NORTH YORK IS VACANT

Hon. E. J. Davis Unseated By Chancellor At Newmarket.

Commissioner of Crown Lands Countenanced the Employment, As Scrutineer, of a Man Previously Reported For Corruption, Thus Ignoring the Law—Liberals Will Appeal, and the Personal Charges Stand For the Present.

Newmarket, Sept. 23.—Premier Ross' majority in the House has vanished. He holds office with the vote of the Speaker.

Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice Teetzel decided yesterday that Hon.
E. J. Davis was not entitled to the seat he held in the Parliament of Ontario during the last session of the House.

The charge that he personally employed in his bye-election campaign William J. Robinson, a person reported by the judges as having committed a corrupt act in the North Grey election, was proven and the North York seat declared vacant.

An appeal is probable, as this is the first decision of the kind in Canada.

Can't Kill a Dead Man.
Mr. Blackstock asked leave to proceed with the personal charges against Hon. E. J. Davis. Mr. Aylesworth objected. "You can't kill a man who is already dead."

On the suggestion of Chancellor Boyd, the petitioners agreed to the remaining charges standing until the appeal is decided. The Conservatives declare the evidence sufficient to disqualify Mr. Davis.

Mr. Davis does not necessarily lose his seat in the Cabinet. Both Hon.
John Dryden and Hon. J. M. Gibson have been unseated, but continued in the Cabinet until re-elected.

Question of costs stands till after the appeal.

Chancellor Boyd's Decision.

The Chancellor, in giving judgment said that he and his colleague agreed in the result, though they might not reach it in the same way. This was not a case of disputed facts, but one in which, on the ascertained facts, it was necessary to apply the act to find if there was an evasion of the act. It was quite true that there was no crime or immorality attached to what had been done. Robinson appeared in the riding on the 11th of February, was found taking a prominent part in looking over the voters' lists, engaged in telephone messages, arranged for meetings, and distributed bills.

"It was his duty," said the candidate, "to be in the riding, and to give with the Chairman of that section," said His Lordship, "doing various kinds of activities, and at work at the time from February 11 or 13 to the day of polling. He was not disturbed, but went on doing work in that conspicuous way, in charge of Sutton.

Clearly As An Agent.

"I think that it clearly establishes agency of a prominent character. As I understand the English cases, the personal engagement is not in writing, but where the candidate is in personal touch with the man. The candidate here unquestionably knew Robinson, was introduced to him, knew he was an active man, participated in the benefit of the labors he was engaged in, and knowing he was in charge of Sutton, and being in conference with him, there was that personal element in it, and seems to show that on the whole case there was a personal engagement of this man as agent."

Davis Had Notice.

Taking up the next question of personal knowledge of Robinson having been reported for corrupt acts, the Chancellor reviewed the evidence, and went on: "On this evidence Mr. Davis had notice, not only notice, but personal knowledge, of the facts which are the main facts here. He knew of the controversy in North Grey, and that the one charge on which the case was decided was this of the hiring of a rig. Mr. Davis is not singular in believing that this was an illegal act, but not a corrupt practice. Many lawyers have made that mistake, but the provision of the act is that it shall be deemed to be a corrupt act. It is not to be wondered at that Mr. Davis should make this mistake, but the error which he made, though freeing him from moral culpability, does not free him from legal responsibility. He must have known there was a judgment, and that the act Robinson was guilty of was a corrupt one under the statute, one which the judges were bound to report, and which they did report."

Told By Lennox.

"He might have satisfied himself by inquiry from the proper source which was right, in their recollection. But, getting the confirmation of Mr. Lennox, who as a lawyer, might be expected to have knowledge, he went on without taking the trouble of making inquiry. On the next day, after he had heard this from Mr. Lennox, he made this appointment of him as his election agent. It seems to me the statute is aimed at this, the employment in an election as an agent by either candidate of persons who have broken the election law.
This is one of the punishments attached to the man guilty of corrupt practices, that they are not considered competent to be agents in an election, and that if a candidate employs him, is in personal touch with him, is aware of this incompetency, the consequence is that his election is void. It seems to me that Mr.
Davis was aware and had reason to be aware that Robinson was not a proper person to employ. I do not know that a private letter spoken of by Mr. Aylesworth, would be more potent than public notice."

Davis Should Have Investigated.

"No doubt there is much wild speaking at the election meetings, but after Mr. Lennox made his statement at the very place where the man was acting, one would have thought it reasonable that steps should be taken to ascertain the truth of it. Mr. Davis seems to have relied on his own recollection that Robinson's act in North Grey was only an improper act and not a corrupt act, but unfortunately the statute made it so. Still, he was aware of the essential facts, and could easily have satisfied himself of the others.

