A LAMBETH ROMANCE.

Alleged Elopement of a Woman Under Strange Circumstance.

Left Second Husband For First Husband.

Had Been Married in Her Youth to the Blind Man.

London, Feb. 16.-A strange story of romance, resulting in alleged elopement of a woman with a blind man has come to light in Lambeth, although the fact has been kept quiet for some time.

Tommy Devine, a sectionman on the Southwestern Traction Company, living at Lambeth, had a rather pretty wife, and three children. He was a quiet, hard working man, and had secured certain property, valued at something over $1,000. This, at the solicitation of his wife, he put in her name. They lived happily together, and so far as could be seen were as contented a couple as could be found.

Late last fall there came a visitor to Lambeth, a blind men by the same of Lambeth, a blind man by the name of Baker. He lived there for some days, and as he seemed a very good sort of chap, he was well treated by the neigh-bors. He was a piece of bors. He was a piano player, was Bak-er, and as there was a piano at De-vine's home he was invited to spend the evenings now and then there, where Why, Baker is my husband, said the woman.

Devine asked for an explanation, and the woman told him the story.

When quite a young girl she met Baker and married him. Her mother thought they were not married and sent her away because Baker had been married before, and 'had had some afficulty about divorcing his first wife. The second Mrs. Baker also thought she was not legally married, and afterwards she married the Devine.

Baker and Mrs. Devine lost track of each other completely for years, and in the meantime she and Devine lived together, three children being born.

—S. D. Biggar, K. C., moved this morn.

gether, three children being born.

Baker had suffered an affliction of go was legal.

Devine asked her if she intended to live with Baker, and she said that as his legal wife she would.

She offered to leave Devine if he would give up the children, and as the property was in her name, she would shoose of that. But Devine would fight for the property.

Things went from bad to worse, and at last when Devine returned home one evening from his work he was locked out. He got a constable, and was told that he could not go into the house, as it did not belong to him at all, but to her. A truce was patched up between them, and Devine continued to live there, although conditions were far from satistically and good time are assured.

Juggment.

—George Stevenson, charged with assault by Alice Walker, a young girl of thirteen years, was before Judge Snider this morning. Crown Attorney Washington prosecuted, and the prisoner was defended by W. H. Wardrope, K. C. After hearing the evidence his Honor found Stevenson guilty, and remanded him until Thursday.

—In honor of the special work which organizer Mark B. Thomas has been doing for the Canadian Oddfellows in this city and to give the members of all the city lodges and their friends a chance to spend a pleasant evening together, Advance Lodge will give a free smoker in the hall of the order, James street north, to-morrow evening. A large turnout and a good time are assured. that he could not go into the house, as it did not belong to him at all, but to her. A truce was patched up between them, and Devine continued to live there atthough conditions were far from satisfactory. In the meantime Mrs. Devine had been trying another tack. She came to the city, and endeavored to get a mortgage on the property. Devine heard of it, and obtained an injunction restraining the woman from completing the deal.

This brought matters to a climar. This brought matters to a climar.

This brought matters to a climax. This brought matters to a climax. One day Mrs. Devine and Buker came to the city on a traction car. Whether or not they had sent their clothing on shead of them or not is not known, but anyway they seemed to have no grips when they got on the car, and when Devine returned at night the woman's clothing had disappeared also. Since then the couple have not been seen, and it is alleged that they have cloped. The three children are still with their father, Devine, and he is caring for them. The mortgage on the property was not consummated. It is a very strange story, and has caused not a little talk in the neighborhood. Devine is spoken of as a hard-working, industrious, kind-heart.

Baker had suffered an affliction of the eyes in the interim, and had become blind, like Dick Helder, in "The Light That Failed." By some chance or other Baker came to Lambeth and immediately met Mrs. Devine, He then told her that they were legally married, as the divorce he had obtained years ago was legal.

Devine asked her if the description of the eyes and opposed the motion. His honor granted an order setting aside the judgment.

BADLY BITTEN.

A horse belonging to the Dominion Express Co, had a mix-up with a dog yesterday while being driven on Cannon street. When passing G. W. Raycroft's grocery store a young dog ran out and, jumping at the horse's head, caught its teeth in the animal's upper lip. The horse shook the dog off but, in doing so, left a piece of its lip in the dog's mouth. It was at once driven to the stables and a veterinary called in.
