

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state and my health had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Pittsburg Gazette-Times.—It is now intimated that Kaiser Wilhelm now expects to eat dinner with his officers in the Italian capital instead of Paris. And one can almost hear him humming to himself: "There's no place like Rome."

The distinguished English physiologist who in a recent discussion before the Royal Sanitary Institute insisted that the short man is a more efficient fighting machine only emphasized what has been the growing conviction of scientific observers in late years. The small man presents less of a target to the foe, eats less, has usually a higher vitality and better resistance to infections, all of which are eminently desirable qualities in the soldier.—New York Herald.

For the first time in the history of New England prisoners will be put to work on the roads. About twenty from the Cumberland county jail will be taken to Cape Elizabeth to work on the highways. The men will wear ordinary overall and jumper suits, with good, strong working boots. The prisoners will be taken to and from work for the present in an automobile truck, leaving the jail in time to start work on the road at 7 o'clock. They will have an hour for dinner and quit work at five o'clock. Two guards will be employed, one for each ten men. Specially good fare is to be the lot of the prisoners working on the roads.

Canada has performed the striking achievement of changing in twelve months an unfavorable trade balance of $162,000,000 into a favorable balance of $6,000,000—an array of facts which show that the Dominion is rapidly approaching a position which must inspire the greatest confidence. These words preface a strong article in the Monetary Times on Canada's national position, which says: "Things in Canada are better than if there had not been war. A general reaction from a long period of rapid development and speculation together with a much needed readjustment of economic conditions had set in some time before the war came. The war has given sufficient opportunity generally to prevent this country from sliding to the point to which it deserved to slide as a result of economic sinning. It is easy to be an empty optimist, but the Canada of to-day is dutifully bound to do something of an optimist because a careful analysis of the situation reveals a long line of facts which give ample support to that position.

On a Grand Trunk train, a few days ago, a German-American, traveller for a Cincinnati firm of manufactures, surprised his seat companion by the vehemence with which he declared that he hoped Germany would be beaten in the conflict. "It sounds strange to hear sentiments expressed by a man of German origin?" was remarked. "Perhaps it does," was the reply, "and in all probability if I had never the way I do, but I have had an opportunity of witnessing the effects of Prussian officialdom—have been a victim of the system in fact—and I say the sooner Prussia is crushed the sooner will the people of Germany enjoy real freedom as we understand the term in America." He went on to say that he had three sons and that he hoped, in the event of the United States being drawn into the war, they all would fight against Germany.

SOCKS It is an axiom of war that an army wins victories with its feet. Napoleon knew it and constantly reiterated its truth. It is a veracity as unquestioned to-day as it was a hundred years ago. Because the present world conflict is fought largely in the trenches is not a reason why it should be allowed to fade into the background of our military consciousness. Because this is a machine war, because it combines the most modern achievements of inventive science with the discarded material of the Middle Ages, aeroplanes with hand grenades, chlorine gas with steel arrows, we should not forget that the most homely articles of wearing apparel are one in importance with munitions and even with food. This war will be won by socks as much as by shells.

Socks, more socks and ever more socks must be our slogan. You cannot sit down and demand them in the trenches. They wouldn't be worth mending anyway. A couple or three days' wear reduces them to pulp. And there is always the fear of blood poisoning or the worst of all evils for the soldier—a sore foot. Then, when the great moment of the charge comes, the man may be incapable of putting forth their best efforts and the fruit of perhaps a week of waiting and fighting is lost. Food, in the excitement of fight, may be, and has been, dispensed with for shorter or longer intervals; footwear is a sine qua non, an imperative necessity. To paraphrase a classic, between the choice of tobacco and socks, our watchword should be: Socks, our praeterea nihil.

Worms in children work havoc. These pests attack the tender lining of the intestines and, if left to pursue their ravages undisturbed, will ultimately perforate the wall, because these worms are of the hook variety that cling to and feed upon interior surfaces. Miller's Worm Powders will not only exterminate these worms, of whatever variety, but will serve to repair the injury they have done.

Over 25 per cent. of the employees in the British postal department are women. Mrs. Amy Winship, who is past 84 years of age, is the oldest college student in the United States. Fifty-three per cent. of the girl graduates of the Barnard college are engaged in paid occupations.

HIGH COST OF ACTING.

Salaries of the Past as Compared With Those of Today.

Our imaginations are so amiable in this world of dollars that we have already ceased to notice the bagatelle of a vaudeville salary of $3,000 a week, such as some of our actresses are said to have received. We are already calculating on the salary of the future. The salary of the past was not so ambitious. It was a thing to worry over, not to speculate upon.

In the late fifties of the last century Mrs. Drew and her mother received $16 a week for the two. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Gilbert received the same sum. At this time the custom was to give two plays a night, with singing and dancing between. The regular actors also did these specialties. They supplied their own wardrobes as well, and as the theater-going public was smaller there was necessarily a constant change of bill. The $16 was undoubtedly well earned.

THE TURKISH HERCULES.

Ahmet Bey's Feat of Daring, Strength and Horsemanship.

The Turks tell of Ahmet Bey, an Ottoman officer who served against the Russians. Ahmet was possessed of a daring in keeping with his heroic proportions and physical strength. He was the beau ideal of a soldier, one whose military knowledge seemed instinctive.

It appears that Abdul Kerim Pasha, the commander in chief, while inspecting his troops one morning casually expressed the wish to capture a Serbian prisoner from the Serbian lines. Ahmet Bey, overhearing the remark, saluted and asked permission to get the commander a prisoner. He received the permission, although Abdul Kerim wondered at the request. Ahmet wheeled his charger, dashed into its flanks and galloped straight for the nearest Serbian outpost.

As he approached half a dozen rifles cracked, but Ahmet galloped on unharmed and marked down one sentry for his prey. The sentry fired at the audacious horseman, missed and started to run. Ahmet swooped on him like a hawk upon a chicken. He bent down, grasped the Serbian by the collar and swung him across the saddle in front. Then he galloped back, bending over his horse's neck to escape the bullets, and handed over the prisoner to the Turkish commander amid the shouts of the soldiers.—St. Louis Republic.

Not a Square Deal.

Miss Mason was explaining to her Sunday school class the lesson for the day, the subject being the tares and the wheat. "Now, remember, children, the tares represent the bad people and the wheat the good ones." "Why, Miss Mason?" exclaimed a rosy cheeked boy, who had been listening through the lesson with deep interest. "Did you say the tares are the bad folks and the wheat the good ones?" "Yes, James," replied the teacher, pleased at the lad's interest. "Well, that's funny, I think," remarked the matter of fact child. "It's the wheat that gets thrashed; the tares don't."—Country Gentleman.

Man and the Ground.

The love of dirt is among the earliest of passions, as it is the latest. Mud pies gratify one of our first and best instincts. * * * Fondness for the ground comes back to a man after he has run the round of pleasure and business, eaten dirt and sown wild oats, drifted about the world and taken the wind in all its moods. The love of digging is sure to come back to him. * * * To own a bit of ground, to scratch it with a hoe, to plant seeds and watch their renewal of life—this is the commonest delight of the race, the most satisfactory thing a man can do.—Charles Dudley Warner.

Knitting.

Knitting is a Scotch invention of the fifteenth century. Soon after its invention a guild of stocking knitters was formed, with St. Francis as its patron saint. Hand knitting was supplanted by machinery as early as 1588, when William Lee invented the knitting frame.
