HOSPITAL AID

The Magnificent Reports for the Year on Behalf of the Women's Auxiliary—Much Has Been Done and Will be Done

The Annual Meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid was held in the Library on Thursday afternoon. The attendance was large and interest well sustained throughout. Minutes were read and adopted and the Treasurer's monthly statement approved. The officers of the Auxiliary had undertaken the visiting at the Hospital during December and reported that nurses and patients had enjoyed their Christmas, and were grateful for gifts and kindness received during the season. No accounts were contracted in connection with the Christmas dinners, as all had been contributed by members and friends. Unfinished business having been disposed of, the annual meeting was proceeded with. Next came the election of officers, which resulted in the re-appointment of the Board of 1912 with the addition of the President of the Junior Auxiliary to a position on the Executive.

A letter having been read stating that Mr. Bunnell's term as representative for the W. H. A. on the Board of Governors had expired, a resolution was passed re-appointing him to the same position. A resolution was unanimously carried that the ladies will undertake the complete furnishing of the Nurses Home and will hold Tag Day in June with this end in view, followed by a Rummage Sale in November. The collectors of 1912 were all re-appointed, and members of the Auxiliary are requested to have their fees ready when called upon.

President's Report

Mrs. J. E. Waterloo submitted an interesting and heartfelt report. She dwelt on the splendid success of the "Fair of Nations" helped by all creeds and with reference to the carrying of the Hospital by-law pointed out through an organized canvas of 27 polling divisions by the members, the greater number of 676 women on the voters list, cast their ballots for the same. Many registered a vote for the first time and would not be likely to do so again except for a similar cause. The pledging of $20,000 instead of $10,000 for the Nurses Home was referred to and thanks returned to Mr. and Mrs. Andrews for holding union, at which there were many present from both City and County, and a general feeling of good fellowship enveloped all. A number of enthusiastic young ladies during the year had banded themselves together under the leadership of Mrs. Agnew, and had formed a Junior Auxiliary to look after the Maternity Ward.

In May the C. M. B. A. of St. Basil's Church very generously donated one third of the proceeds of "Floradora" which was given for their benefit in the Opera House by the Hamilton Dramatic Society. In October the Auxiliary engaged a good seamstress to go to the hospital one day each week to take charge of the mending, etc. hitherto done by the nurses in their spare moments. Other hospitals have fully equipped sewing rooms, and permanent seamstresses, and the same is recommended here. The ladies had made a number of dressing gowns, kimonos and bed gowns for the public wards and 12 pair of slippers by Mrs. Thos. Watt.

The Children's branch was highly commended, and announcement made of one more life member, Mrs. Fred Westbrook, who had generously donated $25 to the fees, through Miss Jones, North Ward collector. This makes nine members on the life roll. The address continues—The general membership is still on the increase. As an evidence of this, we might cite Terrace Hill, as a striking example, which had only three members when Miss Watkins began her work, and now numbers one hundred and three.

Thanks were returned to the Courier and Expositor, Mr. Henwood for courtesies at the Library, to Mr. Bunnell, Ladies representative and the Board of Governors. "For Miss Carson, Miss Blott and the staff of nurses, we have nothing but praise. Always ready to meet our ladies and co-operate with them in any of their work, and our visits to the Hospital have always been an inspiration."

The report concluded: "The Nurses' Home is nearing completion and in a very few months will be taken possession of. Our balance remains to our credit, which will be of value during the coming year, for I hope we shall still have something definite to work for. After so many years with our eyes fixed on the same goal, there is just a little danger of re-acting, unless we keep up our enthusiasm by immediately deciding on something to bring our Auxiliary to what it is— with some years of uphill work, and many discouragements—and we must not take any backward step. The larger the Hospital the greater its needs, and with the loyal support now given us, and the splendid band of workers in our Auxiliary, great things should be accomplished in the years that are to come."

The Secretary's (Mrs. T. S. Wade's) report, gave in detail the work of the year.
The Treasurer's (Mrs. Geo. Watt) report showed as follows:
Total receipts for year $ 8,148.10
Disbursements..... 7,953.56
Balance..... 194.63
Children's Branch bal. $ 63.00
Jr. Auxiliary..... 40.17
Women's Hospital Aid..... 91.40
Nurses Home Fund balance..... 194.63

The Junior Hospital Aid reported (Miss Edna Preston, President) a big membership and big activity with many articles supplied the hospital, and to be supplied.
The Children's Branch has done little this year to raise funds, as most of those interested in its work were busy with the Fair of Nations, and all work with children requires much time. The children's branch has about $60 on hand. At the last meeting plans were made to add to this, and the Branch decided to equip and support a cot in the new Children's Ward.

