

The Longing.

BY MANY ELIZABETH BLAKE.

The green is on the grass and the blue is in the sky, And the soft wet winds of April hurry by; The brown Earth laughs aloud to the waves upon the shore,— But I'm sighing for the land I shall never see more.

Kaiser in State Calls on Pope.

Press cablegrams from Rome give the following description of Emperor William's visit to his Holiness Pope Leo XIII. on a recent Sunday. Unlike the simplicity of King Edward in his visit to the Pope, that of the Kaiser was attended by much display. Fifteen carriages were required for the use of his Majesty and his suite.

of a slight to the Pope. This time, however, Emperor William returned from the Vatican to the Prussian Legation accredited to the Holy See, where he changed carriages, his cuirassiers remaining at the Legation. This course is supposed to imply that his Majesty wished to pay particular deference to the feelings of the Vatican. There was another new departure during this visit of the Emperor. Previously Cardinal Rampolla had returned the imperial visit to the Vatican at the Prussian Legation and found only the Prussian Minister. Sunday, however, Emperor William waited at the Legation, received the Cardinal most cordially and had a long conference with him.

The Catholic Sick Room.

In a series of interesting articles by the Rev. J. F. Spain, S. J., published in "The Cross," of Halifax, N. S., a writer says of newly-born— "If a child at its birth seems to be already in danger of death, send without delay for a priest. In the meantime, be on the watch, and if you think it actually dying, take some water, cold or warm, and while pouring a few spoonful on its head, say the words: "I baptize thee in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

It has been truthfully said that any disturbance of the even balance of health causes serious trouble. Nobody can be too careful to keep this balance up. When people begin to lose appetite, or to get tired easily, the least impudence brings on sickness, weakness or debility. The system needs a tonic, craves it, and should not be denied it; and the best tonic of which we have any knowledge is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What this medicine has done in keeping up the even balance of health, gives it the same distinction as a preventive that it enjoys as a cure. Its early use has illustrated the wisdom of the old saying that a stitch in time saves nine. Take Hood's for appetite, strength and endurance.

Peculiarities of Making Wills.

Scores of people, otherwise well-meaning and of sound business judgment, when the task of making their wills confront them, either display great weakness of mind or indulge in unnecessary recriminations in regard to their children or life-long friends which is deplorable. A case before the New York courts reported in the "Herald" of that city furnishes some peculiar evidence on that point. The report says: "Thoroughly surprised was H. Guido Reitzenstein, of No. 310 Carroll Street, Brooklyn, to find in the will of his lifelong friend and partner a clause denouncing him as a man too selfish to buy a craps hand for his hat when that friend's wife died. The will, that of Adolph Augustus Strohn, who died in the Hotel S. George last October, was proved by Sorrogate Church on December 29 of last year, but the peculiar phrase relating to Mr. Reitzenstein was not noticed by any but the immediate friends until yesterday.

It is believed by the friends of both men that Strohn, having written his resentment in his will, forgot all about it in the later years of his life, as the old friendship between the men seemed as strong as ever. In fact, Strohn was buried from the house of Mr. Reitzenstein. Mr. Strohn left several thousand dollars to distant relatives. He said in his will, which he made on May 15, 1893, just after his wife's death: "It is impossible for me to give the exact amount of how much I leave, as I have been speculating all my life and may do the same henceforth.

"As my former partner is a rich man, besides mean, greedy, selfish in every respect toward the whole world, except his own wife and children, and as he is aware that my wife has given direct or through me thousands of dollars into his family, and has not been disturbed in his pleasures one minute, has not shown after my wife's death the slightest feeling of respect for her, has not shown to the world around that she felt with me a kind of natural sympathy in my bereavement, not even spent seventy-five cents for a crepe band around his hat, therefore H. Guido Reitzenstein, in Brooklyn, shall be excluded from any benefit of my testament."

Mr. Reitzenstein and Mr. Strohn retired from the tobacco business some fourteen years ago, after thirty eight years of partnership. There had never been a break in their friendship since they first met and they crossed ocean from Germany on the same ship. "We never had a hard word," said Mr. Reitzenstein. "I did not wear crepe for his wife for the same reason I did not wear it when my own wife died three years ago. I did not believe in it. It is not true that Strohn gave money to my family. He did spend some on one of my relatives, but we did not ask him to do so. I felt very much hurt when my lawyer, Frank Mott, read what he had written in his will."

"We think Mr. Strohn must have forgotten all about what he wrote in his will," said Mr. Reitzenstein's son. "He had written instructions to us as to where we would find his will and papers in case of his death, and when he died my father got from his safe deposit vault the will in which this odd clause was."

BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, blood must have blood food and so on through the list.

Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment for soft bones in children. Little doses everyday give the stiffness and shape that healthy bones should have. Bow legs become straighter, loose joints grow stronger and firmness comes to the soft heads.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it. In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood. Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto, Ont. Price 25 cents.

It stops that tickling in the throat, is pleasant to take and soothing and healing to the lungs. Mr. E. Bishop Brand, the well-known Galt gardener, writes:—I had a very severe attack of sore throat and tightness in the chest. Some times when I wanted to cough and could not I would almost choke to death. My wife got me a bottle of DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP, and to my surprise I found speedy relief. I would not be without it if it cost $100 a bottle, and I can recommend it to everyone bothered with a cough or cold. Price 25 Cents.
