DEPTH CHARGE INVENTOR.

LONDON, Jan. 19. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency) .-The Express naval correspondent states that the inventor of the depth charge, which was one of the most effective inventions of the war, was an Englishman named H. J. Taylor, who was formerly an instructor in notor car engineering at the Battersea Polytechnic. At the beginning of the war, he saw some submarines manoeuvering off the Isle of Wight, when the idea of a water bomb occurred to him. He worked on it till the following May and then submitted a) scheme to the Admiralty. Six weeks later, successful trials were made of his invention, whose deadliness soon became notorious.
