

EVERY MAN IS IN NEED OF A REFUGE

Dr. Torres Tells Plainly Why Men Should Turn to Jesus—Getting Away from Personal Devil.

Dr. Torres preached last night on Every Man's Need of a Refuge. Every one, he pointed out, needs a hiding place from the accusations of their own conscience.

"Every one of us needs a hiding place from the power of sin within ourselves. Now every man and woman here tonight will know themselves as all well know that there are powers of evil resident within themselves which are more than they can master in their own strength.

"The fourth place, we need a hiding place from the wrath to come. There are a great many people who do not believe in the wrath to come.

"Jesus Christ is a refuge, a hiding place from conscience and its accusations, from the power of sin within, from the power of Satan, from the wrath to come, from all that man needs a hiding place from.

COUNTY W. C. T. U. IN ANNUAL SESSION

Old Board of Officers Re-elected at Yesterday's Meeting—Mrs. Bullock Reads Report of State Convention

The annual meeting of the St. John County W. C. T. U. was held yesterday afternoon in the rooms, Mrs. Mary McAvity presiding and there was a fair attendance of members.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of the retiring board as follows: President, Mrs. Mary McAvity; vice-president, Mrs. J. H. Gray; secretary, Miss Jane Lockhart; "y" secretary, Miss Jean Clarke.

Successful Fair. There was a large attendance at the Carleton Cornet band fair last evening, and the entertainment provided was heartily enjoyed.

Game Law Violators. Recently at Newcastle Bridge, Queens county, before Magistrate Lockhart, Game Warden Dean prosecuted Charles Morrell, Louis Morrell and Louis Morrell, Jr., all Belgians, for violation of the game laws.

St. Mary's Supper. St. Mary's annual harvest supper will be held in the school room of the church on Thursday evening.

BOARD OF WORKS DISCUSS WIDENING OF MILL STREET

Committee Appointed to Confer With C.P.R. Regarding Use of Property—No Action Taken Regarding Offensive Material in Germain Street—Refuse Application for Lease of Slip.

The members of the Board of Works at their meeting last evening expended much eloquence in discussing complaints of the material taken from the catch basins to adorn the city's new boulevard, but decided to let the matter lie over till spring.

A committee was appointed to interview the C.P.R. with the object of having Mill street widened, and a considerable lot of routine business was transacted.

Besides Ald. McGoldrick, the chairman, there were present: Ald. Holder, White, Smith, Hayes, Sprout, Vanwart, Christie and Potts, with the common clerk, the engineer, the recorder, Harbor Master Aldward, Ferry Supt. Waring and street inspector Winchester.

The engineer reported that when he had ordered bulbar for planting he did not know that Mr. Pederson had them for sale. He said that at the order had been sent to Toronto Mr. Pederson had offered bulbs gratuitously. He was instructed to patronize local florists in future.

The engineer submitted a statement of the amounts spent for street purposes, showing that there was a balance on hand of $5,484.45.

No Right to Damages. In reference to the claim of A. C. F. Sorell for damages on account of quarrying operations in Kennedy St., the engineer reported that the house was built on a rock foundation and that the work done by the city could not have damaged the walls. He recommended that the complaint be ignored. The report was adopted.

Michael Clancy, city watchman, applied for an increase of pay from $1.50 per day. Ald. Smith moved that the increase be made.

Ald. Willet said such requests should come in at the first of the year. After some discussion it was decided to leave the matter with the engineer with power to act.

T. M. Bishop, M. D., and James Manning wrote, objecting to the placing of material from catch basins on the Germain street boulevard. The engineer reported that the material was too strong.

Ald. Elkin moved that the material be placed in front of his residence. The engineer reported that he had heard many complaints about the material.

Spoiled by Paper Talk. Ald. White said he was sorry to see the boulevard spoiled by paper talk. He was not a farmer, but he thought the city ought to have put down a better soil.

