ALDERMEN SQUABBLE OVER VICE-REGAL PROGRAMME

A Lengthy and Heated Dis- JAPS HAVE HARD FIGHT Finally Ended in Nothing

The Common Council met this morning to conclude arrangements for the ecception of His Excellency the Governor General. Captain Newton, A. D. C. to His Excellency, was present.

His Lordship prepared an address of welcome to His Excellency which was presented to the council for its approval. The address is printed elsewhere. Those present were:—Captain Newton, His Worship the Mayor, Ald. Pickett, Lantalum, McGoldrick, Frink, Hamm, Lewis, Willett, Spragg, Sproul, McGowan, Kelley, Bullock, Baxter, common clerk Wardroper.

His Worship and the council will meet His Excellency at the D. A. R. wharf. The address will be presented The party left Digby at 11.45 a. m.

Ald. Baxter thought the address might be presented to His Excellency in the Mayor's office in the presence of the aldermen. His Worship said it was too late to change the programme, and added that a large number of citizens had asked to be presented to His Excellency, and all the citizens with whom he had con-

Ald. Baxter thought the address might be presented to His Excellency in the Mayor's office in the presence of the aldermen. His Worship said it was too late to change the programme, and added that a large number of citizens had asked to be presented to His Excellency, and all the citizens with whom he had conferred were in favor of the Opera House as a place of reception to His Excellency.

Ald. Bullock thought either the court house or city hall was the place for presenting the address to his excellency. He thought the committee should have been consulted first and foremost before the people on the street were consulted. Ald. Lewis thought the mayor had carried out his instructions in the best way and arrangements should not be changed.

Ald Bullock said his worship consulted people on the street and then consulted his committee after the arrangements were made.

Ald. Bullock moved that his worship accompany his excellency to the Opera.

must be carried out.

Ald, Frink said four barouches had already been provided and thought if the common council proceeded to the landing place it would overturn the arrangements as presented to the lieutenant-governor's aide de camp. He would prefer the address be presented in the council chamber but all personal matters should be dropped. personal matters should be dropped. Ald. Ald. Baxter said every minute sawd at the landing would help to keep to the time table of arrangements.

His Worship thought the Mayor and Common Council should greet His Excellency at the wharf.

Ald. Lewis was sorry this little hitch had occurred. He said our feeling was to follow the Mayor, and His Excellency as well should be treated with the greatest respect, as he had democratic blood in his veins.

"No people on the earth are more." "No people on the earth are more fond of the British flag than the people of St. John. Petty feelings should not arise in matters of this kind." Ald. Pickett thought His Worshinght ask how many aldermen would go to the landing to meet His Excel-
