The Government Comes to Rykert's Rescue-The Debate Adjourned Till Monday.

OTTAWA, Tuesday, March 11. In the House of Commons to-day the whole session was taken up with the consideration of the charges against Mr. Charles Rykert, the member for Lincoln. Sir Richard Cartwright was the first speaker. [The full text of Sir Richard's resolution affairs on another page]. He condemned the wholesale jobbery and waste of public property carried on under this administration. He held the Government responsible for the encouragement of such scandalous transactions as that which has responsible for the encouragement of such candalous transactions as that which has involved the member for Lincoln in utter and irremediable disgrace. He was not wholly concerned to direct the judgment of Parliament and the condemnation of the country against Mr. Rykert. He sought as well to focus popular indignation upon the system which has produced the crop of scandals which has reduced the country and degraded the moral tone of the people. He argued that the clear duty of the Government was to take the matter into their own hands and the clear duty of the Government was to take the matter into their own hands and deal with Mr. Rykert. He declared that if Parliament was not to become a happy hunting ground for needy and unscrupulous adventurers the offense proved against Mr. Rykert must be sternly condemned. He deplored the demoralization which had been brought on the country by a corrupt fiscal system and corrupt Administration. He happily described the discoveries affecting Rykert in the language of Carlyle, as "a glimpse at the working of Satan's invisible world," and this single transaction he declared was but a peak on a mountain range of undiscovered but not undeveloped rascality. He brought Mr. Rykert face to face with his conduct in a striking way when he read his statement in Looking upon the honorable member as a trustee, such an act is a deliberate fraud, and I say here, and I think my legal friends on that side as well as on this will agree with me, that had this been a transaction between an ordinary trustee and his wards, any court of inquiry on earth under the circumstances would have compelled the honorable member to refund every farthing of the $200,000, with compound interest to his wards. I lay down those propositions, by which I am willing to be judged, by which I propose to judge the honorable gentleman. In the first evidence in mitigation of his offense, if the matter were referred to a committee.

Sir John Thompson rose to defend his colleagues against Sir Richard's charges, which he characterized as wide of the resolutions. He said he was not here to defend Mr. Rykert or to apologize for a single expression in his extraordinary correspondence, but he understood him to appeal for an opportunity to be further heard, asserting that he had evidence to submit that had not been laid before the House. He did not now wish to enter upon a discussion of the merits of this correspondence or to indicate what his personal vote would be, but moved that the debate be now adjourned to give the member for Lincoln a better opportunity to produce evidence in his own defense.

Hon. David Mills met the old charge of Mr. Rykert that the Mackenzie Government had made a questionable lease of timber limits to Mr. Hugh Sutherland and Mr. H. H. Cook, and showed that the conditions were very different, that then lumber men could not be induced to go into the Territories, that lumber was an enormous price and settlement was retarded, that the grant to Mr. Cook and Mr. Sutherland was guarded about with the most stringent.

Hon. David Mills met the old charge of Mr. Rykert that the Mackenzie Government had made a questionable lease of timber limits to Mr. Hugh Sutherland and Mr. H. H. Cook, and showed that the conditions were very different, that then lumber ment and settlement was retarded, that the grant to Mr. Cook and Mr. Sutherland was guarded about with the most stringent provisions, that they were legitimate lumbermen, that the action of the Mackenzie Government was in the interest of settlement, and that the Macdonald Government afterward granted the same limits to political speculators. Mr. Mills pleaded with Parliament not to encourage a more distrustful state of public opinion, and to vote honest condemnation of the scandalous transaction of which Mr. Rykert stood convicted before the people.

Mr. Peter White hinted that it was his convicted before the people.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarth, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emeciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarth. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstimate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.
