Giants' Continued Fall Encourages Second and Third Place Teams.

EARLY LEAD HELPED

Giants Slipping.

The champions hope to survive the emainder of the month, but they realize that they are not the invin-cible combinations which romped away from their rivals earlier in the It was that early season lead that saved them. They are like the bear that eats his hide bursting full of fat and then goes into a cave to think it over. He survives the win-ter, but he comes out a leaner and more thoughtful bear. The Giants are decidedly leaner and more thoughtful.

Had there been a team in their league that possessed skill, dash, foresight and grit, that had young men to score, with occasional older men to hit, and that would snap back at the Giants, they would not be where they are today. But knowing their weakness-for they do know it and speak of it—the Giants stand up day after day and give seven miration because it is one of sheer Dempsey Failed To Retire After Knockdowns, and Hit As Lui Breaking-Push Sent Dempsey Through Ropes, Not Blow, As Claimed.

By WILBUR WOOD. Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Sept. 17.—A private showing of the Dempsey-Firpo fight pictures last night showed that Firpo was knocked down seven times in the first round and twice in the second, that Dempsey slipped to his knees apparently without being hit when he missed his first punch, a left hook for the body, that the champion ship race of the circuit. By September 1 they had skidded 18 points to 625. Today they are down to 617. Backed against the wall, hanging on by their fingernails, the Giants seemingly cannot climb. Can they be kicked farther down the hill? That's what is worrying them.

ingly cannot climb. Can they be kicked farther down the hill? That's what is worrying them.

Should they slide as far in the closing days of the season as they have since August 1, the second club, Cincinnati, would have to pick up but three points to beat them, while the third team, Pittsburg, would need to add but five points to land at the head of the list.

The most cheering thought for the Giants is the fact that while they cannot climb in the percentage column, Cincinnati and Pittsburg likewise apparently cannot. So they round into the home stretch with but four full games separating the leaders from the runners-up and four and a half games between them and third place, Pittsburg.

BROWNIES TO CLASH WITH ALL-STAR TEAM

Y. W. C. A. Executive Arranges Post-Season Softball Tid-Bit.

At a largely-attended meeting of the team representatives of the Y. W. C. A. Softball League, held last night at the Y. W. C. A. it was decided to bring the local girls' season to an appropriate close with an exhibition winners of the league, and an all-star team composed of the pick of the remaining teams. The series will consist of at least two games, with a third in the case of a deadlock.

The games will be played at the armories, the first to be staged next Monday night and the second the following Friday. The umpires for the series were chosen, and will consist of the following: J. B. M. Ferguson, William Blay and E. R. Dennis, Jun.

That the all-star team will actually be an all-star team will actually be an all-star team was guaranteed, as as good as the Giants of 1919 were.
Pittsburg has slumped again. For three years the team has not been without championship possibilities, but it does not grab them. It threw be selected, and it was expressed at away one pennant. There is no doubt the meeting that such a selection should offer local softball fans a team the meeting that such a selection should offer local softball fans a team that will be surprisingly formidable.

The series bids fair to rival the popularity of ladies' basketball in this city, in other years ladies' softball drew crowds that put the men's game oftentimes to shame; but ladies' basketball in the last two years knew no precedent locally in the matter of attendance and interest. The coming softball series will be totally a matter of local interest, and, staged between the strong Brownies and a picked team that local experts claim will equal Brownies' strength and speed, fams are in for one of the season's treats.

A banquet, it was decided, will be tendered the league winners at a later date, when the White Cup will be presented to them. The meeting brought out one of the largest gatherings of team representatives that has yet attended, and, at that, it was really a post-season confab.

MAY REVIVE GUELPH'S THANKSGIVING RACE

Special to The Advertiser.

Guelph, Sept. 17.—There is a possibility that the Thanksgiving Day road races in Guelph, which were one of the chief athletic events in Western Ontario every fall, a few years ago, but which were discontinued when war broke out, will be revived. The chamber of commerce have received a number of inquiries from outsiders, asking about the races, and as there are a number in the city who are interested in the revival of them, the S. of C. arranged for a meeting of its sport committee to talk the hatter over and see if something cannot be done to put Guelph once more on the map as a racing center. When held before the war the local races were always largely attended and always successful.

ST. THOMAS C. I. TAKES UP SOCCER ONCE MORE

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Sept. 17.—Soccer will play an important part in the sporting life of the local collegiate institute during the coming season. The organization has taken place and the way paved for a record season. The officers elected for the coming year are: Jack Gilchrist, captain; Albert Sackville, manager; J. J. Marth., coach.

