

Red Devils open season

By IAN SUTHERLAND
Brunswickan Staff

The games begin for real tonight in university hockey action, with the Red Devils hosting University of Moncton Blue Eagles in the first game of the Atlantic Universities Hockey Conference for both teams.

As almost everyone knows, the Devils ended Moncton's reign as AUHC champions in a thrilling series last year and went on to battle University of Toronto Blues at the Aitken Centre before losing out to the eventual champions. Tonight, a new-look Red Devils team will be facing the same type of club Moncton always ices - lots of speed and plenty of offence. The Red Devils, meanwhile, seem to have shifted away from the defensive style of a year ago to a team that possesses many players capable of filling the net, including veterans Mike Kelly, Mark Jeffrey and Terry Balcom and newcomers Robbie Forbes, John LeBlanc and Charlie Cameron. Of course, the Devils are still concerned about defensive play, with veteran rearguards Scott Clements and Paul Murphy in front of veteran goaltender Jamie Frizzell and rookie David Lutes.

Tonight's game is scheduled for a 7:30 start at the Aitken Centre and is followed on Saturday by a 2 p.m. contest between the Devils and Mount Allison Mounties. It should be noted that all U.N.B. and S.T.U. students are admitted free of charge to all regular season games at the Aitken Centre.

Don MacAdam's Red Devils completed their exhibition season last Friday with a 4-4 tie against University of Quebec, Trois Riviere in a penalty filled contest. LeBlanc, Clements, Forbes and Al Lewis each fired one goal for the Devils, with Frizzell and Lutes sharing the goaltending duties. The tie brought UNB's pre-season record to a 2-3-1, with victories against Concordia Stingers and University of Maine, Orono. The Devils also lost a game against the second-ranked Stingers and dropped two exhibition games against the Blues, who are considered favorites to repeat as national champions.

"I was very happy with our play in the exhibition games," MacAdam said. "We had a good look at all our players and also had the chance to work on the offensive and defensive aspects of our games. I think we got a lot out of the games."

MacAdam has opted for the time being not to go with any set line combinations up front, preferring instead to "see who is playing best at a given time." In goal, he plans to alternate Frizzell and Lutes for the time being, but wouldn't say which one would be in the net tonight against Moncton.

As far as defencemen go,

MacAdam is optimistic the rookie-laden corps will more than hold their own this season in the AUHC. "I saw tremendous improvement in our defense as the exhibition game progressed," he said. "To an individual, they all performed very well for us."

That area of the Devils' roster had been a source of concern for Red Devils supporters heading into the preseason, with Paul Murphy and Scott Clements the only players back from a year ago. However, converted forwards Ian McDonald and Al Lewis have both made the adjustment quickly to the blue-line and newcomers Mark Hovey and Pierre Gaudet have looked solid in play so far.
