Buckingham, Que., Oct. 31.—Over 60 witnesses have been heard in the Buckingham inquest by Coroner McMahon, and the evidence is se contradictory that the jury of eight linglish and eight widows of the men on whom the inquest is held, were examined, but they declared that their husbands had no nrearms to their knowledge.

The best witness of the day was a 15-year-old lad, Chisholm Pearson, whose direct evidence was so firm that the most difficult cross-examination could not shake it. He told circumstantially that Dr. Roderigue, the local coroner, had covered up the rifles that the strikers were transporting to the stene of the fight. The doctor had denied knowledge of the rifles, while admitting that he rode in the rig they are known to have been in.

RAN AWAY FROM HOME

Highgate Young Woman Hides In A Field While Temporarily Insane

WAS FOUND IN A POOL

Highgate, Oct. 30.—Lettie Attridge, about 35 years of age, living at the old home with her widowed mother and her brother John, got up about three o'clock on Saturday morning, sparingly clad herself, and hurriedly left the house. Her mother advised her not to go out, but before the mother or brother could get to her, she had gone down stairs, outside, and fled from the place. The morning being dark, windy and dismal, she could not be traced.

Mrs. McMillen, asister, lives about three miles away, and the mother and family thought she might have gone there. Enquiries were made, but no trace of her could be found. Frienda became anxious, and a general alarm was given in the vicinity, and all kinds of surmess and conjectures were made. At five p. m. it was estimated that over fifty people were searching in every conceivable place, and continued until dark with no encouraging results. At daylight on Sunday morning the scarchcontinued, people coming from all directions to offer any sea stance possible. About nine a. m. Mr. Chas. Vyce discovered a drack and found it came from a stock of corn in Mr. Wm. Rowland's field. Following the tracks, they found the girl sitting in a poof of water in the field, and still alive. A conveyawe was immediately procured from Mr. Rowland and she was taken to her home. Willing hands applied all the restoratives possible and she is now speedily regaining her usual strength.

The young lady is subject to spells of despondency and wander ngs, and in one of these she left the house without any possibility of provocation from the inmates. She says she onew she was lost and did not know where to go or what to do, and was pleased when she saw her resources.
