It does not say that the other banks have really come to the assistance of the Fed-eral, and have agreed to advance money sufficient to meet any calls that may be made on the head office to-day, or on its fourteen or fifteen branches throughout the province. The men who issued the above circular, however, are competent men and know what they are doing; but they should have taken the public more into their confidence, and should have given them some exact statement as to the liabilities of the bank and as to its assets. Still we are assured that the representatives of the Merchants' bank, the Ontario, the To it is reported, by the solicitor of the Federal and signed by them. If this is so, the bank ought to have no trouble in meeting any calls upon it. It is further stated by friends of the bank that telegrams have been sent to all the agencies of other banks in places where the Federal has branches in places where the Federal has branches to assist the Federal in every way.

Three millions of the assets of the bank is locked up, and cannot therefore be realized at present. Over a million and a third of this is in Manitoba, and a million in the Potts lumbar company. in the Potts lumber company.

The removal of Mr. Ingram is one of the principal topics of conversation. When he came up here on Thursday he was called into consultation by the board and told them plump and plain that he would do nothing unless given the general managership. In the funk the board then was they consented, and deposed Mr. Strathy without having made out a case against the latter. They got it into their heads that they had to make a change in the management, and they bowed to the dictamanagement, and they bowed to the dictation of Mr. Ingram; but when they began to go to other banks there seemed to be a want of confidence in Mr. Ingram, for what reason it could not exactly be learned. The true reason The World suspects to be this: that he was an out and out speculating banker, as distinguished from one who devoted his attention to legitimate banking. When he was appointed to the managership in Montreal, he was appointed for the very reason that he was an expert in dangerous banking, in that kind of banking which advances money on stocks and expects dangerous banking, in that kind of Danking which advances money on stocks and expects to make high profits thereby. Mr. Nord-being was warned at the time that Mr. Ingram was not the man to be entrusted with a safe business; but that if he wanted a high flyer Mr. Ingram was just the The clerks in the Toronto office as soon as them signed a round robin that they would not serve under him. And when his name was anthe other banks seemed to take no stock in it, and owing to the pressure they brought to bear on the directors, and the announcement that Mr. Ingram had not been successful in making certain arrangements whereby he hoped to raise money in Montreal, they summarily removed him and began negotiations with Mr. Yarker, the result being that the latter was made general manager at a salary of $15,000 a year manager manager manager at a salary of $15,000 a year manager ma one and forever if they are to get out of their present difficulties.

What course Mr. Yarker will pursue in regard to the future of the bank is not yet known. Doubtless he does not know himself, or he has not had an opportunity to look into the concern thoroughly to find out where it really stands. If he is a wise man he will wipe out the impaired capital of the bank, reduce the large accounts of some of its customers, and close any agencies that may prove unprofitable.

All the managers of the outside agencies of the Federal bank, about 14 in number, were called into the city on Saturday, and all responded with one exception. It is understood that in anticipation of a run at their several agencies each was furnished with a certain amount of specie and legal tender or orders on local agencies of other banks to take back with them in order to meet it.

Where Will the Stock Go? In an interview a large shareholder stake owing to the hard play that had taken place in the previous matches, and he said he was determined to have fair play and all avoidance of rough work. The game on Saturday was thoroughly vindicated: there was no rough play, and money left on Friday afternoon and they had no arrangement at that time with the other banks. If the other banks assist now it will be on a rediscounting by them of the best paper held by the Federal. So far as the stock is concerned no treal branch will be closed, and there will be important changes most likely in several of the agencies, new men being put in their places. There will also be changes in the personnel of the staff at the head office.

It is now admitted that the rest of the bank heretofore stated in the reports to to have been a million and a half, or 50 per cent. of the capital stock, is fictitious, and that the stock will have to be reduced one-third in order to put the bank on a sound oasis.

The following announcement was issued yesterday as an extra of the Telegram:

The following is official, and has been handed to us for publication by the committee of bankers:

"A meeting of the representatives of the best is and the was determined to have fair play and all avoidance of rough work. The holiday of Saturday was thoroughly vindicated: there was no rough play, and whenever the men were ordered to stop to settle any slight dispute, the command was obeyed.

From the Montreal Witness.

The present unsettled condition of our local stock market is awakening public interest in the question of stock speculation, and financiers are beginning to realize the vast quantities of stocks that are now being held on "margin" and carried on by our banks. Business men who for months have noticed the rates for money, quoted to them at seven per cent and to the stock gamblers at three and four per cent are now asking if the banks would not make more money by confining their loans to legitimate borrowers. The returns made to the government by the made to the government by the different banks show that on December 31, 1883, the city district savings bank of this city was carrying the following stocks for brokers: Bank of Montreal, 2874 shares; Merchants, 4396; Federal, 3354; Commerce, 2330; Dominion bank, 2830; Molsons, 2036; Toronto, 1334; Hochelaga, 1114; Peoples, 787; Ontario, 390; Imperial, 500; National, 240; Quebec, 115; Union bank, 330; Eastern townships, 300. In addition to bank stocks there are large loans on the miscellaneous stocks made by the banks and also by private capitalists. It is estimated that there is from $10,000, 000 to $12.000,000 of stocks being carried

Later in the day Mr. Wm. O'Brien gave his version of the incident. He said: "The simple fact is that my noble name-sake was drunk.
