Doctors say that a low melting point is essential to a fat's ready digestibility. From a test made with Crisco and 37 different shortenings gathered from all parts of the United States, it was found that none of these fats had so low a melting point as Crisco.

HOW DO THEY LAUGH?

When you are found to be in the wrong and people have the laugh on you how do they laugh? Is there a measure of friendly sympathy in their laugh? A kind of camaraderie, an "I've been caught myself" tone in it? Or is it all triumph? Do they seem to like to rub it in as much as possible? Of course the quality of laughter will vary somewhat with the person who laughs.

But do not forget that it will also vary somewhat with the person whom they laugh at.

He Made Them Malicious.

When a person who is never in the wrong (according to his way of thinking) who is rightfully positive, who is always trying to put other folks in the wrong and rub it into them, puts himself plainly in the wrong or in a ridiculous light, he is always greeted with an outburst of the suppressed emotion which he himself has aroused.

Naturally he smarts painfully under this malice of triumph and writhes mentally when they rub it in. But the smart should, like most of nature's pains, be regarded as a warning.

It Means Something.

It means something. It means that he himself has been so positive, so cocksure, so exasperating in his rightness, that he has made people feel that way toward him.

It means that he can well afford to modify his manner a bit, to say, "I think" now and then, instead of making a positive statement every time; to concede "perhaps you may be right" now and then to an opponent in argument; to admit, "of course it's partly a matter of opinion" sometimes. And even once a year or so, to say those dreaded words, "I see that I was wrong."

Why She Is Virulent.

I know a man who claims that his wife is the most virulent "I told you so"-er in the world. Some of the people who know them both can understand just how much a clear chance to say "I told you so" to him must mean, and do not wonder that she is somewhat virulent about it. For he is one of those people who will wriggle and squirm out of any situation where he would appear to be in the wrong.

Not that we don't all do that. But some do it more than others. And it is they who, when they give occasion for laughter, feel a keen edge of malice in it.

Like the keen edge of the east wind, it has a warning in it. Let them beware that warning if they value the affection of their friends.

Last Night's Lecture

AT B. I. S. CLUB ROOMS.

A large audience was present at the B.I.S. club rooms, last night, and heard a very enjoyable lecture delivered by Mr. Robert J. Power, under the title of "Recollections." Introduced by the chairman, Mr. J. C. Pippy, Mr. Power began an address that to the older people brought back tender memories of the happy days gone by, and to the younger element, told a story of much interest. The lecturer dealt with the period from 1879 up to the present and in the humorous manner, for which he is noted, he told first of the school systems of that date and compared them with those existing to-day. He spoke of the business houses along Water Street and of their methods which at this time seem so ancient, and he drew a comparison of the Fire Brigade of then and the modern equipment of to-day. The enjoyable times spent in the "Barrens" were spoken of in a manner which brought his hearers back many years and his description of the old cricket matches made many regret that this good old game is now a past number in this country. The Regatta was also referred to and much merriment was created by the account of the many comical things that happened, especially in connection with the "greasy pole" and the "greasy pig." The lecture from beginning to end was a worthy effort and the audience showed by the applause with which they punctuated the address that they thoroughly appreciated it.

At the close a vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. H. Dee and was carried by acclamation. The singing of the National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close.

Colored Snow*CAUSES ALARM AMONG JAPANESE PEASANTRY.

TOKIO, April 11.—A fall of "yellow snow" is reported from Niigata, on the northwest coast of Japan. The inhabitants of the region are much disturbed, considering the phenomenon an omen of evil import, but scientists have an explanation.

They believe that clouds of the yellow dust from the Gobi desert, which frequently are driven over China and are especially well known in Peking, have been carried across the Sea of Japan in snowclouds. Old inhabitants of the Niigata district recall that half a century ago there was a fall of "red snow" in that region.

Appalling conditions under which two children existed earned for their parents the maximum punishment at Nottingham—Percy Richard Brewis, 53, Brewer's drayman, and his wife, who is 46, were charged with wilfully neglecting two girls, aged 15 and 11. The elder girl, it was stated, only looked about 10. The food in the house was not fit for human consumption, while the floors had not been washed for weeks. Brewis, who, it was mentioned, had 22 lbs. 6d. a week and a cottage to live in, received an excellent character from his employers.—The Chief Constable pressed the case, and accused were both sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

ON CHILDREN OF YOKOHAMA.

YOKOHAMA, Japan, March 7 (A.P.).—The youth of Japan will feel the effects of the great earthquake of last September for many years and in many ways.

New evidence of this has been disclosed by a physical examination made recently of the school children of Yokohama. It was found that the earthquake had afflicted 577 children with "night blindness," or inability to see after nightfall even in the best artificial light.

Physical deterioration after the quake was found to be general. Of about 33,000 children examined fully 3 per cent. were anemic.
