Press Delegates Witness Review of British Warships.

Sham Attack on Warships and Landing of Enemy.

Delegates Duly Impressed-Germany Feeling Sore.

London, June 13 .- (C, A. P.) - The delegates to the Imperial Press Confer ce were profoundly impressed by their inspection of the home fleet at Spithead yesterday. The eighteen miles of warships, which included four Dreadnoughts and three Invincibles, constituted the st powerful fleet ever assembled for review. A salute from Nelson's old flag-ship, the Victory, announced the arrival of the Admiratly yachts, bearing the Lords of the Admiratly and the news-paper guests. After traversing the lines of the fleet the visitors went on board the Dreadnought and witnessed a sham attack of submarines and destroyers on the battleship. The sea front of Ports-mouth was black with masses of specta-tors, and the roadstead was filled with steamers thronged with sightseers from all parts of the kingdom. Admiral Sir John Fisher accompan-ied the Press delegates, and on the ar-vival of the party at Victoria Station on their return from the manoeuvres, the newspapermen gave him a great ovation, review. A salute from Nelson's old flag-newspapermen gave him a great ovation, escorting him to his car and singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." All the delegates admit that the fleet was a wonderful object lesson to them as to the Empire's naval might

THE VICTORY SALUTED.

New York, June 13.-A cable des patch to the Herald from London de scribes the spectacle which the dele gates to the Press Conference witnessed at Spithead. It says:

at Spithead. It says: On arriving at the South Railway jetty of the dock yard the guests em-barked on the Volcano, a special ser-vice vessel allotted for the purpose, and proceeded out of the harbor. Nel-son's venerated flagship, the historic Victory, could not be left out of the entertainment, and she saluted the Ad-miralty flag when it was broken on the Theory, could not be left off of the entertainment, and she saluted the Ad-miralty flag when it was broken on the yacht Enchantress. This vessel led the way out to Spit-head, passing South Sea Castle on the left and Hasler Hospital on the right, until three lines of destroyers in parallel columns, forty-eight in number, with their scouts, came into view. A little farther on the first line of warships of larger size was passed. At the head of each column was the flagship Dreadnought, the King Ed-ward VII., and the Prince of Wales respectively, and behind these lay in their impressive majesty all the great hat leships and cruisers and all the home and Atlantic fleets. ON BOARD THE DREADNOUGHT.

and Atlantic fleets. ON BOARD THE DREADNOUGHT. After the big ships had all been passed a visit was made to the thirty-live submarines, anchored in two long lines, and having made a close inspec-tion of these vessels, passed up again between two other lines and came to anchor alongside the Dreadnought. The, visitors were transferred to the flagship of Sir William May, in order to witness the evolutions by the sub-marines and destroyers. The former traft passed by the flagship in single file, some being in cruising trim, others in diving trim, and a third sec-tion giving an exhibition of the way in which they could disappear at will beneath the surface. After the submarines came the de-stroyers, every alternate boat firing a topedo at the buttleship as she came abreast of her. These missiles plongh-ed their way through the waves at a fast rate of speed toward the ship, heaving a fine line of foam to indicate the topedo nets surrounding the Dread-onghit, their career was stopped, thus demonstrating the value of this species of defence. ATACK ON WHALE ISLAND.

ATTACK ON WHALE ISLAND. After this the visitors proceeded to Whale Island, at 'the top of the har-lor, to be entertained by one of those realistic spectacles for which this great gunnery establishment is famed. In a specially errected stand the visitors watched the proceedings with the keen-est interest.

watened the proceedings with the score est interest. The beach of the island here slopes down toward the sea, and in it rows of trenches had been dug, one above the other, in preparation for the attack expected from the enemy. The pa-trol was partly sheltered among the tussocks of the grass and the bushes on the bank, affording the only sign of life and watchfulness.

d from the train and swep the invaders toward the sea back the invaders toward the sca. They made an attempt to save the guns, but several of them were cap-tured. The 4.7-inch gun had to be abandoned, and in a few moments the whole body of the enemy was in full re-treat toward the boats. It was too late. Nearly all were de-stroyel in crossing the beach, save a fittle band which, up to their knees in water, kept the flag flying and perished to the last man sooner than surrender. THE BATTLE OVER.

THE BATTLE OVER.

THE BATTLE OVER. Then the bugic sounded, and, as if by a magician's wand, the hurly-burly of mimic warfare was stilled. The band played God Save the King, and at the sound living and dead sprang to their feet and sahited. As the last strains died away the spectators cheered and cheered again this magnificent display of smartness, dexterity, intelligence and forethought. Theatrical :: may have been, but it was a grand spectacle, well worthy of the eulogy which the specta-tors unstintingly bestowed upon it. After this there was a drive through the dockyard, but it is to be feared that the guests were too delighted and excited by the thrilling display they had just witnessed to pay much attention to the features of the great naval arsenal. The visitors returned to London at 7 o'clock, well pleased and been seen. GEDMAN EITTERNESS

GERMAN BITTERNESS.

GERMAN BITTERNESS. GERMAN BITTERNESS. Berlin, June 13.—One result of Lon-don's Imperial Press Conference is an unsistakable sharpening of the tension which the controversy about naval arm-aments has introduced into Anglo-German relations. The speech delivered by Admiral Von Koester before the German Navy League and in the Presence of Prince Henry of Prus-sia, was in substance a declaration tha' an understanding with Great Britain on the question of limiting ar-maments was an impossible proposi-tion, which Germany could not, in any circumstances, consider without permanently endangering its prestige and independence in commerce. Prac-tically the entire official press and many newspapers which are unofficial have now emphatically endorsed this sentiment, some with wildly contemptu-ous references to Britain's "attack of merves," others in a truculent spirit. The Kreuz Zeitung, for instance, after declaring that, according to the British view, the whole world is simply the British sphere of interest, begs to remud the British that the Germans are the British sphere of interest, begs to remad the British that the Germans are the "descendants of the people who or crushed the Roman world-empire ruins

THINKS THE COLONIES IN A PANIC THINKS THE COLONIES IN A PANIC. Berlin, June 13.—The press continues to publish angry comments on the Im-perial Press Conference. The Vissische Zeitung believes the "speeches of incite-ment delivered to the conference were nitended to promote the policy of closer union of the Empire." The Neueste Xachrichten ridicules the statement that the speeches were not panicky. The Kreuz Zeitung says: "It is probable that the delegates will agitate for Im-perialism with all their strength after returning home. The speeches delivered on Friday prove beyond a doubt that the nervous agitation which we have ob-served with anxiety in England has been extended to Buitish overseas dominions."
