The Assassination of King Humbert
Was Decided on.

Murderer Went From There to Kill the King—A Warning From France did not Prevent the Crime.

Monza, July 31.—After the shooting of King Humbert here on Sunday night, as soon as His Majesty's attendant could realize what had happened he was placed in his carriage and driven as rapidly as possible to the palace. He was, however, beyond human aid. The assassin's name is variously given as Angelo and Gaetano Bressi. He was born in Prato, November 10, 1869, and is a weaver by trade. He comes from America, where he has resided at Paterson, N. J. He says he had no accomplice, and that he committed the crime because of his hatred of monarchical institutions. He reached Monza July 27, from Milan, where he stayed a few days.

Few additional details of the terrible tragedy are available. It happened so unexpectedly that the king was dead almost before the spectators realized what had occurred. No special precautions had been taken. Very few police were in attendance and only a small number of soldiers keeping the way for the carriage. The king, amid the cheers of the crowd, came out smiling, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, Gen. Ponzo Baglia. He had entered the carriage and was just driving off when the revolver shots were fired in quick succession. Some witnesses assert that Bressi was seen just previously waving his hands and cheering. The first shot wounded the king in the neck, the second, the fatal one, pierced his heart; and the third broke the arm of the already dying sovereign.

ROUGHLY HANDLED.
The crowd was stunned by the unexpected scene, but speedily a rush was made towards the assassin. He did not attempt to escape, and was roughly treated until the carabinieri formed a cordon and secured him from the fury of the people.

An eye witness says that when the shots were fired the king fell back pressing his hand to his heart. He was immediately supported by Gen. Ponzo Baglia, who told the coachman to drive with all speed to the castle. After his exclamation, "It is nothing," he did not utter a sound. Blood gushed from his mouth.

The assassin on reaching the guard room of the carabinieri, was in a pitiable condition, his hands and arms being lacerated and bloody and his clothes being torn by an angry crowd. Replying to questions he hissed through his clenched teeth:

"Tell them I come from America on purpose to kill Humbert. I have only just arrived from America and know no one. I spent a day at Bologna and then came on to Monza."

A search made at his home at Prato resulted in the finding of several compromising letters from New York. One signed by a woman was dated June 26. In this letter the writer asks whether all is ready, and expresses a hope that he will soon return.

Bressi had been absent from Prato for six or seven years. His parents live there, and he has a brother in an Italian infantry regiment.

In reference to the finding of another revolver it is asserted that Bressi had been seen in company with another young man in the park at Monza near where the king was in the habit of riding.

After his arrest he appeared weak and nervous until about sunrise, but from that time he slept soundly until Monday.

The expression of the dead king's face is tranquil and even smiling. The corpse was blessed immediately after death. It will be embalmed.

It appears that when King Humbert was wounded he exclaimed, "It is nothing." The royal carriage covered the distance between the Gymnastic Society club house where the crime was committed and the royal villa, at full speed, requiring but three minutes. The king expired on the way, and although placed on a bed, was dead when the doctors arrived.

Bressi is young, tall and swarthy. It appears that he remained four days in Prato and two days in Bologna, after which he came here.

THE QUEEN'S GRIEF.
When Queen Margherita arrived at the villa it was still hoped that the king would survive, and when the truth was broken to her a heartrending scene ensued. Bursting into tears she exclaimed:

"It is the greatest crime of the century. Humbert was good and faithful. No person could have loved his people more. He was one who bore with will to none." When the queen's mother arrived there was another affecting scene.

The assassin is strictly guarded in prison. He continues to preserve absolute indifference and took his meals to-day without any sign of being affected by his position. A second revolver was found on the public stand in the gymnastic grounds.

The room where the embalming is proceeding is already filled with flowers. The queen herself placed a wreath upon the bier and knelt and prayed beside the body, and in spite of the entreaties of the princes and princesses, she refused to quit the death chamber, which is in charge of Count Jurri, the late king's aide-de-camp.

WARNING WAS GIVEN.
The Paris Temps says the Italian government was warned June 30 that secret anarchist societies had decided on the death of King Humbert and four other sovereigns. As a matter of fact, an anarchist was arrested June 29 at Pontafel, on the Austro-Italian frontier, who declared he had been selected to assassinate King Humbert. Increased guards were attached to King Humbert, who, however, protested and ordered them withdrawn. The Temps adds that the Pope was the first to convey condolences to the widowed queen.

As Victor Emmanuel III, who married in 1896, is childless, the heir to the throne is the king's cousin, the Duke of Aosta. The Duchess of Aosta was Princess Helen of Orleans, daughter of the late Count of Paris, and she and the Duke are generally considered the handsomest royal couple in Europe.

