

"Printing Isn't Expensive If You Pay Enough For It"

The task which business stationery has to perform is to convey a message. That is its primary purpose. But it has another. It should convey an atmosphere—a personality—which identifies the business it represents, and it should convey that atmosphere or personality so convincingly, so pleasingly, so substantially, that it makes the same kind of favourable impression that a good salesman or a fine office does.

Business stationery which fails in this particular is too expensive to use, because it is not doing the whole job. That's why printing isn't expensive if you pay enough for it.

We have lately installed an embossing machine which produces beautiful glossy or dull relief work on plain type printing that defies actual die or plate embossing in appearance.

A trial order will convince you of its excellence.

YESTERDAY'S LATE CABLES

AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT MAJORITY 27.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 16. The Government leads in the Senate elections in all States of the Commonwealth by an aggregate vote of one hundred and forty-nine thousand votes to 147,000. As far as can be learned from incomplete returns, the House of Representatives will consist of 37 Nationalists, 24 Laborites, and 14 members of the Country Party, giving the Coalition Government of Nationalists and Country Party a majority of 27 in the new House. Labor lost five seats to the Nationalists.

NINE OF CREW OF U.S. CUTTER PERISH IN SAILBOAT.

SHELBOURNE, N.S. Nov. 16. Nine members of the crew of the United States coastguard cutter Morrill perished in the storm-lashed waters of the harbor here this evening, when the 26-foot sailboat in which they were returning to their ship capsized half a mile from shore. One man, C. Taylor, engineer, second class, managed to reach shore three hours after the accident. The Morrill, which was en route from the Great Lakes to Boston to lay up for the winter, had been lying off Sandy Point, five miles from here, for several days, and the ten members of the crew had been on shore leave.

THE DOMINIONS AND THE LOCARNO PACT.

LONDON, Nov. 15. Austen Chamberlain asked in the House of Commons to-day as to the Dominions becoming parties to the Locarno Pact, asked that the Questioner await the debate on the Peace Pact on Wednesday. Ramsay MacDonald asked that papers be produced covering the attitude of the Dominions toward the Pact.

DEBT FUNDING ARRANGEMENTS WITH FRANCE STILL EFFECTIVE.

LONDON, Nov. 15. The first day of Parliament was uneventful. Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced that the debt funding arrangements made with M. Cailleteau, former French Finance Minister, are considered to be still effective.

British Government Stability

At a time when much is heard of the dangers of a Communist upheaval in Great Britain, there is an air of obstinate stability about His Majesty's Government which other European administrations may well envy. So much brotherly love was generated at Locarno that it comes as a shock to the average British observer to see within a week a French Government tottering, a German Government hedged round with party difficulties which may obstruct its signature of the Pact, and the Council of the League of Nations hastily summoned to deal with the war activities of two Balkan states. While, however, the French position is so tense that a Cabinet Minister bleeds at the nose and a gentleman calls at the Ministry of War to exhibit a machine for meeting the Budget deficit, British ministers quickly pursue the usual autumn campaign in the country, with the exception of the Foreign Minister who has crossed the Channel once more on a peace errand. On November 16 the British Parliament will have its opportunity to confront the Government with the accumulated grievances of a fourteen weeks' recess. Will this produce haemorrhage on the Treasury Bench? It is unlikely.

Question of Prince's Visit to Ireland Revived

DUBLIN, Nov. 15.—The question as to when the Prince of Wales is likely to make his long contemplated visit to the Irish Free State has been revived here. The belief prevails that in all probability he may be expected early next year, although no official announcement has yet been made on the subject.

In connection with his visit the question is also being discussed as to how far the heir apparent to the British throne may be utilized for international considerations. Apart from the prospective visit to Ireland, it is thought here that if the Locarno pact is ratified, the British government may consider it advisable before a very great while that he also should pay a visit to Germany.

RONALD O'TOOLE WINNER OF 5-MILE RACE.

