

to wear a star of David so they could be picked out at ease. There is no need to wear a star of David on a black man's sleeve, the star of David is all over him. These people truly had a right to be "angry" because they had no where to hide.

You people keep saying that you are struggling and fighting for your lives, when all you have to do is be secretive about your sexuality, as most heterosexuals do.

Why do you find it necessary to flaunt it in public places. (example: concert or newspaper).

I will not disagree the point that some gays were born that way (even though I have never seen a shred of proof), but who is to say that some people do not choose to be gay? Just like child molesters deliberately choose the younger ones.

These people with their nice homes in the suburbs, (example: an MP's friend) that think they are making radical contributions to human rights offend me. Because at the same time, there are others who truly make a difference and usually wind up dead because they speak out in public. Those are the true people who are fighting for their lives. Do not get me wrong, some types of persecutions of homosexuals are not right. It is just that they can always get out of it by denying their performance, while the less fortunate cannot.

Explanation Demanded

Dear Bruns,

On behalf of the Students Society for Mechanical Engineers, we would like an explanation as to why you did not publish anything with regards to Engineering Week Activities. After all the E.U.S. did provide you with a press package.

You should take time to realize that engineers do represent 1/6 of UNB Fredericton campus population.... Leave the top of the hill once in a while!

Just One!

Editor Brunswickan,

Here's a little blood and a lot of thunder. If his name had been Rod Stewart you would all have been there, $25 to $30 in hand, long line-up and ready to be sucked in once more. Now we change the name to Paul Stewart, young, good-looking, gifted, super-talented and exuberant pianist from Cape Breton with a "FREE" concert at Memorial Hall last Wednesday.

How many students show up? One hundred you say? Out of a multi-thousand student population? Counted 1 (ONE).

You know it is astounding to think 1 (one) student showed up. And this young kid Canadian played so beautifully, so flawless, and so emotionally inspiring.

And with "support" like that is it any wonder all the live arts, especially "LIVE MUSIC", are doomed and dying a quick death.

I don't know what else to say but I can tell you this, I'm a little upset!!

Bring Joy and Happiness

Dear Catherine

Reading your story last week greatly saddened us. You see, we are a couple who have been waiting for 4 years to adopt a child. The adoption agency anticipates out wait to be from 7 to 8 years, here in Fredericton.

Let me back-track a little; my husband and I discovered in 1985 that we could not share our love with a child of our own due to medical complications. Our desire to have a child was so great that we at once turned to adoption services to enroll our names on the waiting list for a child. We were immediately informed of the extended waiting period. This was 4 years ago.

It was your decision, Catherine, to have an abortion, but did you, for a moment, stop to consider the joy you could have brought us, or any other couple, by continuing your term of choosing the family your child would celebrate life with.

Since you chose to have an abortion, you will always be wondering what your child would have been doing if he/she was alive. If you had continued your pregnancy and then gave up your child for adoption, you could easily find out.

The next time you (or any of your friends) find that your contraceptives failed, and you are pregnant, please, I beg you, seriously consider allowing your child to live, no matter what pressure anyone else puts on you. By doing so, you will be giving your child a chance to bring joy and happiness into a home.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs.