THE POPE INFORMED.

A special despatch from Rome says: "Mgr. Angelo di Pietro (prefect of the congregation of the council) took it upon himself to inform the Pope of the assassination of King Humbert. He entered the chamber of Leo XIII. early hour. The latter was already awake. The cardinal cautiously first stated that an attempt had been made upon the life of the king, whereupon the Pope immediately asked if the wound was dangerous. The prelate replied 'very dangerous' but his anxious air was noticed by the Pope, who at once divined the truth. His emotion was such that he was unable to speak for some time. When his distress had passed he wished to leave his bed and to celebrate mass for the repose of the King's soul. Later he summoned Cardinal Rampolla (papal secretary of state), whom he requested to send a despatch of condolences to Princess Clotilde, sister of the Queen. The audiences fixed for to-day were suspended."

A DOCTOR DROWNED.

Went Swimming off a Yacht and Lost His Life.

Montreal, July 31.—A tragic "drowning" accident, by which Dr. Edgar A. Grafton, a prominent young physician of Montreal, lost his life, occurred at Berthier, a place on the St. Lawrence, a few miles below Montreal. A yachting party, composed of ex-Mayor Beauregard, Mrs. Beauregard, Dr. Grafton, and a number of others, left on Mr. Beauregard's private yacht for a cruise down the St. Lawrence. The party anchored for the night at Berthier, and early in the morning several of the gentlemen, including Dr. Grafton, went in for a swim. While swimming around near the yacht Dr. Grafton made efforts to rescue him, but he quickly sank from view. An effort was made to recover the body, but without success.

DEADLY BLOEMFONTEIN.

Gunner Skirving Says That no Less Than 85 Canadians are Buried There

Gunner Skirving writes to his parents under date of June 24, from Bloemfontein, where he then was on the way to the front to join in pursuing the elusive Boers. He was quite well at the time and anxious to move on. In his letter he says: "We left De Aar last week and got here the day before yesterday, and things are getting worse right along, for we are in the capital of the State. Just five minutes' walk from where sixty-five Canadians are buried—having died from enteric fever and dysentery."

It is something awful to see them burying the dead. There are twenty-five hospitals here, and when a soldier dies he is wrapped in his blanket, thrown into a wagon and, with a whole lot of others, pitched into a big trench.

Thank God we are not staying here very long. I met a couple of days ago a met. Burrell, from Chatham, at Norval's Point. He was on his way here and was glad to see me. He is a doctor and reports Gorrie and Wilson ditto.

We are being supplied with fresh horses and new equipment before going any further. That is why we are waiting here. Coming from Norval's Point there were five of us detailed to go ahead with the horses and upon arriving here the station staff officer turned all our horses out of the cars to accommodate the Mounted Rifles who were going to Kroonstad; so we lost twenty-five horses, but the Dutch supply everything, so we don't care much for that.

TO EXTEND THE LEASE.

London Free Press.—There is some prospect that the question of extending the lease of the Lake Erie & Detroit River Railway Company of the London & Port Stanley Railway will come before the city council shortly. The lessees are said to be anxious to secure the right to the line for thirty years from date. This would mean an extension of sixteen years, the present lease having fourteen years yet to run. The L. E. & D. R. Co. intend to build a new extension of their line from Ridgeway to St. Thomas, and the idea of an extension of the L. & P. S. R. lease has to do with the consolidation of the bonds necessary to construct the new line.

AID. SULMAN WILL RESIGN.

"I am going to resign my seat at the council board," said Ald. G. W. Sulman, with an air of determination that left no room to doubt the alderman's intention. "There was the King of Italy assassinated. This following on the killing of the mayor of Chicago and the Empress of Austria is more than I can stand. The Board of these prominent positions before the public has its drawbacks, and the awful possibilities are actually keeping me from sleeping and I am growing thin. I am going to resign and get out of danger."

OFF THE TRACK.

This means disaster and death when applied to a fast express train. It is equally serious when it refers to people whose blood is disordered and who consequently have pimples and sores, bad stomachs, deranged kidneys, weak nerves and that tired feeling. Hood's Serravallo puts the whole back on the track by making pure, rich blood and curing these troubles.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pilla. 25c.

Sentenced to Death.

"You are in the last stage of Consumption and cannot live more than a month," were the words of doom heard by Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel Springs, N. C., from her doctors. "But she began to say Dr. King's New Discovery," writes R. L. Daughton, of that place, "and was wholly cured by it. She is now a stout, well woman. It's the supreme cure for desperate diseases of throat and lungs. Infallible for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Guaranteed bottles sold at $1. Trial bottles at A. I.