Hawbold, the Canadian, came second. New Local Record Established. Ronald O'Toole, Newfoundland's champion distance runner, successfully defended his title at the Prince's Rink last night, when he defeated Jimmie Hawbold, of Westville, N.S., by 150 yards, in a 5-mile race. Gower Stone, who made a plucky effort to hold the champion, finished third, closely followed by Clifford Stone, fourth, and Jake Ralph, fifth. John Bell, the veteran, was unable to compete, as he was suffering from a cold. Long before the hour of starting, the spacious arena was filled with an enthusiastic audience, and when Hawbold, the Canadian runner, appeared on the track, upwards of 2,000 people were ready to give him a real Newfoundland welcome. The C.C.C. Band, in attendance, played "The Maple Leaf." The local runners, viz. Ron O'Toole, Gower Stone, Jake Ralph and Clifford Stone, followed almost immediately, and each received a splendid ovation, while the band struck up "The Banks of Newfoundland." The race was started by Mr. S. P. Cullen, and at the crack of the pistol O'Toole took the lead, with Gower Stone, C. Stone, Hawbold and Ralph, in the order named. For the first few rounds all five competitors kept close together, but at the eighth lap O'Toole quickened, with Gower Stone right on his heels, and the two gradually moved away from the other three. At the end of the first mile O'Toole crossed over in the splendid time of 5 min. 7 sec., with Gower Stone running at his heels, followed by Hawbold, seven yards to the rear. Clifford Stone kept close to the Canadian and Ralph was slightly behind the last named runner. According as the race progressed, a feature of which was the splendid running of all five competitors. Drawing into the third mile O'Toole was still hitting a fast clip, and gradually moved away from Gower Stone, his nearest contender. Hawbold and Clifford Stone, at this stage of the race, kept plodding along and at the 3 1/2 mile they both passed G. Stone, and gave chase to O'Toole. The champion, however, increased his speed, if anything, and set out to lap Hawbold, which he was successful in accomplishing, just before the completion of the third mile. Hawbold then gave chase to O'Toole, when they repassed each other several times for the next eight rounds. When the bell went for the fourth last lap, O'Toole, running strong, made slight gains on the Canadian, and with a pretty burst of speed to the tape he crossed over the winner, fully one hundred and fifty yards in advance of the Canadian, who also made a splendid finish for second place. The fight for third place was pretty tight between the

Taxation in the Channel Islands

The Channel Islands enjoy an enviable immunity from taxation, and are much favoured as a place of residence by Government pensioners and people with moderate unearned incomes. It has for some time been felt that the Islands might reasonably contribute to the British Exchequer in respect of the payment of War-Pensions, but the position is difficult, because, although owing allegiance to the Crown since the days of the Normans, the Channel Islands are not directly answerable to the British Government. A committee of the Privy Council has been talking things over with the Islanders, but without any very definite result. An offer was made of a gift of half a million sterling in full settlement, but the Privy Council's counter-proposal provided for the payment of £50,000 a year for forty years, and this the Islanders are by no means disposed to accept. They maintain, with some reason, that any substantial increase of their income tax, which is only a few pence in the £1 (compared with our 4s.), and which was imposed principally on account of war expenditure, or of the wine and spirit and tobacco taxes, which at present are negligible, would drive abroad to France, Italy and Spain the considerable British colony which now enjoys their hospitality and contributes to the prosperity. The Committee were received with the greatest cordiality in the Islands, and everywhere were given proof of the loyalty of the Islanders and their appreciation of the great burden which the British people had shouldered as a result of the war. Neither Jersey nor Guernsey is against contribution; the discussion has been narrowed down to a measurement of the economic strength of the Islands and what would be a fair sum for them to pay.

ASHRIDGE PARK

It looks as if Lord Brownlow's great park at Ashridge, near Berkhamstead, might become the property of the nation. The place is so famous, and so accessible to London, that it should be comparatively easy to raise funds for its purchase. During the war it was a centre of training, and very many thousands of men have pleasant recollections of the months spent in its green glades. The house itself is a vast ugly barrack of Strawberry Hill Gothic, and in no way worth preserving; but the park is one of the most beautiful things of its kind in England, for it stretches up hill and down dale in the best part of the Chilterns, and is entirely unspoiled, so that the visitor to-day, can look upon the old England as it existed when Queen Elizabeth held midsummer revels at Ashridge. It is full of historical and literary memories, and not the least is that it includes Ivinghoe Beacon, from which Bunyan, a dweller in the plain of Bedford, drew the Delectable Mountains. It used to be famous for its enormous park deer, and many Scotch forests have had their stocks renewed by Ashridge stags. The effort to secure Ashridge for the nation raises the whole question of the future of the great estates, and especially the parks. No one wants to buy vast manors in which even a millionaire cannot afford to live to-day, and it is likely that these houses will become the quarries from which a multitude of smaller houses will be built, as the Tudor manors were largely built from the ruins of

Wealthy Tax-Dodgers

SIR H. CHAIR'S HOPE OF MAKING THEM PAY.

A strong public feeling exists that the law should be so altered as to reach the pockets of wealthy tax-dodgers.

Dealing with tax-dodgers who live at Jersey, Sir Henry Craik, M.P. for the Scottish Universities, said that although they are a source of profit to certain tradespeople, the high prices which have followed their patronage are disadvantageous to the rest of the inhabitants.

No agreement had yet been reached with the island authorities, he added, but he hoped that this would ultimately prove possible, and that the tax-dodgers would be compelled to bear their proper share of the national burdens.

The attitude adopted by the United States is advanced by many people as the proper one. An American is liable to pay his taxes to the United States exchequer, no matter in what part of the world he may elect to reside, if he wishes to maintain his rights as an American citizen.

Further, the United States authorities take good care that their taxpayers do not leave the country until they have settled their inland revenue accounts. Nor is it easy for an American living abroad to become lost to the revenue authorities at home. As soon as he appears at his consulate and asks for a visa he is requested to fill up an income-tax declaration, which is forwarded to the United States.
