ADVENTURES OF THE FIRST SETTLERS ON
THE OREGON OR COLUMBIA RIVER.

BEING A NARRATIVE OF THE EXPEDITION FITTED OUT BY JOHN JACOB ASTOR, TO ESTABLISH "THE PACIFIC FUR COMPANY."

With an Account of some Indian Tribes on the Coast of the Pacific.

BY ALEXANDER ROSS,

ONE OF THE ADVENTURERS.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"One of the most striking pictures of a life of adventure which we have read for a long time; and as full of instruction as of amusement: few will lay it down who have once taken it up, till the closing page is reached. To the lovers of wild adventure and perils by flood and field, we know of few books likely to prove more welcome than this work of Mr. Ross. It also possesses an interest of another kind for the historical reader and politician."—Athenaeum.

"Mr. Ross has lived for forty years among the fur traders, and consequently is enabled to present to us a very correct description of the country they traverse, the animals they hunt, and of the natives and their habits of life; and a very curious and interesting picture it is. Mr. Ross has added considerably to our knowledge of the Oregon territory and its famous river; and we are enabled to form a fairer estimate of Mr. Astor's daring scheme and the causes of its failure, than any that is afforded by any publication that has appeared."—Critic.

"The work abounds in stirring incidents peculiar to Indian life, and the author's remarks on the character of the natives evince much sound, practical sense."—Sunday Times.

"A more sterling book—one more full of interesting matter—we have not for a long time met with."—Economist.

"The work is one of permanent value, as well as interesting, from the novelty and variety of the life and scenery it describes."—Globe.
