

family home of the Frasers being at that time some distance away at the head of Ludlow's Lake on the Military road between this and Wyebridge. From the fact that his tombstone is in a line with the other Fraser monuments and in the same plot, it may be inferred he was a brother of the elder Fraser who died and was laid beside him only two days later. It will be recalled that Edward Fraser married a sister of Michael McDonnell, the fur trader, and died in Dec., 1872. In the next plot is Donald Ross Fraser of Inverness, Scotland, who died in 1863, ae. 50 yrs. He was a contractor at one time connected with the "Ontario Reformatory for Boys."

In this part is also the grave of John P. Danforth of Boscowen, N.H., who died at Port Severn in 1864. He was for some time connected with the large lumbering interests at that port. His name recalls the early days of Toronto, as he is said to be a son of the pioneer, Danforth, who built the military road which still bears his name running east from York (now Toronto) in Governor Simcoe's time.

Lying on the ground near by and shattered is the white marble tablet of Caroline, dau. of Sergeant Charles Schneider of the Incorporated Militia and of Jane Kettle, his wife, who died in 1846, the parents probably having followed the fortunes of the army and are quietly resting in some distant church-yard.

Just behind the Chancel is the handsome but modest monument of Capt. John Moberly, R.N., who died in 1848 and Mary Moberly, his Russian wife, who died in 1879. She thus survived her partner 31 years, during which period she witnessed the capture of her native city, Sebastopol, by the British and French in 1855. With them lie the remains of an infant daughter, Sophia, and beside them is the memorial of a great grandson, recording the death of an infant son of Dr. and Mrs. Raikes of Midland, while the remaining members of a numerous family are scattered in distant regions.

On the opposite side, a wooden slab, starting to decay, commemorates the death of Alfred F. Eggar, Esq., late Clerk in charge of H.M. Steam Sloop "Minos," in 1847, ae. 29 yrs., a most estimable young man, taken in the prime of manhood. He is well remembered by older residents, as a pensioner for some time with Mrs. Wallace at the "Masonic Arms."

A little further on is the memorial to Geo. Ludlow who died in 1862, and who gave his name to "Ludlow's Lake" near Midland Driving Park where he settled on the Military