Responsible For Act.

"Then we have this appointment of Robinson as a scrutineer. I cannot agree with Mr. Aylesworth that this is a matter of blank paper. It seems to me he is responsible for whatever name is put in there in the document he has signed. The signing cannot be passed over as a mere form. The law requires an appointment in writing, and if a candidate fills up an appointment in blank he is responsible for the same put in.
According to the very letter of the statute, there was a very personal engagement of this man Robinson as an agent in the election. To my mind there was more than that; there was personal knowledge of the agency of Robinson preceding and a retention of him in that position, as agent in charge of Sutton, and the adding to his duties by this appointment of the 19th of February to act as scrutineer.

Regrets Result.

There is no doubt that the personal engagement preceded knowledge of the incompetency, but the moment the knowledge of incompetency came to the notice of Mr. Davis the personal engagement attached with the meaning of the statute. I regret the result that in a constituency where there was so large a majority as 449 the election should be affected by a transaction of this kind in which there is not any moral culpability.
It was an inconsiderate act, but I see no way or escape from the consequences of the action my opinion the result is that the election is void because of that."

WORLD OF SPORT

CARPET BOWLING.

LEAGUE TO BE FORMED.

Carpet ball is becoming a favorite pastime, especially among the fraternal orders of the city, four orders being represented namely, the Royal Arcanum, Sons of England, A. O. U.
W., and the Ancient Foresters. Now with the addition of the I. O. F. F., Canadian Foresters, the Independent Foresters, Catholic Foresters, or other lodges in the city, a city bowling league could be formed, and the pastime would become general as to societies, and would make good sport for the fall and winter evenings.

There are a lot of good lawn bowlers in the city who could be easily induced to join their respective orders' team. Mr. N. H. Stevens, an enthusiastic bowler, member of the Chatham club, and many others would be valuable additions to the ranks of the carpet ballists of the city.

The greatest difficulty seems to be the getting of rooms with a level floor, or nearly so, and those about equal length. A gentleman of the city has kindly offered the loan of a room to the bowlers at a nominal rental, provided a club will put in the necessary adjuncts for the purpose. Whether this plan would be adopted would be a matter for the league to decide. As it is now, one lodge bowls best 24 feet, while another bowls 31 feet, which, to some appears odd, the distance being variable requiring additional practice on the two floors now in use. A move is now on foot to form a city league, and which, no doubt, will be consummated.

PENINSULAR LEAGUE MET.

Three teams from this end of the Peninsular League, Detroit Thistles and Windsor, were represented at the Peninsular League meeting at the Crawford House, Windsor, last evening. Officers chosen were as follows—Honorary president, E. C. Walker; Chatham; president, S. J. Watts, Windsor; vice-president, H. Wilson, Thistles; secretary-treasurer, H. G.
Filer, Detroit.

The season of the league will open in Detroit on Saturday, October 1, when Detroit will play Windsor. From that time until December there will be games each Saturday. Detroit has not secured a field yet, but has several places in view.

Detroit players are requested to meet at Eighteenth Street and Boulvard on Sunday at 9 a. m., for practice.—Detroit Free Press.

MAKING PROGRESS

Dr. A. W. Thornton has received a letter from Will J. Green, of Toronto, who has recently been appointed to the position of educational director of the Buffalo Central Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. Green is well known in this city. He was born in Dresden and at one time taught in the Central school. He left here about six years ago to assume the position of assistant superintendent of the Central Y.
M. C. A., Toronto, where he has since been very successful and popular.

The Central Association, of Buffalo, who have now secured Mr. Green's services, have just completed the erection of a fine new building equipped in the most modern style, the cost of which was about $500,000. He has been offered a very substantial salary to start with, with the promise of a material increase. Mr. Green's many friends in this city will be pleased to hear of his splendid success.

THE LOST IS FOUND

Last Friday evening some one stole a horse and rig from Geo. Maris, of Couttsworth. Mr. Maris became quite agitated over his loss especially when he could find no clue as to who had taken the outfit.

He went to Windsor and notified the police there to be on the lookout for the rig, and then came to Chatham and informed the police here of his loss. He stayed in the city over Sunday but could find no trace of the missing horse and rig.

J. W. Humphrey received a letter from Mr. Maris to-day in which he says that the stolen goods were returned to him night before last. Some Indians who were passing his place saw that the horse and rig were not in use and as they were in need of such an outfit jumped in the rig and drove off. They were returned by a brother of the Indian who had stolen them.

Neither the horse or the buggy are any the worse for their journey. Mr.
Maris is happy that he got them back at all.