OVERREACHED HIMSELF.

Napoleon and the Causes That Led Up to Waterloo.

In one way Napoleon possessed, a defect similar to that of Frederick the Great. He provided no adequate staff to relieve himself of details. It is likely that his intense desire to stand alone, in order to receive all the credit for what was done was the secret of his action.

Although undoubtedly the greatest military genius that ever lived, he overreached himself. This is shown in a single enterprise like the Russian campaign, but it is shown in the life as a whole. He could probably have accomplished the anomaly, with the mercenary French, of founding a personal dynasty upon the French revolution which beheaded royalty and announced the rights of man, but when he attempted to remake the map of Europe he reckoned beyond his power. He realized that the armies of the republic had been animated by a passion for liberty, equality and fraternity, but he could not understand that his aggressions upon other countries deprived his armies of this moral force and implanted it in his enemies and that no skill in strategy and tactics could long withstand it. He would not permit a group of great administrators and military leaders to share his honors and form around him a cabinet which might have protected him against himself. And so he plunged forward, unaided in the calling of his star and destiny to his Waterloo. Edward D. Jones in Engineering Magazine.

BOILING WATER.

Under Certain Conditions It's Just For a Wise Plan.

Water is a fluid simply because its particles, which may be compared to an aggregation of infinitesimal pearls, are kept separated by latent heat. Outside heat applied to a vessel containing water causes the latent and applied heat to be taken to the top of the liquid in the water, and the liquid in the water. Under such conditions pure water at sea level will boil at a temperature of 212 degrees F. If the barometer pressure be thirty inches.

If, however, the vessel containing this same water be carried to the top of a high mountain or put under the exhausted receiver of an air pump it will boil before it reaches the temperature of 212, because the atmosphere has been taken away so as to allow the air contained in the water to escape before it becomes sufficiently heated to impart that quality to the loose particles of water surrounding it. At a height of 18,000 feet on the sides of the Himalaya mountains water boils at a temperature of 203 degrees and under the exhausted receiver of the air pump at only 72 degrees.

This proves that boiling water is not always equally hot. It also tells us why it is next to impossible to cook meat, vegetables, etc., in high altitudes by the boiling process.—London Saturday Review.

Good Razors Possible.

There is a very common feeling that there is a certain element of chance in the purchase of a razor. It is sometimes expressed that "whatsoever price you pay you try your luck." Occasionally one hears of a remarkable razor which holds its edge as long as giving pleasure to its owner every day for half a lifetime, so that he would not part with it for gold. So long as it is possible for one razor to be selected as a particularly good one it is evident that the hardening as carried out falls to impart the maximum efficiency to the majority. The author believes that it is possible to harden every razor in a cross section so that one shall be truly a duplicate of the best. Whether it would pay to do so is a question which is outside his province.—Shipley N. Brayshaw in Engineering Magazine.

The Gobi Desert.

The great desert of Gobi which is partly in China, partly in Manchuria, partly in Mongolia and partly in Siberia, is traversed by the oldest transportation lines in existence. It has a caravan route over which the silk and Indian camels have traveled toward Europe for 3,000 years, and yet from the time when Kublai Khan macadamized the road until the time when the Russian railroad paralyzed it by the competition of steam to one of the merchants who traveled over it toward either to the right or to the left to tell Europe and the occident of the wonders or the terrors of that unknown land.

Hard to Please.

"Mr. Snuggs was accented on the street the other day by a beggar who was covered with a very remarkable mass of patched and ragged garments and who said: "Mister, haven't you some old clothes you could give a fellow?" Snuggs surveyed the beggar from head to foot and then asked: "Are not the clothes you have on old enough for you?"

A Little Short of Funds.

"Mr. Tye-First—More money? What have you done with that dollar I gave you last week?" "Mr. Tye-First—That's in the savings bank, but I can't draw the interest on it till next January. I want another dollar to run the house on in the meantime."—Chicago Tribune.

All Settled.
