

MY HYMN THIS WEEK.

HERE are lonely hearts to cherish,
While the days are going by;
There are weary souls who perish,
While the days are going by.
If a smile we can renew,
As our journey we pursue,
Oh the good we all may do,
As the days are going by.

MY LESSON STORY THIS WEEK.

A LITTLE girl when bidding her mother good-bye, as she was going to a party on one of her neighbor's lawns, had whispered in her ear by her mother, "Try to be unselfish dear and make some one else happy." "Yes mamma I'll try," she replied, "good-bye," and off she skipped. Just as she reached the bottom of the hill a little bareheaded child toddled around the corner, and came up to her. She knew the washer woman's baby at once, and said, "Why Johnny Murphy! are you running away?" "Doin walk," said Johnny gleefully. "Where is your mother," asked Elsie? "Doin walk," said Johnny again, and off he started. Elsie could see the lawn where the party was going on and her heart beat fast as she thought, the party has begun. But Johnny, what would become of him if she left him? So she ran after him, and brought him home. When she reached the house the door was open, but nobody was there. Dear, patient Elsie stayed with him, and watched till his mother came home worn and tired with her long search for the little runaway. Elsie lost her party, but after she had sobbed out her disappointment in her mother's arms, mother said, "Never mind dear you remember what Jesus said, 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.'"