Ald. Jones said he had tried the catch basin material in his garden and found it all right. The chairman said he was a model farmer. He had allowed his garden to be used as a dump last spring, and during the summer his garden knocked the spots off the lot of them.

More Poles in Streets. The Street Railway asked permission to place poles on Alexander and on Princess streets, and the engineer was instructed to make the locations.

Chas. Colwell asked for a lease for fourteen years of the slip at the North end of Cross street, West Side. The engineer recommended that the lease be not granted.

Ald. Colwell said Mr. Colwell wanted the slip for the purpose of his fish business. He thought it would be an advantage to a growing industry on the West Side to grant the lease, but was not prepared to make a motion in the matter.

Ald. Smith—Mr. Colwell has the use of the slip now for nothing. It is public property. The engineer's recommendation was approved.

The engineer reported that one horse in the city stables was eighteen years old, and in poor condition. He recommended that it be sold or destroyed. A long discussion followed on the subject of killing the horse.

Supt. Winchester said he always understood that the horse was twenty years old. He was as slow as molasses. Finally it was decided to send the horse to the bone yard.

"Night Owl" on Wharf. W. H. Coleman asked leave to place a lunch wagon on the vacant space at the head of Rodney wharf. He offered $50 rent for four months.

The engineer reported that the items were: Street maintenance, $1,139.20; Scavenger work, 174.00; Public sidewalks, 330.00; Parks grounds labor, 343.20; Sidewalks Union street No. 4, 600.00; Bridge over raceway, 800.00.

Total, $2,386.20. Ald. Likely moved that an asphalt crossing be constructed at the corner of Coburg and Carleton streets.

The chairman said there was no money for the purpose. Ald. Likely withdrew the motion. Ald. Smith said the chain gang had been working over at Carleton making a playground on King's square extension. He had engaged a man to set off the dynamite, and asked that the board pay the bill.

The chairman reported that the engineer would attend to the matter. Widening Mill Street. Ald. Likely moved that a committee be appointed to take up the matter of widening Mill street from Smythe St. to the Long wharf.

He said the matter was the most important part of the I. C. R. yards, but he had never got a cent for the account. The traffic on the street was now greater than in any other part of the city. An opportunity now presented itself of relieving the congestion, and the city should take up the matter of the C. P. R. He thought that if they went to the railway commission they could compel the railways to put their tracks on a bridge over the street.

Recorder Baxter said the railway commission usually required cities making application for overhead crossings to bear a portion of the cost. He thought the C. P. R. ought to give a portion of its property to widen the street.

Ald. Willet's motion was then adopted and the chairman Ald. Willet, Holder, White, the engineer and the recorder were appointed a committee to take up the matter with the C. P. R.

An order was passed authorizing the engineer to purchase fodder for the stables under his department. The engineer reported that he had visited the city work on the surface in repair, and the city left with the engineer with power to act.

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—The first week of the session has passed and the debate on the address has not been finished. First and foremost this must be said: The Liberals are desperately frightened and angry.

Particularly in this case with the French Canadian ministerialists. When one sets down on paper the statistical aspects of the Drummond and Arthabaska by-election, the result is impressive: A majority of 2,476 turned into a minority of 207. But when the French Liberals troop here and there acting in opinion in their own constituencies and comparing notes with each other, the excitement, disturbance and anger, it is easy to understand. They at least take a serious view of the situation.

What does that mean? It means that the Liberal justice department is lost to Laurier. So far as his own province is concerned, Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a tenant under notice to quit. The incoming tenant is waiting for the next general election.

Next in point of time if not of importance there is this to be chronicled: The Liberal sides, or all sides, seems to be much disturbed at the anger shown by English speaking Canada at the style of campaign waged by the Drummond and Arthabaska. It is altogether probable that some impressions of that contest entertained in English speaking Canada are hardly accurate.

