

The Conqueror of Catarrh.

If you have Catarrh, let me conquer it for you. If it isn't overpowered now, it's bound to get the best of you in the end. You think not? Lots of people have made that mistake. They say, "Oh, it doesn't amount to much—it's only Catarrh. I'll wait until it gets worse, then I'll get it cured." That's the way the matter grows, and how it creeps along through the system. At last there comes a day when "only Catarrh" has grown to be "Catarrhism."

But leaving out the danger, there's another reason for getting rid of it. Catarrh is an unclean disease. To put it plainly, your hawking and spitting and bad breath make you a nuisance to your friends. It's not pleasant for them to have you around. That's some harm—but it's the truth. Or, of course they don't tell you so. They don't want to make you feel badly. Just the same, no one, not even a relative, enjoys being near a person with a foul, fetid breath. There's not the slightest doubt it hurts you terribly with outside people—with the people you meet in the business world.

Did you think it no use to try to cure Catarrh? Some physician whose knowledge on the subject is as limited as it is unreliable, may have told you so. Perhaps you tried to cure it yourself with some of the many nostrums no widely advertised for the purpose. Then you failed, for such things simply cannot cure Catarrh. You see it is a disease that affects different persons in different days. It demands individual treatment. You simply haven't done the right thing for it. But don't be discouraged. Seek help in the proper place. Write to me at once and I will give you

In the early, mildest stages
Of the trouble called Catarrh,
Who that it thins of, and of peril,
Sees the danger from afar?

Then it seems a simple matter,
Nothing that requires a cure.
So it grows with stealthy power,
Makes its progress slow but sure.

Soon it poisons all the system,
Wrecks the hearing, taste and smell;
But there is a grave danger
Coming, as the days will tell.

Tis Consumption, griping and awful,
Which the sufferer soon begins to dread,
And Catarrh's unheeding victim
Finds himself contracting dead.

HAMPTON, Kings Co., Jan. 20.—This morning at 10 o'clock Judge Wedder-court, under the Speedy Trials Act, to sentence John Oram, who, on January 6th, pleaded guilty to wilfully breaking the windows of E. E. Frost's drug store, and damaging the contents of the store. His honor gave the prisoner a severe lecture and sound advice as to his future life, and sent him back to jail for ten days with hard labor.

In the course of his remarks he said he had often thought, and now took occasion to express it openly, that it seemed as though the Scott Act inspector did not know there was a place as the village of Hampton.

The criminal court having been formally adjourned sine die, the January term of the county court of general sessions was held at the usual time.

The board of management of the Quastrial Home and met in the City Tuesday and almost unanimously decided to act in the case of Mayor White, the chairman of the board, in his refusal to sign the warrant naming Hon. C. Skinner as the grand juror. With only two dissenting views they agreed with the mayor that Goodspeed was not a fit person to be grand juror in the case and that his admission as far as they could see, Hon. C. N.
