WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE.

He looked at my tongue and he shook his head—
This was Doctor Smart—
He thumped on my chest, and then he said :
"Ah, there it is! Your heart!
You mustn't run—you mustn't hurry!
You mustn't work—you mustn't worry!
Just sit down and take it cool:
You may live for years, I cannot say:
But, in the meantime, make it a rule
To take this medicine twice a day!"

He looked at my tongue and he shook his head—
This was Doctor Wise—
"You're liver's a total wreck," he said,
"You must take more exercise!
You mustn't eat sweets,
You mustn't eat meats,
You must walk and leap, you must also run:
You mustn't sit down in the dull old way:
Get out with the boys and have some fun—
And take three doses of this a day!"

He looked at my tongue and he shook his head—
This was Doctor Bright—
"I'm afraid your lungs are gone," he said,
"And your kidney isn't right.
A change of scene is what you need,
Your case is desperate, indeed,
And bread is a thing you mustn't eat—
Too much starch—but, by the way,
You must henceforth live on only meat—
And take six doses of this a day!"

Perhaps they were right, and perhaps they knew,
It isn't for me to say:
Mayhap I erred when I madly threw
Their bitter stuff away:
But I'm living yet, and I'm on my feet,
And grass isn't all that I dare to eat,
And I walk and I run, and I worry, too,
But, to save my life, I cannot see
What some of the able doctors would do
If there were no fools like you and me.
