SUSSEX CHURCH MATTERS.

To the Editor of the Sun: Sir-In the Daily Sun of the 15th inst. you publish a letter over the signature of Henry W. Little, containing a violent attack on myself, and the present congregation of Trinity church, which he there describes as a "lawless faction," and after a wordy preamble begins by finding fault with a paragraph which appeared in the Sun on Saturday last. I do not know who the Sussex man was who gave your reporter the information which appears to have excited Mr. Little's rancor, but the paragraph in question was sub-stantially correct. The notice, which is described as a "very impertment letter," reads as follows:

Sir-Take notice that we, the church wardens of Trinity church, Sussex, in possession of the glebe farm by the Rev. H. W. Little, warn you that we shall hold you responsible for any damage to the same if the appeal of the said H. W. Little, now pending before the supreme court of the pro-vince be dismissed. The effect of such dismissal of the appeal would be that Mr. Little would have ceased to be rector since the decision of the ecclesiastical court in January last, and he would have had no power to lease the globe farm or authorize any one to crop it. And we would at once require you to give up occupation, or be treated as a tres-(Signed).

C. H. FAIRWEATHER,

E. B. BEER, Church Wardens. Church Wardens.

Mr. Little in his letter makes use of the term "objectionable person," which I suppose may be correct, in the sense that an offender against the law considers the sheriff or other officer who may have been forced to have dealings with him an objectionable person. As church warden of Trinity church I have had the unpleasant duty of serve official papers, such as the sentence of the court of triers, the bishop's mandate suspending him from performing the duties of a clergyman troduced into the letter, and which have nothing to do with the case, it is only necessary to say that they are treated in the same free and easy manner in regard to facts that is said to be such a distinguishing feature of the rev. gentleman's historical lectures.

on the southwest end of George's Island and remains fast.

Bark Axel, Capt. Nilsen, arrived on Saturday form Boston. She has on board 77,576 feet of lumber, and will finish her cargo here for Buenos Ayres. The Axel is a very pretty little composite bark.

Sch. Ernest De Costa, Capt. Gagnon, from Barbados, anchored in Fort de France, Martinique, April 9, for orders, and later sailed for Unsine La Reiny. Shortly after leaving Fort de France she went aground on a bank of rocks and was badly injured. She remained aground for 12 hours, and had to discharge part of cargo before floating. When she got off it was found she was leaking considerably.

endure unreasonable delay at the coal shipping ports of Cape Breton. At North Sydney and other places in a number of cases vessels were compelled to wait five or six weeks before securing their cargoes. This detention, as can be readily understood, meant a great deal to ship owners, and if the same system was continued this season very few vessels would go to Cape Breton ports for coal. This season both the Dominion Coal Co. and General Mining Association are advertisng to give salling vessels quick despatch.

The first foreign sailing vessel to arrive at North Sydney this season was the Norwegian bark Roska, Capt. Thormondsen, which arrived here on Thursday last, 42 days from Langesund, Norway. The Roska was also the first arrival at North Sydney last season. She has been chartered to load coal at the G. M. A. pler for Quebec.—Sydney Herald.

for example, that mysterious articled described as "The Loyal Majority Trinity," of which we have been hearing for the past three years, and which persistently refuses to materialize where called upon, but always reports for duty in a sermon or newspaper a sticle. Or in speaking of "empty benches," does the writer of that sentence remember a certain memorial service, duly advertised, when the congregation in the body of the church consisted of one person.

And in conclusion it might be stated without exaggeration that should Mr Little care to review the past history of this parish, a goodly array of the goodle and the total and the total this parish, a goodly array of the good and the total this parish, a goodly array of the good and the total this parish, a goodly array of the goodle and the total this parish, a goodly array of the good and the total this parish, a goodly array of the good and the total this parish, a goodly array of the good and the total this parish, a goodly array of the good and the total this parish, a goodly array of the good and the total this parish, a goodly array of the good and the total this parish, a good the good and the total this parish, a good the good and the total this parish the good and the g