The ministerialists are served in Quebec by an active and unscrupulous press; the Nationalists and Conservatives have a feeble press. It is possible that racial appeals were made by the Liberals in Quebec. Be this as it may, English speaking Canada came to the conclusion that the Nationalist party of the campaign was desperately anti-imperial and anti-British, and English speaking Canada was unmistakably and seriously angry.

Quebec Takes Notice. This anger has been marked by Quebec, and all sides, by the angry reply to the Empire and shouting to English Canada, "Please, it wasn't me, it was the other fellow."

Mr. Monk's reason for the most part the maverick policy were the mildest thing imaginable; one could hardly imagine them responsible for the tumult and the shouting of that struggle in the "Bolshevik" as the Drummond and Arthabaska region is locally known. Mr. Blondin, Dr. Paquet, Mr. Nantel, all vowed eternal loyalty. Led by Mr. Blondin, the Liberal party in Quebec waved the flag with a violence never reserved for Tories of the old school.

Meanwhile, each told appalling tales of the Messrs. Carson, Nicholson and mutual accusations and correct by-election must have been as such a competition in separatism as a meeting under the eyes of all Canada has been a competition in loyalty.

In the third place, linked with the preceding fact, is the additional fact that the Liberal party in English Canada has been a competition in English speaking Canada and throw themselves on it as the victims of French. The tactical aspect of this effective campaign, which is being reasoned to say, "Laurier is too British for those Nationalists who are firing the heather in Quebec. The Conservatives are hunting with those same Nationalists, pandering to the racial hatreds in which they trade. Vote for the real Imperialist, Laurier. This plan was being evolved by the Liberal party. It has grown visibly during the week.

Stages of Growth. Here are the stages:— On the first day of the debate much of the day of the debate makes much of the disloyalty of campaign which the Nationalists are charged with having waged.

On the third day of the debate in front of the immigration buildings, the C. P. R. would keep the plank surface in repair, and the city left with the engineer with power to act.

Ald. Jones said he had received complaints in regard to the condition of the extension of Courtenay street. The engineer and ward alderman were instructed to submit a report. The board then adjourned.

From that day on every Liberal who spoke took the same line very strongly. On Thursday, the fourth day of the debate, something happened which badly disarranged their plan. Mr. Borden spoke. His speech contains three points of significance:— 1. He upset Brodeur's bid for support as an Imperialist prosecuted for loyalty's sake by proving in a manner so smashing and also so dramatic as to leave no room for the Liberal who the sacrilegious anti-British country which the minister had filed as a proof of Nationalist malignity had been used by himself against the Conservatives, against Mr. Borden, and that Mr. Brodeur had played this particularly hypocritical trick with full consciousness of the fact that it was one of his own old campaign literature.

2. He cut loose from the Nationalists in word and deed. 3. He announced an Imperial policy at once clear, definite and unadorned. It is as definite as possible from the haze, evasive, reluctant, grudging manner who has characterized the Liberal's course during the last dozen years. It has this great feature, that it promises to do something, and this contrasts vividly with the support to vote for Laurier because somebody else was meant to him.

Thus the first week's work ends with the Liberals badly worsted. They have tried to force the Conservatives with the Nationalist; instead a cleavage has occurred. They admit by their attitude, if not in their words, that they have lost Quebec. They have visible members upon a policy of conciliating English Canada by talking Imperialism, and have promptly found themselves confronted with the fact that Mr. Borden stands ready to do something definite in Imperial organization.

These are the grand manoeuvres of the campaign. Dealing with the Conservative tactic of the Conservative party has undergone a remarkable reorganization. During the last two sessions it has had an excellent paper organization. The ex-

SOBO KEPT IN OPEN SEA DURING STORM

West India Steamer Came In Yesterday Two Days Overdue—Brought 19,000 Bags of Sugar.

Pickford & Black, West India line steamer Sobro, Captain Bridges, arrived in port yesterday morning from Bermuda, Windward Islands and Pernambuco with a large general cargo including 8000 bags of raw sugar for Montreal, and 4,500 bags sugar for Halifax. The steamer brought 14 passengers—five cabin, five second class and four Chinese, who are on their way to Hong Kong. The steamer had a very rough trip up north from Bermuda.