Practices are being held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday after school hours. The team will be selected in a couple of weeks, before which time a great amount of training must be carried out. Last year the team made a splendid record, and great things are expected again. It is hoped that the London collegiates go in for games, so that some real inter-city competitions may be staged.

LAWSON & JONES LOOP OPENS BOWLING SEASON

The local five-pin bowling season will be ushered in at the National Alleys tonight, when the Lawson & Jones teague opens its schedule at 8:30.

The bowlers will certainly have no fault to find with the alleys this season, as they have all been renovated, and high scores should continue to rule.

the fallen man to the cerner, possibly three feet away. He rushed as Firpo arose, but this time the Wild Bull backed up and covered and soon thereafter dropped the champion for a crouch with a righthander, Dempsey arising without a count.

It was after his seventh knockdown that Firpo caught Dempsey on the jaw with a terrific right that snapped his head back. Three more rights found the champion's head before he reached the ropes. As Dempsey leaned against the ropes Firpo landed four more times to the head with damaging punches, Dempsey being unable to protect himself. The fourth right that landed while the champion was on the ropes was a terrific clout and Dempsey's knees buckled. Jack sagged down, and as his head reached a position just below the topmost strand, Firpo half hit and half pushed him with a right to the face, sending him through the ropes.

Thirteen More Rights.

POTATOES IN CARADOC REPORTED GOOD CROP

Large Shipments to United States.

Rugby practice last night was like a four-ring circus with four balls in action, and each being chased around by a good sized squad of either junior or intermediate huskies. Buster Reid and Boyd Fisher checked over the four squads as they worked. A regular program will be laid down, regular coaches appointed this week, and then something to interest the rail birds should take place.

Last night even if there was little order to the proceedings, showed that plenty of enthusiasm has already been worked up. The intermediates are almost sure to go into the old grouping with Sarnia and Petrolia. The Janiors are faced with a number of interesting groupings, Woodstock being considered in one possible group.

Certain incidents in the past two weeks have started rumors in connection with the Caradoc potato the points have been looking over the crops in the district, and growers have been doking over the good news in Caradoc, and the numbers of crop prospectors who have visited the potato district during the last month lends weight to the rumor that the crop in the eastern states is not what was expected, in spite of fair crops reported from Ohio, Michligan and Indiana.

Last year the Caradoc growers were rather hard hit. The crop was not as large as had been anticipated, and the quality scarcely up to the Caradoc standard of excellence. Outside buyers were scarce, and very few carloads were sold to outside points. At no time during the season did the price rise to $1 per bag, and considering the fact that it was a short crop, the growers feel that they have need of better crops and better prices this winter. The crop, they say, is fine, and if the shortage in the States

Board of Education Will Make No Provision For New Construction.

No new public school buildings are contemplated for next year, according to a statement made to The Advertiser by Chief Inspector V. K.

Mr. Greer said that no provision would be made in the 1924 estimates for new schools, as the ones now in course of construction would be more than adequate to house the pupils, even though overcrowding were prevalent in some of the institutions

CONSERVATIVE LUTE

Growers Expect To Make Reports of Discord Come From Richmond Street Headquarters-Pow-Wow Planned.

There's another little row at Conervative , headquarters, and it threatens to assume serious proportions. In fact, the very life of the organization is reported in jeopardy, and a mass meeting of the faithful has been called for Friday night. Despite their successes in the last campaign, the boys at headquarters seem unable to heal that well-defined "breach." Ancient feuds refuse to be eliminated, and while old sores disappear, it is not for long. They break out again in fresh places-and worse than ever. The chief bone of contention at this moment is "to be or not to be." In other words, would the members be better advised to nail up their cluboom doors and hang up the "to let" sign until the next election, or should they keep going. The call to arms was sounded about two weeks ago. In fact two meetings were held, one as recently as Friday last. Nothing definite was accomplished at either, unless the adjourn could be accepted as an

Friday night next is set for the finale. The boys are coming out in full force. Both factions are sending strong contingents to battle for or strong contingents to battle for or against the proposed curtailment of official activities. It appears that the Dennisites were not any too well rep-resented at the former sessions. Assurance was given this morning that the big chief and a full quota of warriors will ride in for Friday's pow-

J. Cameron Wilson, president, is certainly earning his salt in his first term of office. It's one continual round of pleasure for the ex-mayor, who has been kept busy since before the last election "bridging the gaps." Just what will transpire Friday night cannot be forecasted, even by the closest observers. A record attendance is promised, however, and both sides predict victory.

One plan is to re-finance the association and reorganize on a grander and greater scale, was submitted at one of the recent sessions, but was received with mixed feelings. All the local Conservative celebri-ties are expected to be present Friday
