

Together they saluted the tree, symbol of the woodland where the ancient Box was found. Then they looked upon the scattered parcels, symbols of love and care and fellowship, the fulfilment of the original deposits of the ark. Together they chanted the verse of the psalm, "Lo, we heard of the same at Ephrata: and found it in the wood."