The following is a list of her first-class passengers: Louis B. Seale and Daisy E. Burns, John M. Emery, Harold Burns and David C. Laws. On Friday night and Saturday morning the storm was off the mouth of the Bay of Fundy, and Captain Bridges did not venture into the Bay in such a northeaster, but held her in deep water until the storm abated, which at times was most severe, the steamer making little headway against the force of the wind. This storm was the cause of the Sobro not reaching this port on her scheduled time.

SALEM SUPERINTENDENT GIVES ADDRESS HERE

Mr. Wetmore, in Charge of Boys' Industrial Home in Massachusetts, Visitor at Local Institution.

Superintendent Wetmore, of the Boys' Industrial School of Salem, Mass., arrived in the city on Monday, and yesterday morning, in response to a telephone message Superintendent McDonald of the Boys' Industrial Home at Croucheville met him at the Victoria hotel, and drove him to the local institution, where he gave an interesting address to the boys, and after dinner spent two hours with the superintendent, talking over institutional methods.

He was then driven to the city and took the evening train back to his home. Mr. Wetmore is considered one of the most efficient superintendents in Massachusetts, having been connected with several leading institutions during his twenty-five years in the work. He expressed himself as greatly pleased with what he saw at the local institution.

TWO DIVISIONS MEET WITH GRANITE ROCK

Granite Rock Division, S. of T. West End, entertained the members of Loyalist Division, and also the members of Fairville Division last evening in their hall. After the opening exercises by Granite Rock Division, and the initiation of four candidates, a very interesting programme was carried out.

Worthy Patriarch James Jack called upon E. S. Hennigar, G.W.P., who delivered an address of welcome to the visiting members. A quartet from Loyalist Division consisting of the Messrs. Carson, Nicholson, Daly, and Hamilton, assisted by Messrs. Wilson, Carson, R. Hamilton, E. Hamilton and W. Daley sang a chorus.

Other items of the programme were a solo by Mrs. Daly; reading by Miss Cunningham; recitation by John McCavour; organ solo by Geo. Ring; solo, Mr. Carson; reading, Richard Evans; reading by Miss Nichols; instrumental music by Miss Galt; solo, Ed. Hamilton; chorus, Loyalist Division; solo, Walter Daley.

Rev. W. R. Robinson, the Grand Master, read a paper on the subject of Lorneville, delivered brief and inspiring addresses. A Burley brought the formal proceedings to a close in a brief speech, thanking the entertainers, and expressing the hope that other reunions of the same kind would be held during the winter.

Afterwards the committee of ladies from the Granite Rock Division entertained the visitors with refreshments. chinery indeed was admirable. This session it is doubtful if the machinery in point of theoretical form is much superior; but it is simpler and more direct, and above all is inspired by energy and practical skill.

George H. Perley is a man of very high character, of large affairs, of good judgment, and of high prestige. He lives in Ottawa. He has taken off Mr. Borden's shoulders a great deal of routine work that formerly was left to him. Thus Thursday morning was spent by Mr. Borden at his home preparing for his great speech of the afternoon. At the same time, by an ingenious expedient, the leader is in closer touch with his men, and what they are about, than previously was the case.

Another well judged step has been the appointment of a committee to watch all legislation; one to watch government measures, another public bills introduced by private members, and a third to watch the latter. This is particularly directed to the latter named. The effect is that every private bill will be subjected to a systematic scrutiny as soon as it is introduced. However, as is to value to this one fact, that there is a good spirit of team-play.

deForest Creditors. The adjourned meeting of the creditors of H. W. deForest, Ltd., will be held this afternoon at the office of the assignee, L. P. D. Tilley.

CONSERVATIVES WIN IN PARLIAMENTARY FIGHT

Continued from page 1. Mr. Foster:—"Why did you not call on him to apologize as well?" "I did not hear it," was the Speaker's reply. Finally the Speaker submitted and asked Mr. Gauthier to apologize.

