MARKETS

Toronto, Monday, Aug. 10.—Wheat is now 20c a bushel over quotations previous to the outbreak of war. Futures have advanced 70c a buh. Beans are up 50c a bushel; sugar has taken an initial advance of a few cents a cwt. but higher quotations yet are predicted. So far the net result of the changes here is the advance in price of the producer. In some respects "the farmers will suffer directly" from war, as they are largely purchasers of sugar, beans, sugar and many lines of manufactured food products that will be affected. The cheese situation at first promised to be most serious, buyers refusing to buy at all on country boards. As soon as the situation in war levels is ascertained, quotations may be expected to advance to a war level in some of the factories that have not disposed of their output would do well to make provision for holding their cheeses under such price conditions, where factories are not equipped with cool curing rooms. The only sales of butter in the market were to interfere with the cheese market, would be the defeat of the British navy, a very unlikely catastrophe.

No far as business generally is concerned, the influence of war has been largely or detrimental. Many of our textile manufacturing establishments report that orders are not coming in and that it may be necessary to close down.

WHEAT

Few shipments of wheat have been made in the last week. Since Great Britain's influence on war risks on all shipments in British home waters, the local business has started again and large shipments will be made from the west. Local millers are after supplies of which they are as anxiously as Old Country millers. No. 1 Northern is quoted $1.75; No. 2, $1.55; Ontario, $1.06.

COARSE GRAINS

Oats and rye have both made slight advance since the outbreak of hostilities, coarse grains being classified among the munitions of war are stored at all quotations. Oats, C.W. No. 2, 57c; No. 1, 59c; corn, 66c; peas, 80c to 81c; rye, 65c to 66c; buckwheat, 58c to 59c; horse clover, 58c. Montreal deers clover, C.W. No. 2, 50c to 51c; No. 1, 49c to 50c; barley, 59c to 60c.

MILL FEEDS

Mill feeds are in active demand and firm in price. Local quotations are: Best $23 shorts, $22 middlings, $22 to $22 feed flour, $20 to $22; Montreal quaker, $20; shorts, $22; middlings, $22; feed flour, $20 to $22.

HAY AND STRAW

So far quotations on hay and straw remain steady. The price established some weeks ago. It is freely predicted that if the war continues there will be a large demand from Europe and consequent higher prices. Wholesale dealers are quoting for best choice of hay, $13 to $15.50; baled straw, $8 to $9.50; at Montreal No. 2 hay is quoted, $15 to 16 in car lots.

DAIRY PRODUCE

War has had the effect so far of curtailing shipments of butter to England. There has been, however, a more active trade with the west, several carloads going forward from Montreal in the past week. On the whole the situation is healthy. The bulk of the season's milk is now in and receipts are declining steadily. Some buyers are refusing to stand, exposing higher prices.

Cheese exporters find business at a standstill. Buyers will not accept the bill of exchange, and while there is a good demand, cheese can be bought only. With the clearing of German exports from the sea a renewed trade in satisfactory.

Montreal cheese is quoted for: 15c to 15 1/2c for finest western and 12 1/2c for finest eastern.

POTATOES AND BEANS

New potatoes, the only kind on the market, are coming in increasing quantities and may now be had at $1.50 a bushel. Imported potatoes are quoted $3 to $4 a buh. Reports to hand indicate that the crop will be a fairly liberal one, especially in Eastern Ontario.

An predicted last week the cutting of the Austrian supply of beans has resulted in advanced quotations. Beans are now quoted at $2.60 a bus. and hulled, $2.75.

LIVE STOCK

There is a continued active demand for everything in the cattle line that is finished. Practically everything is aquired for local demand, although some of the best heifers are going across the line to the United States. So far the smile of war on cattle ranges have been altogether favorable, though not unmarked. It is doubtful however, if we will have any great influence on our prices in Canada, as the army is not on fresh meat. Argentine and Austral are in a better position to supply our needs than is Canada. A great diversion of exports to the scene of war has
