Several York wrestlers made the trek westward for the McMaster Open on Saturday.

As an Open event, McMaster included many wrestlers not on the university circuit. Erin Hume, a former Yeoman, practicing with the team these days, was one of them. He came sixth in his 167lb weight class.

The best showing for York was by veteran Yeoman Roy Suh Wah Sing who took the bronze in the 125lb category.

Besides Hume and Sing, five other wrestlers made the trip with York coach John Cho.

York's next tournament is the Brock Invitational, November 17th.

York was at the bottom of an eight team heap at UofT's women's basketball tournament over the weekend.

The tournament featured some of the strongest teams in the nation, including the University of Regina, which York coach Bill Pangos feels is "maybe the second or third ranked team in the CIAU."

York played Regina Friday and was trounced 93-48.

Saturday against Bishops, York played its "best game of the tournament," Pangos felt. Nonetheless York lost 60-49.

Knocked out of any contention the Yeowomen had to rouse themselves for a 9am game Sunday against McMaster. Mac took this last one 60-32 to round off a winless weekend for the Yeowomen.

"One of our problems is our inability to score," Pangos said. "Most of our scoring is being done by Jennifer Cushing and Cathy O'Mara."

"The effort's not a problem," he said, adding that "right now our ability to make decisions under pressure situations is not very good."

The Yeowomen are a green squad. "We have only two players returning who have played consistently in previous years," Pangos added.

The regular season starts in January. "My goal is to develop slowly and be prepared for league games," he said.

York results for the week of Oct 30th to Nov 4th.