Mr. Gauthier's Apology. Mr. Gauthier, who had been sitting looking very ill at ease, replied in French, that "it was against the rules, he had nothing to say."

Mr. Speaker expostulated with Mr. Gauthier in French and after showing further reluctance, Mr. Gauthier said in English: "I utterly withdraw the word, and apologize to Mr. Monk and will not ask him to go into the corridors with me."

For some reason the Liberals cheered loudly this submission by their fellow member. Mr. Crothers pressed his motion to adjourn the debate, and after the Liberals had shown some reluctance Sir Wilfrid Laurier nodded and the debate was suspended.

Thus the Conservatives carried their point and forced first the Speaker and then Mr. Gauthier to exhibit contrition. Speaker Marcell did not monopolize the whole proceedings. He succeeded, however, by his sudden pursuit of the effect of the Premier's speech. This was to have been the feature of the day. It lasted for an hour and a half; it concluded with a carefully phrased peroration and it was instantly followed by the uproar to which the bad manners of some of his followers, and his Speaker's conception of his duties, gave rise.

As a matter of fact, quite apart from the dog fight which spoiled the effect, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech was perhaps the poorest he has ever made on a question of real importance. His party had always fought the pulse of public opinion, saying that he sets his seal on the movement started during the past week by the Liberals to appeal to English Canada on the ground that he is attacked in Quebec for his Imperialist policy, and has an eye on Quebec, however, and was very cautious not to offend it.

At the outset the Prime Minister devoted a good deal of time to arguing that Mr. Borden's course this year had been inconsistent with his course earlier. This lasted for about 20 minutes. He passed from this to a reiteration of the incessant Liberal assertion that the Conservatives and Nationalists are in league.

After some reference to the policy of appealing to the people the Prime Minister discussed autonomy, saying that the basis of the British Empire was the autonomy of all its component parts. There was rising in Great Britain a school whose object it was to draw the young nations of the empire into the armaments of England, into the maelstrom of militarism. His party had always fought against that idea, but the Conservatives had always coquetted with it. Turning upon Mr. Monk, he accused him of misrepresenting them in saying that the order in council of February 10, 1909, assenting to Canadian participation in an Imperial general staff, had been made public on March 5, 1909.

He admitted that Quebec had always given him his chief support. Blood was thicker than water, and there might be men who supported him because he was of their own race. But he had tried to keep the policy of his party on lines which would appeal to the conscience of the people. The Nationalists had succeeded because he had maintained that policy of moderation.

"How about those cartoons," asked the Conservatives. Years ago the Premier continued, he had told his friends that "he expected something like that. His case will be similar to O'Connell's. O'Connell had rendered great services to Ireland, but a younger element preached absolute separation from Great Britain. The movement came to nothing. So would the Nationalist movement. The Liberal policy was broad and American and will proceed to New York there would not affect it. Then Sir Wilfrid Laurier sat down, (and the row occurred).

Afternoon Session. The afternoon was mainly spent in waiting for the speeches which were to wind up the debate. There were three or four speeches. The first by Mr. Northrup. He pointed out the remarkably small number of Liberals affected in the tariff by the changes. Out of 248 items in the tariff they left 249 untouched, increased the duties on 54, decreased them on 34 and reduced them on 16. So much for the claim that the Liberals had reduced the tariff.

Incidentally Mr. Northrup had a good deal of fun with Mr. Brodeur over his geography. Mr. Brodeur undertook to prove the other day that piracy and buccaneering still flourish in the Gulf of Mexico. Mr. Tobin (Richmond), read three affidavits denying that the minister of the interior declared piracy unprofitable, showed that piracy existed in the Gulf of Mexico. Mr. Brodeur (Richmond), read three affidavits denying that the minister of the interior declared piracy unprofitable, showed that piracy existed in the Gulf of Mexico.
