Small 12

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)

Codfish.—The export of dry codfish this week from St. John's and the Outports were very much below a week's average and totalled only 12,250 quintals, as follows: From Outports—1,000 quintals from Port Union shipped by the Union Export Co., per schr. Hattie A. Hickman, to Oporto; From St. John's—By schr. "Over the Top", 2,248 quintals from Messrs. Bawring Bros., Ltd., for Bahia; 2,490 qts. by the Monroe Export Co., in the schr. Azores; 2,000 for Pernambuco; and by the Rosalind for New York for trans-shipment, 3,331 qts.

Cod Oil.—Small shipments are going forward to New York and Boston every outgoing steamer to these destinations, but there is no life in the Cod Oil market. The Export Tax on this oil, which is $5.00 per ton makes it hard in these times of low markets. By the Canadian Sapper, this week, 2,895 gallons were sent out by Job Bips, and the Rosalind took 15,383 gallons from different shippers, making a total from St. John's since New Year, about 1,578 tons roundly, against 1,300 tons this date last year.

Codliver Oil.—There is no improvement in the foreign markets. Prices have gone to such a low ebb that it is really too far below the cost of production for the average dealer to continue the business. It is only a few manufacturers in favored localities that can now run this business themselves without paying wages to helpers that can hope to make it pay. We hear that refiners are petitioning the Government to remove the export tax on Codliver Oil, which is four cents per gallon on shipments, or over $10.00 per ton.

Pork.—The imports of Pork are very slack these days and only 40 barrels arrived by the Rosalind, this week, a sufficient indication of a poor demand, even though the trade is right in the middle of the supplying season for the Pork. This is certified by the fact that the planters and fishermen are buying on strictly economic lines this season, and are to a large extent substituting beef which is 10 to 15 cents cheaper than pork. The following is a cablegram received by a leading pork importer this week from New York: "Pork market continues inactive with export demand very limited and domestic enquiries moderate." The shortage in St. John's imports is 2,408 lbs. as compared with last year. The quotations are: Morris Family, $28.00; Ham Butt, $27.00, and Family, Mess. (Rib) $45.00 per barrel, wholesale.

Beef.—The imports of Beef by s.s. Rosalind this week were 675 barrels. The market continues dull and steady at last week's quotations. It is believed by importers that a still further gradual lowering of prices will supervene throughout the summer as the accumulations are still large at packing centres and the export demand is poor. There is no factor in the outlook to warrant an expectation of any activity in the demand during the summer, and the feeling amongst the trade is one of confidence that low prices will rule all the season. The St. John's imports to date since New Year are 6,378 barrels, showing a shortage of 4,432 barrels as against last year at this date. The local quotations are: Libby's Special Family and Bos Flank, $29.00; Family, $28.00, and Boneless, $22.00 per barrel, wholesale.

Flour.—There was a serious scarcity of flour in town the early days of this week, and planters and schooner masters waiting to proceed to the wharves had great "scraping," as one of them expressed it, to supply their requirements by picking up a few barrels here and there to make up their total. Many schooners had to wait till yesterday to get their flour from the "Winona" which arrived in port Thursday from Montreal. In closing wheat came by the Sabie I, and some consignments due next Monday. It is thought that there will be enough in to supply the immediate requirements. Leading brands are selling at $13.50 per barrel, wholesale.

Molasses.—The schr. Marjory Mahaffey, the fourth to arrive here with new molasses this season, came in from Barbados this week with 304 puncheons, 54 barrels and 100 half-barrels to Messrs. Harvey & Co., Ltd., and Ayre & Sons, Ltd. The quotation for Fancy Molasses in the local market this week is 80 cents; Choice, 70c. per gallon wholesale in puncheons (old). The total imports since the season for new imports opened is 1,772 puncheons as compared with 3,042 this date last year. The Regal Moore and the Dazila are on the way from Barbados with cargoes and the Hazel Trashy is there loading.

Sugar.—The sugar market is unchanged and quotations stand at last week's figures, viz. $42.50 per 100 lb. wholesale and 35 to 35 1/2 cents per pound retail. The Rosalind brought in 1,350 barrels of American White Granulated. It is estimated that the total quantity now in stock here including what has been distributed, about 7,000 barrels, together with the local imports will suffice for all the local needs till late in July. It is the opinion of most importers that the present prices will rule all summer. The imports are 21,744 hundredweight as against 44,421 this date last year.

