which he describes in this succinct programme.

Three Tasks of Eugenics.

First, the public should be made to realize what a potent influence heredity has on the fate of all nations. Second, efforts must be made to ascertain and make known the rules by which each individual ought to strive to regulate his own conduct in regard to laws of heredity—in so far as we know them today. And third, the action which the state should take in order to stimulate and enforce conduct conducive of racial progress should be considered. Major Darwin holds, however, that the greatest circumference ought always to be employed where questions of compulsion are involved. "We all aim at human improvement," says Major Darwin, "but some would attack on a wider front than others. For eugenics, in opinion, range from those optimists, who believe that racial progress is an assured law of nature and requires but a little facilitating from us in order that 'everything may come right in the end,' as Dulcy would say, to those depressed observers who are convinced that they see a slow deterioration in the innate qualities of all civilized peoples."

Certainly, think Major Darwin and other speakers, the danger of eugenics in the past may be traced to a deliberate ignoring of eugenic laws, and it is the duty of the eugenic idealist to use that such shall not be the fate of his country. But the highest resolves do no good without knowledge in back of them. In the United States, for example, we

IRON TRADE TURNS THE CORNER.

The production of pig iron was generally regarded in normal times as one of the best indications of what the state business would be in coming months, but in its present condition the iron trade appears to reflect what has occurred in the past rather than to serve as a barometer for the immediate future. The following figures, giving the output of pig iron in thousands of tons in significant months during the past year, will convey a vivid idea of the degree of stagnation from which one of the basic industries has recently suffered. The average monthly production in 1913 is included for purposes of comparison:

	United States	United Kingdom	Canada
Monthly average, 1913	2,560	535	94
September, 1920	3,420	741	94
December, 1920	2,701	678	94
March, 1921	1,596	386	60
July, 1921	865	351	54
August, 1921	851	351	54

It is of no little significance that in August the output of pig iron in this country was 10 per cent more than in July. This is the first increase to be noted after a steady decline of nine months, and it is consistent with the other symptoms of business improvement throughout the country.

have some 400,000 feeble-minded persons whom we are caring for as best we may. Neither public nor scientific opinion being clear upon the question. For these unfortunate people Major Darwin believes that segregation is the wisest and kindest course; but he favors sterilization as a voluntary and experimental measure which would often enable them to live in comparative freedom, where now they have to be confined in institutions. "Nations decay from unseen causes while in apparent prosperity," warns the speaker. "One such pregnant cause is the unrestricted reproduction of the weak and diseased, in mind, body, or morals."

A Problem of Ours.

Improvement of environment, unfortunately, does not seem to have helped us very much. Major Darwin points out how much comfort, convenience, and sanitation have spread since the days of Plato, and then asks us to judge whether man has kept pace with his surroundings. It is from such reflections that he has drawn the conclusion that heredity must still be the guiding star of eugenic societies. He would restrict the field of eugenics to measures affecting the inborn qualities of future generations.

On the whole, Major Darwin takes a more cheerful outlook upon the future than Dr. de Lapouge. "Our biologists face these problems more earnestly than in the past," he says, "if politicians will pay more attention to the advice of scientific experts, and if the general public will be guided by common sense in regard to heredity—then I hold that we shall have more right to look with confidence to the future than has been the case since the dawn of civilization."

STILL THE HIGH COST.

(Financial Post.) Undoubtedly the factor most largely responsible for the present trade depression is the high cost of production.

BETTER TIMES COMING.

Recovery, But Not a Miraculous One, Ahead, is Consensus.

Better times are ahead for industry and business in the United States, but no one should expect a miraculous recovery this winter from existing depression. This fairly expresses the outlook for the coming winter held by government officials, economists, bankers and business men.

Facts upon which predictions of better conditions were based are, briefly:

1.—The recent development in cotton, which has released large sums of money for use not only in the south but elsewhere.

2.—Increased railroad tonnage last week, idle freight cars decreased by more than 23,000.

3.—The government's readiness and ability to help business. Aid rendered the cotton and livestock industries greatly accelerated their recovery, and has helped the whole agricultural business.

4.—Depletion of stocks at almost all lines of merchandise to a point where buying in greater or less degree will soon be inevitable.