Potatoes.—Prices are unchanged. There is a good stock of P.E.I.'s in selling at $9.30 to $9.50 per sack of 100 lbs. Contrary to expectation, there were very little home-grown offering this week. Very few of the schooners that arrived from Bonaville had any. Disappointed after holding all winter for a big price, they prefer to keep them for themselves rather than sell at $3.00 in St. John's. The imports this week were 168 sacks by the Sabie I.

Hay.—The market is unchanged and the local quotations stand at $43 per ton and $45 by the single bale. Cables received from Western Canada this week indicate that there will likely be no change in prices till new crop comes on the market. Sales here are slow since grazing time began. The importations by the Sabie I last trip amounted to 3,287 bales so that the market is well supplied.

Oats.—There was a great scarcity of oats in the local market all the week and only for the arrival of 2,244 sacks by the Sabie I. There would have been an absolute oat famine. These were quickly absorbed and the market is again almost bare. Prices have stiffened up in Western Canada with an increase of four to five cents a bushel or twenty cents each. Mixed oats now quoted in the local market at $5.50 to $5.70; White, $3.70 to $3.90; Black—none in the market.

Feeds.—All feeds show a slight tendency upwards this week owing to the advance in the corn market, which on Wednesday showed an increase of five to seven cents per sack. The local demand is slack as the live stock can now get fresh green grass on the grazing lands.

Dried Fruits.—The dried fruit market is very strong in nearly all lines. It seems to be back to pre-war days when it fluctuated a few cents every week. Raisins are very strong and scarce, and it is expected that supplies will be short of the demand. Evaporated Apples have advanced one cent per lb. and all dealers are in a strong position with a more active demand.

Gambo County Mill Owner Gets Over Serious Trouble

Middlebrook Lumberman Deceived He'd Have to Quit, But Gets Help Just in Time.

"When a man gets over eight years as he ever did in his life it is time for him to speak out and that's the reason I am taking 'Tangle,'" said Allen L. Fritchett, a well-known mill owner and lumberman of Middlebrook, Gambo County, N.F.

"I used to suffer agonies after eating, no matter how careful I was. Neither medicine nor dieting reached any case, and I kept going down hill steadily till I got to the point where I had to lay off work for weeks at a time and I began to think it wasn't long before I would have to quit altogether.

"I thought that what everything else I had tried for eight years failed to do, I am as hungry as a bear at meal times, eat anything I want and never have a trace of indigestion. I gained weight and strength until I feel like a new man. I have even gotten rid of headaches that used to bother me a good deal. 'Tangle' did a hundred per cent. job for me and I am strong for it."

The Home of Good Shoes. 218 & 220 Water St.

When Two Were Not a Pair.

The sportsman of the Middle Ages had almost need of a glossary. Thus there was said to be a pride of lions; a leop of leopards; a horde of harts; a berry of roses; a sligh of hags; a singular of hogs; a scouler of wild swine; a doyt of tame swine; a route of wolves; a barras of hoppers; a rag of colts; a stud of mares; a pace of asses; a barren of mules; a team of oxen; a drove of kine; a flock of sheep; a tribe of goats; a skulk of foxes; a cote of hangers; a hush or down of hares; a nest of rabbits; a chowder of cats; and a kladle of young ones; a shrewdness of asses; and a labour of moles.

Even when the animals had gone to bed one had to be careful. One couldn't pass the matter of lilies we did in the Army by saying that they'd "packed up for the night." A hart was said to be haroured, a buck lodged, a roebuck bedded, a hare farmed, a rabbit set.

Some of the plural terms have remained. We still speak of a mule of hounds, a litter of whelps, and a cow-ardice of curs.

This descriptive phraseology was not confined to birds and beasts. It extended to men and things.

There were a state of princes; a skulk of friars; a skulk of thieves; an observance of hermits; a subltite of sergeants; a safeguard of porters; a stalk of foresters; a blast of hunters; a draught of butlers; a temperance of cooks; a melody of harpers; a potency of pipers; a drunkenness of cobblers; a disgrunting of tailors; a wandering of tinkers; a fighting of beggars; a ragal (a careful) of knaves (nothing to do with a "fall house" in poker); a blush of boys; a bevy of ladies; a somptuence of wives; a scule of women, and a scule of asses.
